SUMMARY ANALYSIS

It is the stated intent of the Legislature that the workers' compensation system be self-executing and for the law to be interpreted to "assure the quick and efficient delivery of disability and medical benefits to an injured worker and to facilitate the worker's return to gainful reemployment at a reasonable cost to the employer." Workers' compensation is the injured employee's remedy for "compensable" workplace injuries. Employees generally cannot sue a covered employer for workplace injuries.

Florida courts have recently found multiple parts of the workers' compensation law unconstitutional in the areas of carrier paid injured worker attorney fees, time limits on temporary wage replacement benefits (i.e., indemnity), and the right of an injured worker to pay for their own attorney. For these and other reasons, the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR) ordered a rate increase of 14.5 percent effective December 1, 2016. OIR has also ordered a 9.5 percent decrease in rates, effective January 1, 2018, that is unrelated to the 14.5 percent increase. The prior increase remains in the base rates despite the pending decrease.

The bill makes the following changes to the workers' compensation law:

- Permits direct payment of attorneys by or for claimants.
- Increases total combined temporary wage replacement benefits (TTD/TPD) from 104 weeks to 260 weeks.
- Fills a benefit gap that happens when TTD/TPD ends, but the injured worker is not at overall maximum medical improvement and/or no overall permanent impairment rating.
- Allows a Judge of Compensation Claims (JCC) to award an hourly fee that departs from the statutory percentage based attorney fee schedule.
 - This is only permitted if the statutory fee is less than 40 percent or greater than 125 percent of the hourly rate customarily charged in the local community by defense attorneys, with the JCC determining the relevant facts.
 - If the departure fee is allowed, the JCC determines the hourly rate, not to exceed $150 per hour, using statutory factors and the number of necessary attorney hours.
- Provides that the injured worker is responsible for any remaining attorney fees if required by their retainer agreement; the retainer agreements must be filed with the JCCs, but are not subject to JCC approval.
- Allows insurers to uniformly reduce premiums by no more than 5 percent, if they file an informational-only notice within 30 days, subject to regulatory oversight.
- Grants the Three-Member Panel authority to fill gaps in statutory reimbursement when adopting schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances for medical care.
- Requires a good faith effort by the claimant and their attorney to resolve disputes prior to filing a petition for benefits; mandates a specified notice regarding attorney fees be signed by the claimant; increases the requirements applicable to petitions for benefits; eliminates carrier paid attorney fees for services occurring before the filing a petition; attaches attorney fees 45 days, rather than 30 days, following the filing of a petition; requires a JCC to dismiss a petition for lack of specificity, without prejudice, within 10 days or 20 days, depending upon whether a hearing is required.
- Eliminates the charge-based reimbursement of health care facility outpatient medical care in favor of reimbursing them at 200 percent (unscheduled care) and 160 percent (scheduled surgery) of Medicare. If no Medicare fee exists, then current reimbursement standards apply, which are incorporated into statute.
- Requires the authorization or denial of medical care authorization requests, unless there is a material deficiency.
- Provides for collecting additional information on attorney fees.

The bill has no fiscal impact on state and local government revenues; a positive impact on state and local government expenditures; and positive and negative impacts on the private sector.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2018.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Overview of Recent Workers' Compensation Case Law

Recent Florida court decisions have found multiple parts of the workers' compensation law unconstitutional. They are Castellanos v. Next Door Company,¹ involving attorney fees; Westphal v. City of St. Petersburg,² and Jones v. Food Lion, Inc.,³ relating to temporary wage replacement benefits (i.e., indemnity); and, Miles v. City of Edgewater Police Department,⁴ which addresses the right of an injured worker to pay for their own attorney.

CASTELLANOS

In 2003, the Legislature removed a provision allowing the award⁵ of a reasonable hourly fee to an injured workers' attorney when the statutory percentage based fee schedule resulted in an unreasonably low fee.⁶ This limited the injured worker's attorney to a fee based solely on a percentage of the amount of benefits that the attorney obtained for their client. In 2008, the Florida Supreme Court (Court) found that the law required the award of a reasonable attorney fee because of the continued use of the term "reasonable" in the statute.⁷ In 2009, the Legislature removed any reference to reasonableness and reenacted the statutory percentage based fee schedule.⁸

In Castellanos, the Court held that the exclusive statutory percentage based fee schedule created an irrebuttable presumption that the schedule always results in a correct fee.⁹ The Court found this irrebuttable presumption an unconstitutional violation of the claimant's due process rights. Accordingly, the Court invalidated the statute's limitation on attorney compensation and gave the Judge of Compensation Claims (JCC) the authority to award a reasonable attorney fee, if the JCC found that the fee schedule resulted in an unreasonable fee.

WESTPHAL and JONES

In Westphal and Jones, the Court (in Westphal) and the First District Court of Appeal (1st DCA) (in Jones) recognized that there was an unconstitutional gap in benefits for certain injured workers. Temporary wage replacement benefits are only payable until the earlier of the injured worker getting as healthy as they are going to be, also called "maximum medical improvement," or when they have received 104 weeks of temporary wage replacement. Because permanent wage replacement benefits are only paid after an injured worker has reached maximum medical improvement, some injured workers were not receiving or were ineligible for wage replacement benefits while they were still disabled. This happens because they are not eligible for temporary wage replacement benefits after they have reached the 104th week and they were not yet eligible for permanent wage replacement benefits without reaching maximum medical improvement. Because there was no benefit that they could receive or sue for, the Court found that they were unconstitutionally deprived of their right to access the courts. Therefore, the Court invalidated the 104-week limitation and replaced it with the previous statutory limit of 260 weeks. This restored the law to the 1993 statute. However, the Court did not provide a solution for the unconstitutional gap in benefits; it just extended the number of weeks, which makes it less likely that an injured worker would be affected by it.

MILES

Finally, the 1st DCA issued an opinion in a case that holds another portion of the workers' compensation law on attorney fees unconstitutional. In Miles, the Court invalidated a limitation on attorneys accepting payment directly from the injured worker or others on the injured worker's behalf. Before this case, an injured worker, and anyone paying on their behalf, was prohibited from directly paying for their own attorney.¹⁰ The attorney was only paid by the employer/carrier¹¹ and then only if the injured worker won the case. In fact, it was a criminal offense for an attorney to take a payment from an injured worker for legal representation. The 1st DCA found that the right to freedom of speech requires that the injured worker be able to choose to speak to the courts through an attorney and the right to freedom of contract permits the worker to retain an attorney. Therefore, the 1st DCA struck down the prohibition on attorneys accepting payment directly from their client.

Financial Impact of the Cases and Overview of the 2016 Rate Filing

In 2016, the National Council on Compensation Insurance, Inc. (NCCI), the organization that files workers' compensation rates for approval by OIR and use by all workers' compensation insurance carriers doing business in the state, requested approval of a 19.6 percent increase in rates to become effective October 1, 2016, for in-force, new and renewal policies. NCCI's rate request sought a 15 percent increase based on Castellanos, alone.¹² OIR proposed to approve a 14.5 percent increase effective December 1, 2016, for new and renewal policies. NCCI filed an amended request on October 4, 2016, in compliance with OIR's proposal and on October 5, 2016, OIR issued an order approving a 14.5 percent increase effective December 1, 2016.^{13, 14} The rate increase was allocated, as follows:

Castellanos	10.1 percent
Westphal and Jones	2.2 percent
Increase in provider reimbursement	1.8 percent
Total	14.5 percent ¹⁵

The rate increase was estimated to increase annual premiums over $528 million ($368 million assignable to Castellanos) in the first year. The portion attributable to the cost impact of Castellanos is controversial and is expected to continue to develop in subsequent years, which would lead to additional rate increases as soon as two years later. The actual impact on attorney's fee related costs will not be known for some time.

Overview of the 2017 Rate Filing

On August 28, 2017, NCCI requested approval by OIR of a 9.3 percent reduction in workers' compensation insurance rates.¹⁶ This annual filing incorporated industry experience and trend data for ¹⁰ ss. 440.105(2)(c) and 440.34(1), F.S.

¹¹ Workers' compensation insurers are referred to as carriers. "Carrier" means any person or fund authorized under s. 440.38 to insure under this chapter and includes a self-insurer, and a commercial self-insurance fund authorized under s. 624.462. s. 440.02(4), F.S.

¹² The NCCI rate request also includes an estimated increase in costs associated with the Court's decision in Westphal and the Legislature's ratification of the Workers' Compensation Health Care Provider Reimbursement Manual [HB 7073 (2016)].

¹³ Revised Workers' Compensation Rates and Rating Values as Filed by the NATIONAL COUNCIL ON COMPENSATION INSURANCE, INC., Case No. 191880-16, <http://www.floir.com/siteDocuments/NCCI191880-16-FOORF.pdf> (Fla. OIR Oct. 5, 2016).

¹⁴ On November 23, 2016, a court order blocked the rate increase due to violations of the Sunshine Law and Public Records Law. Order on Non-Jury Trial and Final Judgement Providing Declaratory and Injunctive Relief, Case No. 37 2016 CA 002159 (Fla. 2nd Cir. Nov. 23, 2016). OIR and NCCI appealed the court order. Pursuant to Rule 9.310(b)(2) of the Florida Rules of Appellate Procedure and a stay issued by the 1st DCA, the court order did not go into effect while the appeal was pending. Accordingly, the rate increase became effective on December 1, 2016. On May 9, 2017, the 1st DCA found that there was no violation of the Sunshine Law or Public Records Law, reversed the trial court, and allowed the rate order to become permanent. National Council on Compensation Insurance v. Fee, 219 So. 3d 172 (Fla. 1st DCA 2017).

¹⁵ The components of the rate increase are compiled together for the net increase. Therefore, the total amount of the increase exceeds the sum of the three components (i.e., rates are increased by 10.1 percent, then by 2.2 percent, and then by the final 1.8 percent for an overall increase of 14.5 percent).

policy years 2014 and 2015. On October 18, 2017, OIR held a public rate hearing on NCCI's request. At the hearing and in written submissions, NCCI provided data and actuarial opinions regarding the rate request, including an explanation of when the costs related to the case could be a significant part of the experience data for a rate filing.

At the time of the rate filing, only the last six months or so of the 24-month experience period included the effect of the Castellanos case. For the expected 2019 rate filing (to be filed in the fall of 2018), approximately 18 months of the 24-month experience period will include the Castellanos case. Finally, the 2020 rate filing (to be filed in the fall of 2019) will include the effect of Castellanos in all 24 months of experience used in the filing. Therefore, the Castellanos case impact was only slightly developed at the time of the rate filing, will be moderately developed at the time of the expected 2019 rate filing, and will be fully developed at the time of the expected 2020 rate filing.¹⁷ Absent a change in statute that directly addresses the carrier paid claimant attorney fee provisions of the workers' compensation law, the Castellanos related portion of the 14.5 percent increase that went into effect on December 1, 2016, will remain in the base workers' compensation rate regardless of future increases or decreases approved by OIR.

On November 1, 2017, OIR issued an order on the 2017 workers' compensation rate filing. OIR required a rate decrease slightly greater than that which NCCI requested. OIR disapproved the filing in part and advised NCCI that OIR would approve a 9.5 percent rate reduction upon receipt of an amended filing that conforms to that condition. The primary reason for the change is OIR's reduction of the profit and contingency factor from 2.0 percent to 1.85 percent based on NCCI's failure to include in the rate filing consideration of: 1) reasonably likely policyholder dividends, and 2) realized investment returns. OIR also ordered NCCI to provide a detailed quantitative analysis of the impact of the Castellanos decision in future rate filings.

To meet statutory notice deadlines for the rate change to go into effect on January 1, 2018, NCCI made a compliance filing on November 7, 2017. Effective January 1, 2018, workers' compensation rates are reduced by 9.5 percent for new and renewal policies.

Overview of Florida's Workers' Compensation System

The foundations of workers' compensation in the modern era are found in 19th century Europe and the Industrial Revolution. By the early 1900's, workers' compensation was making inroads in the United States. The first successful workers' compensation laws were adopted in New Jersey and Wisconsin in 1911. Florida's law was passed in 1935. By 1948, every state had a workers' compensation law. Every state continues to maintain workers' compensation; however, Texas does allow employers and employees to opt-out of the workers' compensation system and utilize the tort system.

