BILL #: PCB JUAS 11-09 Department of Corrections

SPONSOR(S): Justice Appropriations Subcommittee

TIED BILLS: IDEN./SIM. BILLS:

REFERENCE	ACTION	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR or BUDGET/POLICY CHIEF
Orig. Comm.: Justice Appropriations Subcommittee		McAuliffe	Jones Darity

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The bill conforms to the House of Representatives proposed Fiscal Year 2011-2012 General Appropriations Act by eliminating the Basic Training Program within the Department of Corrections (department). The department operates a male and female Basic Training Program (BTP) for youthful offenders, age 24 and under:

- The female BTP is a 28-bed facility located at Lowell Correctional Institution in Lowell, Florida. Currently there are only four inmates housed at this BTP being supervised by a staff of 14.
- The male BTP is a 112-bed facility located at Sumter Correctional Institution in Bushnell, Florida. Currently there are only 77 inmates housed at this BTP that are supervised by a staff of 36.

This bill eliminates BTP. Youthful offenders currently enrolled in BTP will be transferred to another department program for youthful offenders called the Extended Day Program (EDP.)

Section 958.04, F.S., authorizes the department to petition sentencing judges to modify youthful offenders' sentences for admission into EDP for qualified youthful offenders.

The elimination of BTP represents a savings to the General Revenue Fund of $2.7 million. See "FISCAL COMMENTS."

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Youthful Offenders

Florida's Youthful Offender Act¹ is to provide a sentencing alternative that will improve the chances for rehabilitation of an offender who:

- Is at least 18 years of age or has been transferred for criminal prosecution pursuant to ch. 985, F.S.;
- Has entered a plea to, or has been found guilty of, a felony, other than a capital or life felony, that was committed before the offender's 21st birthday; and
- Has not been previously sentenced as a youthful offender by a court.²

Section 958.04, F.S., provides that courts who elect to adjudicate and sentence a defendant as a youthful offender may:

- (1) Impose probation or community control;
- (2) Impose incarceration for up to 364 days, as a condition of probation or community control;
- (3) Impose a split sentence that provides for incarceration followed by probation or community control; or
- (4) Commit the youthful offender to the custody of the Department of Corrections (department).³

These sentencing options are the exclusive sanctions that may be imposed for a court-adjudicated youthful offender,⁴ and, in general, the total sentence (probation or community control and incarceration) length may be no longer than six years.⁵

In cases where the court has elected adult, rather than youthful offender, adjudication and sentencing, the department may administratively classify a defendant as a youthful offender if that person:

- Is at least 18 years of age or has been transferred for criminal prosecution pursuant to ch. 985, F.S.;
- Has not been previously sentenced as a youthful offender by a court;
- Is less than 24 years old; and
- Has received a sentence that does not exceed 10 years.⁶

Unlike court youthful offender adjudication, which results in a limited sentence length and the sealing of court records, the department youthful offender classification only determines the programs and institutions in which youthful offenders may be placed.⁷ Such classification by the department does not affect the original sentence imposed by the court.⁸

Department of Corrections Youthful Offender Programming

Currently here are two programming tracks for incarcerated youthful offenders:

- The Basic Training Program (BTP) for youthful offenders approved to participate by the court.

- The Extended Day Program (EDP) created by the department for all youthful offenders who are not assigned to the boot camp.

Although BTP is a statutorily-mandated program,⁹ EDP also emphasizes rigorous discipline, physical training, and positive personal development.

Basic Training Program (BTP)

BTP is a statutorily-mandated structured disciplinary program that lasts a minimum of 120 days and is based upon a military basic training model with:

- Marching drills,
- Calisthenics,
- A rigid dress code,
- Manual labor assignments, and
- Physical training with obstacle courses.¹⁰

In addition, training is provided in decision making and personal development, along with the required general education development and adult basic education courses, drug counseling, and other rehabilitation programs.¹¹ Successful completion of BTP results in modification of the youthful offender's sentence.¹² A BTP participant who fails the program is placed in the general youthful offender population.¹³

Candidates for BTP are selected by the department from the entire youthful offender population and not only from those recommended by the courts. Candidates cannot be impaired, must be able to engage in strenuous physical activities, and have never been imprisoned in a state or federal facility.¹⁴ The department's selection process must also include review of the candidate's criminal history and assessment of the potential rehabilitative benefits of the boot camp.¹⁵ If a youthful offender meets these qualifications and is selected for participation, the department must seek permission from the sentencing court to place him or her in the BTP.¹⁶

The department operates a male and female Basic Training Program (BTP) for youthful offenders, age 24 and under:

- The female BTP is a 28-bed facility located at Lowell Correctional Institution in Lowell. Currently there are currently only four inmates housed at this BTP being supervised by a staff of 14.
- The male BTP is a 112-bed facility located at Sumter Correctional Institution in Bushnell, Florida. Currently there are only 77 inmates housed at this BTP that are supervised by a staff of 36.

