The summary must list what local, regional or statewide interests or areas are served. It should also document the need for the funds, the community support and expected results when applicable. Be sure to include the type and amount of services as well as the number of the specific target population that will be served (such as number of home health visits to X, # of elderly, # of school aged children to receive mentoring, # of violent crime victims to receive once a week counseling etc.)

Funds will be used to continue to provide an academically researched based and expertly developed online hazing prevention course to all first-time-in college students entering the state university system. The course provides uniform hazing prevention education across the SUS to ensure a baseline knowledge of what hazing is, how to prevent it, how to report it, and the laws pertaining to hazing. Additionally, the course measures students' attitude toward hazing and knowledge of the subject prior to and after taking the course in order to assess its efficacy. The course serves as an important education and prevention tool for the entire student population entering the SUS and is the cornerstone of an overall hazing prevention strategy for the state. Among the benefits to the state are that it helps make Florida universities safer places for students to learn, helps prevent tragedies, such as the Robert Champion death at FAMU, and demonstrates that the state is taking affirmative steps to prevent hazing related injuries and deaths.