Chapter 440, Florida Statutes, is Florida's workers' compensation law. It is the stated intent of the Legislature that the workers' compensation system be self-executing and for the law to be interpreted to "assure the quick and efficient delivery of disability and medical benefits to an injured worker and to facilitate the worker's return to gainful reemployment at a reasonable cost to the employer."¹⁸ For work-related injuries, workers' compensation provides all medically necessary remedial treatment, care, and attendance, including medications, medical supplies, durable medical equipment, and prosthetics¹⁹ and compensation for disability²⁰ when the injury causes an employee to miss more than seven days of work.²¹

²⁰ The use of the term "disability" in the context of workers' compensation differs from common parlance. In this context, it refers to a wage-loss, rather than a reduction in physical abilities. Section 440.02(13), F.S., defines "disability" as an "incapacity because of the injury to earn in the same or any other employment the wages which the employee was receiving at the time of the injury." Workers' compensation laws describe reduced physical ability in terms of "permanent impairment." Section 440.02(22), F.S., defines "permanent

Workers' compensation is the injured employee's remedy for "compensable" workplace injuries.²² Employees generally cannot sue a covered employer for workplace injuries.²³ The Division of Workers' Compensation within the Department of Financial Services (Division) provides regulatory oversight of Florida's workers' compensation system.

Workers' Compensation Premium Rates and Coverage Options

Workers' compensation premium rates (per $100 of payroll) are set annually by OIR, upon a review of rate filings made by NCCI, Florida's workers' compensation rating organization. The premium a particular employer will pay for a workers' compensation insurance policy is dependent upon various factors, including the employer's workers' compensation loss history, total payroll, industry, and job classifications.

There are three ways for employers to obtain workers' compensation coverage. The majority of employers purchase a workers' compensation insurance policy from an authorized insurance company or they qualify as a self-insurer.²⁴ Employers that are not self-insured and are unable to purchase coverage from an insurance company may purchase coverage from the Workers' Compensation Joint Underwriting Association.²⁵ The Joint Underwriting Association is the insurer of last resort for workers' compensation insurance, also known as the residual market provider.²⁶

Injuries Covered by Workers' Compensation

Workers' compensation provides medical benefits and, in cases where the injured worker is unable to work or earn as much as he or she did before the injury, compensation for lost income (also referred to as "wage replacement" or "indemnity" benefits) for compensable workplace injuries arising out of work performed by an employee in the course and scope of employment.²⁷ The workplace injury must be the "major contributing cause" for medical treatment and remain as such to continue medical treatment at the expense of the employer. "Major contributing cause" is the one cause which is more than 50 percent responsible for the injury as compared to all other causes combined for which treatment or benefits are sought.²⁸

Reporting Injuries

Employees are required to inform employers of their injury within 30 days of the injury or initial manifestation of the injury. The failure to report within this timeframe may result in the inability to claim benefits.²⁹ Employers are required to report a workplace injury to their workers' compensation insurance company no later than seven days after the employer has knowledge of the injury.³⁰ Administrative fines will be imposed against employers that do not timely report injuries.³¹

²² "Compensable" means a determination by a carrier or judge of compensation claims that a condition suffered by an employee results from an injury arising out of and in the course of employment. s. 440.13(1)(d), F.S.

²³ s. 440.11(1), F.S. Employers who fail to obtain required workers' compensation coverage may be sued by an injured worker in civil court. Likewise, an employee who is either exempt or excluded from workers' compensation coverage requirements may sue their employer in civil court for work-related injuries, even if the employer has coverage for their other employees.

Medical Benefits

Injured workers are entitled to receive all medically necessary remedial treatment, care, and attendance, including medications, medical supplies, durable medical equipment, and prosthetics, for as long as the nature of the injury and process of recovery requires.³² Medical services must be provided by a health care provider authorized by the workers' compensation insurance company prior to being provided (except for emergency care).³³ When the insurance company has knowledge of a work-related injury, it will refer the injured employee to an authorized workers' compensation health care provider.

Authorized medical services and treatment are provided at no cost to the injured employee, except employees are required to pay a $10 co-payment for medical services provided after they have reached "maximum medical improvement."³⁴ Injured employees are entitled to one change of physician during the course of treatment for any one accident.³⁵ After the initial examination and diagnosis, the workers' compensation health care provider is required to submit a proposed course of treatment to the workers' compensation insurance company to determine whether such treatment would be recognized as reasonably prudent.³⁶

Cash Payments for Lost Wages and Permanent Impairments

Indemnity benefits only become payable to employees who are disabled for at least eight days due to a compensable workplace injury.³⁷ The first seven days of lost earnings may be paid retroactively to employees who are disabled for more than 21 days.³⁸ These benefits are generally payable at 66 2/3 percent of the employee's average weekly wage (AWW),³⁹ up to the maximum weekly benefit established by law.⁴⁰ For 2017, this amount is $886.46,⁴¹ which is the statewide average weekly wage (SAWW).⁴² Payments are due every two weeks.⁴³ Indemnity benefits fall into one of four categories: temporary partial disability, temporary total disability, permanent partial disability, and permanent total disability.