Approximately two-thirds of the 1147 youthful offenders who entered the BTP during the five-year period from 2005 through 2009 completed the program and had the remainder of their sentence modified.¹⁷

Extended Day Program (EDP)

Only a small percentage of youthful offenders can take part in the basic training program, but the Legislature mandates that enhanced program services be provided to all youthful offenders.¹⁸ The EDP was created by the department to fulfill this mandate in a structured way.¹⁹ EDP is a regimented program that takes up 16 hours a day Monday through Saturday with work, academic and vocational counseling, personal development, and self-betterment programs.²⁰ Sunday is used for religious services, visitation, parental support, and independent activities.²¹

EDP consists of 3 phases, with participants in each phase distinguished by the color of their cap:²²

- The Orange Cap phase is a two-week orientation to familiarize the youthful offender with what is expected of him or her. It is a basic training phase characterized by physical training, regimented discipline, and constant supervision. Inmate needs assessments are conducted during this phase so that programming can begin during the next phase. An Orange Cap must pass an evaluation on the orientation materials in order to advance to Phase II.
- The Red Cap phase requires the youthful offender to participate in vocational, academic, and betterment programs and assumes a standard work assignment. Rigid discipline and structured physical training continues six days a week, but Red Caps have less personal supervision than Orange Caps and they may also be allowed limited privileges. It takes at least 4 months to complete the Red Cap phase.

Requirements for promotion to the next phase include:

- Having a good disciplinary and inspection record,
- Making positive achievement in vocational or academic courses,
- Enrolling in at least one personal achievement or substance abuse program, and
- Demonstrating high regard for positive discipline and respect toward self, staff, and others.

Promotion also requires appearance before a staff evaluation board at which the youthful offender must explain his or her personal self improvement plan to the board, including short and long term goals and how the goals will assist in improving areas of deficiency.

- The Blue Cap phase is the final level of EDP. A youthful offender who is promoted to Blue Cap status is a role model for other youthful offenders and is expected to be a positive example to his or her peers. Blue Caps are continuously evaluated to ensure that they are maintaining performance in responsibility, drill, work assignments, and education programs. Blue Caps can become peer facilitators and assist staff with certain activities, but only a few additional privileges are available to them.

Approximately 241 youthful offenders are currently in Blue Cap status.

The department is authorized by statute to recommend that the sentencing court modify the sentence of a successful EDP participant.²³ However, only two EDP sentences have ever been modified.²⁴ The department has apparently stopped recommending sentence modifications for successful EDP participants because of the lack of past success in obtaining sentence modifications.²⁵ It is unclear why judges have not been receptive, but it may stem from a lack of information about the additional programming and the level of discipline that is required to successfully participate in the EDP for an extended period of time.²⁶

Youthful Offender Recidivism Rates

In 2009, the department reported that the overall 36-month recidivism rate for inmates released from 2001 to 2008 is 33.1 percent.²⁷ Inmates who are under 25 years old at the time of release have the highest recidivism rate of any age group, increasing to 36 percent recidivism after 36 months and reaching beyond 50 percent before five years elapse.²⁸

The department recently calculated the three year recidivism rates for male youthful offenders released from 2001 to 2008 that either successfully completed BTP or EDP participants who reached the final level in EDP.²⁹ The data reflected that the youthful offenders who had reached the final level of EDP prior to release had a recidivism rate that was approximately five percent lower than the youthful offenders who graduated from BTP.³⁰

Effect of the Bill

This bill eliminates the Basic Training Program (BTP) within the department. Youthful offenders currently enrolled in BTP will be transferred to another department program for youthful offenders called the Extended Day Program (EDP.)

Section 958.04(2)(d), F.S., authorizes the department to petition sentencing judges to modify youthful offenders' sentences for admission into EDP for qualified youthful offenders.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

The elimination of the Basic Training Program (BTP) represents a savings to the General Revenue Fund of $2.7 million.

However, successful completion of BTP allows a youthful offender to have the remainder of his or her sentence modified. Every youthful offender that does not serve his or her entire sentence with the Department of Corrections results in cost savings to the state. In order for these cost savings to be realized, the department must petition the court to modify the sentences of qualified EDP participants.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

Not applicable because this bill does not appear to: require the counties or municipalities to spend funds or take an action requiring the expenditure of funds; reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenues in the aggregate; or reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

2. Other:

None.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:
