SUMMARY ANALYSIS

{This analysis relates to PCB RCC 13-06 by the Rules and Calendar Committee. A previous draft of the PCB was discussed in a workshop in the Rulemaking Oversight & Repeal Subcommittee. An analysis to "Draft A" of the PCB was previously available for purposes of that workshop.}

Beginning in 2012, section 11.242(5)(j), F.S., directs the Office of Legislative Services to include duplicative, redundant, or unused statutory rulemaking authority among its proposed repeals in reviser's bill recommendations. The purpose of this directive is not to diminish the authority of executive branch agencies to adopt administrative rules necessary to implement their statutory responsibilities but to remove unnecessary text from the statutes.

This reviser's bill removes such rule authorizing provisions through revision of existing statutes or repeal of unnecessary provisions. The bill also makes conforming changes to correct cross-references.

Pursuant to House Rule 12.3(e), a reviser's bill cannot be amended except to delete one or more bill sections.

The effective date of the bill is the 60th day after adjournment sine die.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

1. Statutory Delegation of Authority to Make Rules

A rule is an agency statement of general applicability which interprets, implements, or prescribes law or policy, including the procedure and practice requirements of an agency, as well as certain types of forms.¹ Rulemaking authority is delegated by the Legislature² by law authorizing an agency to “adopt, develop, establish, or otherwise create”³ a rule. Agencies do not have discretion whether to engage in rulemaking.⁴ To adopt a rule an agency must have an express grant of authority to implement a specific law by rulemaking.⁵ The grant of rulemaking authority itself need not be detailed.⁶ The particular statute being interpreted or implemented through rulemaking must provide specific standards and guidelines to preclude the administrative agency from exercising unbridled discretion in creating policy or applying the law.⁷ A delegation of authority to an administrative agency by a law that is vague, uncertain, or so broad as to give no notice of what actions would violate the law, could be ruled unconstitutional because it allows the agency to state what the law is.⁸ The Legislature must provide minimal standards and guidelines in the law creating a program to provide for its proper administration by the assigned executive agency. The Legislature may delegate rule-making authority to agencies but not the authority to determine what the law should be.⁹

Legislation creating new programs or modifying existing ones may include an additional grant of authority for the responsible agency to create rules for administering the statute. Such language can be redundant of a broader grant of authority for the agency to adopt rules implementing the full statutory chapter or part and often is never used to support subsequent rulemaking because the existing authority is legally sufficient.

Other grants of rulemaking authority are superfluous because the substantive legislation provides sufficient guidance and detail for the agency to implement the program requirements without any additional rulemaking. Such grants of rulemaking authority remain in statutes unused because they serve no practical purpose.

2. Annual Review of Rulemaking Authority

In 2012 the Legislature directed the Office of Legislative Services (OLS), through the process of duly enacted reviser’s bills, to omit duplicative, redundant, or unused grants of rulemaking authority from inclusion in the statutes. Rulemaking authority is deemed unused if the provision has been in effect for more than 5 years without being relied upon to adopt rules.¹⁰

This PCB is the first reviser’s bill implementing the additional function of rulemaking oversight. In preparing the bill OLS, together with the respective staffs of the Joint Administrative Procedures Committee (JAPC) and the House Rulemaking & Regulation Subcommittee (the predecessor of the present Rulemaking Oversight & Repeal Subcommittee) developed a list of statutory grants of rulemaking authority that initially appeared to meet the requirements for omission. This summary then was submitted for review and comment by the staff of other substantive House committees, which in turn consulted with the various administrative agencies affected by the proposed revisions. Adhering to the recommendations received from the other substantive committees, the Subcommittee staff helped to develop the final list of sections OLS included in the bill.

The present bill is technical and non-substantive, amending or deleting various statutory provisions or language to omit duplicative, redundant, or unused and unnecessary grants of rulemaking authority. Where necessary, the bill also deletes expired or obsolete language, corrects cross-references and grammatical errors, and improves the clarity of the statutes to facilitate correct and proper interpretation relative to legislative grants of rulemaking authority to administrative agencies.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

For each of the following sections the statutory rulemaking authority being amended or repealed has not been used to adopt rules in more than 5 years and thus is unnecessary for the particular agency to implement its statutory responsibilities.

Section 1 amends s. 17.28, F.S., to remove text granting duplicative, redundant, or unused rulemaking authority. This statute authorizes the Chief Financial Officer to permit biweekly salary payments on the written request of a state agency and to adopt rules to implement the section. Despite a long practice of permitting bi-weekly salary payments for numerous agencies without using rulemaking,¹¹ the Department of Financial Services (DFS) prefers to retain this authority in the belief that it is the only authority specific to allowing such payment schedules. Because s. 17.29, F.S., provides authority sufficient to adopt any rules necessary to permit bi-weekly salary payments, and because DFS currently implements bi-weekly payments without the need for any rule, the rulemaking authority in s. 17.28, F.S., is redundant and unnecessary.

Section 2 repeals s. 23.1231(3)(c), F.S. The authority is unnecessary to implement the statute.