- Temporary partial disability and temporary total disability benefits are payable for up to a combined total of 260 weeks.⁴⁴
- Permanent partial disability benefits are payable as impairment income benefits that are provided for a variable number of weeks depending upon the value of the injured worker's permanent impairment rating pursuant to a statutory formula.⁴⁵

City of St. Petersburg*, 194 So. 3d 311 (Fla. Jun. 9, 2016). - Permanent total disability benefits are payable until the age of 75, unless the work-related accident occurs after the worker's 70th birthday, then the benefit is paid for five years.⁴⁶

Educational and Training Benefits

Once an injured worker reaches maximum medical improvement, they may receive educational and training benefits, if they are unable to earn at least 80 percent of their pre-injury income. Educational and training benefits include:

- From the Division:
 - Vocational counseling;
 - Job-seeking skills training;
 - Job analysis;
 - Transferable skills analysis;
 - Selective job placement;
 - Training and education; or
 - Other services deemed necessary and appropriate to help an injured worker return to work.
- From the employer/carrier:
 - Indemnity benefits, which are classified as Educational and Training Temporary Total Compensation benefits that pays for lost earnings while the injured worker learns new vocational skills.

The Educational and Training Temporary Total Compensation benefit is payable to employees for up to 26 weeks, which may be extended for an additional 26 weeks;⁴⁷ however, injured workers may only receive Educational and Training Temporary Total Compensation benefits, temporary total disability benefits, and temporary partial disability benefits for a combined maximum of 260 weeks.⁴⁸ Their entitlement to Educational and Training Temporary Total Compensation benefits ends at the 260th week of combined temporary benefits, regardless of whether their educational or training program is still ongoing as of the 260th week. The insurance carrier has the discretion to continue to pay the benefit beyond the 260th week, however.⁴⁹

Death Benefits

Workers' compensation also provides funeral expenses, up to $7,500, and death benefits payable to a deceased worker's surviving spouse and dependents when an employee dies as a result of a work-related injury, up to a maximum of $150,000.⁵⁰

Denial of Benefits by the Carrier

Injured employees have the right to file a Petition for Benefits with the Office of the Judges of Compensation Claims for any benefit that is ripe, due, and owing.⁵¹ Within 14 days of receipt of the Petition for Benefits, the workers' compensation insurance company is required to either pay the requested benefits or file a response to the petition.⁵² Forty days after the Petition for Benefits has been filed, the Judge of Compensation Claims will notify the parties that a mediation conference has been scheduled. The mediation will take place within 130 days after the filing of the Petition for Benefits.⁵³ If mediation is unsuccessful in resolving the claim, a final hearing must be held within 90 days of the mediation. The overall time limit for dispute resolution from the date of the Petition for Benefits to the issuance of a final order is 240 days. Generally, an injured worker that prevails on a Petition for Benefits is entitled to an award for a reasonable attorney's fee payable by the carrier.⁵⁴

Attorney Fee Costs

Despite the legislative intent that the workers' compensation system be self-executing, it is sometimes necessary to for an injured worker to dispute the adjustment or denial of their claim through a petition for benefits filed with the Office of the Judges of Compensation Claims (OJCC). Due to the complex nature of the law, such injured workers employ an attorney to handle their petition in the vast majority of cases (as do employer/carriers). For fiscal years 2010-2011 through 2015-2016, attorneys represented injured workers in about 90 percent of cases.⁵⁵

Injured workers that prevail in a lawsuit before the OJCC to enforce their entitlement to workers' compensation benefits are generally awarded payment of their attorney's fees against the employer/carrier. The attorney's fee is calculated based on a formula provided in s. 440.34, F.S. This has been referred to as the statutory fee schedule for employer/carrier paid claimant attorney fees. Prior to October 1, 2003, the JCC was authorized to depart from the statutory fee schedule and increase or decrease the attorney fee award based on listed factors. As part of the 2003 workers' compensation reform passed by the Legislature,⁵⁶ the authority of the JCC to depart from the statutory fee schedule was removed. It was briefly revived by case law⁵⁷ in 2008, but was again removed by legislative action.⁵⁸ On April 28, 2016, the Florida Supreme Court revived the JCC's authority to award a fee that departs from the statutory fee schedule.⁵⁹ This is commonly referred to as the Castellanos decision. Pursuant to Castellanos, the JCC again has the authority award a reasonable fee.

