Florida Southern is seeking signage to resolve the current problem of visitors being unable to locate the Frank Lloyd Wright Tourism and Education Center. The proposed structure will reinforce FSC's national and international brand, and complement our robust marketing program to promote the Frank Lloyd Wright Center and our unparalleled collection of Wright architecture - the largest single site collection of his buildings in the world. The Center drew 60,000 tourists in the past year while contributing close to $10 million to the central Florida economy. This funding request is critical because we have received numerous concerns from visitors that the welcome center is difficult to find. The new signage will help the increasing number of tourists find the Center more easily, increasing the likelihood that they will positively review the experience on online websites like tripadvisor.com and suggest a visit to tour FSC to friends and family. The architectural sign will cost a total of $300,000 which includes design fees and construction costs. It will accelerate the proven ROI on funding tourism at Florida Southern - ranked as one of the most beautiful college campuses in America by "the Princeton Review" and other national organizations, and home to the largest collection of Frank Lloyd Wright architecture in the world.