The JCCs collect detailed information regarding claimant attorney fee costs; however, only a portion of this data is recorded in their electronic database. While the JCC can readily produce much of the information that they collect related to awards of claimant attorney fees, they cannot readily produce the attorney's hourly rates and number of hours the attorney claimed to spend on the matter. These two pieces of information may be critical in the future to understanding how attorney behavior changed following Castellanos and whether there is an increase in litigation costs, as a result.

The following information is based on data reported by the JCCs⁶⁰ and the Workers' Compensation Research Institute (WCRI). Changes in this information going forward can quantify the impact of the Castellanos decision and may identify any developing policy issues that may need legislative consideration.

Amount of Attorney Fees Reported by JCCs, by Party Type

Pursuant to statute, the JCC's receive insurance carrier defense fee information. Carriers and their representatives are required to report their annual defense costs by September 1st each year. This information is self-reported, aggregated, and unaudited. There are no controls to avoid duplicate reporting (third party administrators and carriers are both self-reporting). Nor is there categorization of the reported defense costs or definitions governing what constitutes a reportable defense cost, including whether the cost is related to pending litigation. Accordingly, the accuracy of defense costs filed with and reported by the JCCs is unknown.

Medical Claim Costs

All medical claims are reported to the Division. This occurs in the form of electronic copies of every medical bill received by employer/carriers for workers' compensation medical services provided to injured workers.

- The total charges and total paid workers' compensation health care provider services were stable from 2010 through 2016. While charges increased 2.3 percent per year on average during the period, the amount paid for medical services decreased by 0.2 percent per year. A similar pattern is evident for average charge per line item and average paid per line item.⁷⁴

Hospital Inpatient and Hospital Outpatient

Hospital inpatient care is reimbursed based on a schedule of per diem rates, subject to a stop-loss amount above which reimbursement is made at 75 percent of the hospital's billed charge.⁷⁷ Hospital outpatient care, except for scheduled outpatient surgery, is reimbursed at 75 percent of the usual and customary (U&C). Scheduled hospital outpatient surgery and ambulatory surgical center care are reimbursed at 60 percent of U&C. Note: the resulting scheduled surgery reimbursement rate is 80 percent of the rate for all other hospital outpatient care (i.e., 60% of U&C / 75% of U&C = 80%).

- Both hospital inpatient and hospital outpatient services have seen an increase in total charges and total payments from 2011 through 2016.
 - Hospital inpatient:⁷⁸
 - Charges increased 5.5 percent per year.
 - Payments increased 6.7 percent per year.
 - Hospital outpatient:⁷⁹
 - Charges increased 6.6 percent per year.
 - Payments increased 3.2 percent per year.
- The total number of hospital bills has declined annually from 2011 through 2016:
 - Total number of hospital inpatient bills declined 1.5 percent per year on average.
 - Total number of hospital outpatient bills declined 2.8 percent per year on average.
- The average amount charged and the average amount paid per hospital inpatient and hospital outpatient bill have increased significantly from 2011 through 2016. These increases have exceeded the “Hospital and related services” component of the Consumer Price Index for medical care.⁸⁰

⁷⁶ Id.

⁷⁷ Inpatient per diem rates for trauma center licensed hospitals is $3,850.33 per day for surgical stays and $2,313.69 per day for non-surgical stays. For other acute care hospitals, they are $3,849.16 per day for surgical stays and $2,283.40 per day for non-surgical stays. If the total charges, excluding implants, is $59,891.34 or less, then the per diem rates apply, otherwise reimbursement is 75 percent of the total gross charge, excluding implants. Implants are reimbursed under a separate method. Florida Workers' Compensation Reimbursement Manual for Hospitals, 2014 Edition (Effective Jan. 1, 2015) https://www.flrules.org/gateway/notice_Files.asp?ID=15268011 (last visited Nov. 8, 2017).

Effect of the Bill

The bill makes the following changes:

Attorney fees

- Provides that the claimant attorney must file a verified statement regarding their hours at least 5 days before the pre-trial hearing and the final hearing.
- Requires the injured worker to receive and acknowledge a specific notice about workers' compensation attorney fees prior to engaging an attorney.
- Mandates a good faith effort by the claimant and their attorney to resolve disputes prior to filing a petition for benefits.
- Provides that documentation of the signed notice and good faith effort be filed as part of a petition for benefits, subject to dismissal without prejudice to refile the petition, and a sanction of awarded attorney fees, not to exceed $150 per hour, for failure to act in good faith.
- Repeals provisions that prohibit attorneys from accepting and the JCC from approving attorney's fees paid directly by or on behalf of the injured worker outside of an award against the employer/carrier.
- Provides authority for attorneys to accept fees paid directly by or on behalf of the injured worker outside of an award against the employer/carrier.
- Requires the filing of retainer agreements with the JCC, but the retainers are not subject to JCC approval.
- Provides authority to the JCC to approve an attorney fee that departs from the statutory attorney fee schedule, if:
 - The statutory attorney fee schedule produces an equivalent hourly rate that is less than 40 percent or more than 125 percent of the fee customarily charged in the locality for similar legal services by defense attorneys.
- Requires the JCC to:
 - Determine the number of attorney hours that were necessary for the claimant's attorney to obtain the benefits secured, including an allocation of those hours between issues that the claimant won and lost,
 - Specify the number of attorney hours reasonably related to benefits that the claimant did not win, and
 - Reduce the number of attorney hours to remove any that are excessive.
- Incorporates factors to guide the JCC when awarding a departure fee.
- Provides discretion to JCC to determine the precise hourly rate of the departure fee award, in $1 increments.
- Caps the amount the carrier must pay under a departure fee at $150 per hour, thus limiting how much of the attorney fees would be payable by the carrier; the injured worker may be responsible for any attorney fees due after award of the statutory fee schedule amount or the departure fee, as applicable, pursuant to a retainer agreement.

⁸¹ In 2015, the average paid per hospital outpatient bill declined. This may be due to adoption of revised reimbursement methodology by DFS that became effective Jan. 1, 2015. See Florida Workers' Compensation Reimbursement Manual for Hospitals, 2014 Edition, https://www.flrules.org/gateway/notice_Files.asp?ID=15268011 (last visited Nov. 8, 2017).

- Prohibits the award of carrier paid attorney fees for services provided prior to the filing of a petition for benefits.
- Extends the attachment of attorney fees following the filing of a petition for benefits from 30 days to 45 days.
- Allows the carrier to petition for secondary review of an award of a departure fee, in certain circumstances.
- Modifies current law to allow an alternative minimum attorney fee of $150 per hour, not to exceed $1,500, in all medical-only cases, rather than only once per accident.

Temporary Total Disability and Temporary Partial Disability Benefits

- Increases the allowed total combined number of weeks of temporary total disability (TTD) and temporary partial disability (TPD) from 104 weeks to 260 weeks. The extension of the duration of TTD/TPD benefits also increases the opportunity for the injured worker to receive training and education. The duration of training and education benefits are not expanded, but since they are provided within the duration of TTD/TPD benefits, the timeframe in which they may be received is changed.
- Provides a limited extension of TTD benefits for up to 26 additional weeks when the injured worker reaches the maximum number of weeks but permanent benefits cannot begin because the injured worker is not at overall maximum medical improvement and/or does not have an overall permanent impairment rating.
 - If the injured worker is not at overall maximum medical improvement after the extended TTD benefit is exhausted, the JCC is required, upon motion, to determine the injured workers' eligibility for permanent total disability benefits.
- Requires the provisional payment of Impairment Benefits (IBs) if the injured worker reaches the maximum number of weeks of TPD benefits (i.e., 260 weeks) but permanent benefits cannot begin because the injured worker is not at overall maximum medical improvement and/or does not have an overall permanent impairment rating.
 - Pays provisional IBs consistent with the single highest permanent impairment rating and credits this amount to the carrier when final IBs payment occurs upon achieving overall maximum medical improvement and receiving overall permanent impairment rating.

Attorney Fee Data Reports

- Requires greater specificity when reporting defense attorney fees as required by statute. For litigated claims, the total amount of attorney fees and the total number of attorney hours will be filed with the OJCC. For attorney fees unrelated to litigation, only the total amount of attorney fees will be filed.

Three-Member Panel

- Authorizes the Three-Member Panel to fill gaps in statutory reimbursement methodologies so that they may adopt schedules of maximum reimbursement allowances, as required, in a comprehensive manner.

Medical Care Authorizations

- Provides that carriers must authorize or deny medical authorization requests within the current 3 day or 10 day periods, but they are allowed to return a request for material deficiency, e.g., incomplete or improper forms or missing required documentation.

Outpatient Medical Care Reimbursement

- Changes the reimbursement methodology for outpatient services provided by hospitals and ambulatory surgical centers from a charge based reimbursement to a percentage of the fee or rate established under the Medicare Outpatient Prospective Payment System (OPPS).

- The applicable reimbursement is:
 - For hospital outpatient services, 200 percent of OPPS fee or rate, except scheduled surgery is reimbursed 160 percent of OPPS fee or rate (i.e., 200% x 80% = 160%).
 - For ambulatory surgical center care, 160 percent of OPPS fee or rate.
- Incorporates into statute the current reimbursement methodology adopted by the Three-Member Panel for outpatient services that are not reimbursable under OPPS. This is either 75 percent (hospitals generally) or 60 percent (hospital scheduled surgery or ambulatory surgical center care) of the statewide average charge for the applicable procedure, as derived from the Division's database of billed charges at a frequency of 50 or more charges. And, for those procedures that lack an allowed amount under the primary or secondary method, reimbursement would occur at either 75 percent or 60 percent, as applicable, of the facility's actual billed charge.

Carrier Competition/Premium Discount

- Authorizes a carrier to depart from required premiums in a uniform way by no more than five percent, if they notify OIR of such a departure within 30 days of implementation. No review or approval is required by OIR; however, OIR may disallow the lower rate if it violates the ratemaking standards, imperils the financial condition of the carrier, or results in predatory pricing.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

None.

2. Expenditures:

State government, as a self-insured employer for workers' compensation purposes, will experience reduced expenses in the same manner as the private sector, if the bill reduces the cost of workers' compensation coverage. See Fiscal Comments, below.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

None.

2. Expenditures:

Local governments, as self-insured employers or purchasers of workers' compensation coverage, will experience reduced expenses in the same manner as the private sector, if the bill reduces the cost of workers' compensation coverage. See Fiscal Comments, below.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

The bill has positive and negative impacts on the private sector. Positive impacts include: public and private employers will experience reduced premiums because of reduced rates and the availability of five percent summary departure from required premiums authorized by the bill. Negative impacts include: hospitals and ambulatory surgical centers may experience reduced reimbursement for outpatient services.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

NCCI has not completed an estimate of the impact specifically of PCB COM 18-01. However, NCCI has released a preliminary estimate of the impact of many of the provisions of the bill.⁸² The NCCI estimate was based upon the text of PCB IBS 17-01. PCB COM 18-01 is substantively identical to PCB IBS 17-01 for the elements analyzed by NCCI. They estimated that it would result in a "moderate to significant decrease" in overall workers' compensation costs. NCCI defines a "moderate decrease" as "between 1.0% and 3.0%" and "significant decrease" as "greater than or equal to 5.0%."

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

Not Applicable. This bill does not appear to require counties or municipalities to spend funds or take action requiring the expenditures of funds; reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenues in the aggregate; or reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

2. Other:

None.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

None.

⁸² Email from Jeff Eddinger, State Relations Executive, National Council on Compensation Insurance, re: 7085, with attached report NCCI: Preliminary Cost Impact Analysis – Proposed Committee Bill IBS 17-01, As Received on 3/10/2017 (Mar. 22, 2017).

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

With a minor exception, the bill is identical to CS/HB 7085, 1st Engrossed, which passed the House on April 19, 2017. The Senate adopted an amendment to the 2017 bill on May 5, 2017. The House refused to concur in the Senate amendment, adopted an amendment, and returned the 2017 bill to the Senate. The 2017 bill died in Senate Returning Messages on May 5, 2017.

Last year's bill included a provision relating to the process to fill vacancies on the Three-Member Panel. The Three-Member Panel now has all vacancies filled, so this provision was not included.

IV. AMENDMENTS/ COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES

On November 14, 2017, the Commerce Committee adopted one amendment and approved the bill. This amendment conforms the bill to an amendment adopted on Second Reading of CS/HB 7085 (2017). The amendment provided that a Judge of Compensation Claims may award attorney fees limited to $150 per hour as a sanction, rather than "reasonable attorney fees." It required statements of accrued hours be verified statements, rather than attestations. Also, the amendment made technical and grammatical changes.

The staff analysis has been updated to reflect the changes made by the amendment.
