SUMMARY ANALYSIS

In Florida, a person's booking photograph (often referred to as a "mug shot") is a public record. Most county and municipal law enforcement agencies post the arrest booking photographs on their respective websites. In recent years, a trend has developed where companies scour the public records of a state and post the photographs on their private websites. Mug shot websites often keep booking photographs online even if the person was found not guilty or the charges were dropped and charge a fee to remove the photographs.

The PCS prohibits any person or entity, which is engaged in the business of publishing or otherwise disseminating arrest booking photographs, from soliciting or accepting a fee to remove the photographs. A person whose arrest booking photograph was published, or a legal representative of such person, may make a request in writing for the removal of the photograph. The written request must be made by registered mail and include sufficient proof of identification of the person whose photograph was published and specific information identifying the photograph to be removed. Within 10 calendar days of receiving a written request by the person in the photograph or his or her legal representative, the publisher of the photograph must remove it without charge.

If the publisher does not remove the photograph, the person whose arrest booking photograph was published or otherwise disseminated may bring a civil action for damages and to have the court issue an injunction. The court may also impose a civil penalty of $1,000 per day for noncompliance with the injunction and must award reasonable attorney fees and court costs related to issuing and enforcing the injunction. Any money recovered for the civil penalties must be deposited into the General Revenue Fund.

The PCS also allows the Florida Department of Law Enforcement ("FDLE") to administratively seal the criminal history record of a person upon notification by the clerk of court that:

- The state attorney declined prosecution;
- The case was dismissed or nolle prossed before trial; or
- An acquittal or verdict of not guilty was entered.

This results in changing current law that requires persons to apply to FDLE and pay a $75 fee to seal such records. The PCS also allows an unlimited number of administrative record sealings by FDLE under the circumstances identified above; whereas, current law authorizes only one sealing and requires court approval. This section of the PCS becomes effective on the same date that HB 369 or similar legislation takes effect, and only if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension thereof and becomes law.

The PCS will have an insignificant fiscal impact on FDLE. The PCS is not anticipated to have a fiscal impact on the Clerks of Court.

The PCS provides an effective date of July 1, 2018.

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Disclosure of Criminal Record Information

In Florida, all “materials made or received by an agency in connection with official business which are used to perpetuate, communicate, or formalize knowledge” are public records and open for public inspection, unless a specific exemption applies.<sup>1</sup>

Criminal record information may be obtained and published by non-governmental publishers. This information includes booking photographs, arrest reports, charging documents, sentencing orders, and criminal history information.<sup>2</sup> Like all other records prepared by Florida government agencies, criminal record information is subject to public disclosure unless specifically exempted.<sup>3</sup>

Arrest Record Information

Public record information pertaining to a person’s arrest for the alleged commission of a crime includes the arrest report and booking photograph (commonly known as a “mugshot”). With few exceptions, arrest record information (including booking photographs) must be disclosed pursuant to a public records request.<sup>4</sup>

Arrest record information is requested by many persons and entities, including members of the public, traditional news companies, companies that provide criminal history or criminal record information for a service or subscriber fee (e.g., so that a private employer may determine if a job applicant has a criminal history), and companies that are often referred to as “mugshot” companies.

Mugshot companies operate commercial websites that repost booking photographs. Such companies often keep these photographs online even if the person was found not guilty or the charges were dropped;<sup>5</sup> however, many of these websites will remove the photograph for a fee (often a very expensive one).<sup>6</sup> There are also third-party websites that offer to remove photographs from private mug shot websites for a fee.<sup>7</sup> The fees of one of these third party websites range from $399 to remove one photograph to $1799 to remove five photographs.<sup>8</sup> The expense is compounded, however, when a photograph is posted on multiple websites, with each charging their own fee for removal.<sup>9</sup> There have also been reported incidents of people paying the fees and their photographs not being removed.<sup>10</sup> The companies make a profit by charging a fee to remove the image. Photos posted on one site may also be reposted to other sites, causing continuing harm to the reputation of the individual. Florida law does not specifically prohibit this practice.<sup>11</sup>

Laws and Legislation of Other States

According to the National Conference of State Legislatures (“NCSL”), several states have passed laws that say public records cannot be used for commercial purposes. Thirteen states have enacted legislation designed to prohibit commercial website operators from posting mugshot photos on a website and charging a removal fee.<sup>12</sup>

An American Bar Association article suggests that there is no legal solution to this problem, and instead, the solution will develop through private sector activity.<sup>13</sup> For example, Google has adjusted its algorithms so that the mugshot companies will not appear as prominently in the search results. In addition, some credit card companies such as MasterCard, American Express, and Discover are cutting ties with these types of websites.<sup>14</sup>

Other Actions

In 2014, the Pinellas County Sheriff’s Office announced that it would no longer post booking photographs on its website. The names, addresses, and initial charges of those arrested are still available on the website. The agency still provides access to the mugshots to other law enforcement agencies and the media, but those entities must request access to those photographs. Members of the public may also submit requests for mugshots.<sup>15</sup>

The Lee County Sheriff’s Office website indicates that it will remove a booking photograph once notified the arrest record information is sealed or expunged.<sup>16</sup>

Case Law

Persons having their booking photographs posted by commercial entities have sought relief based on various causes of action. These include claims for an invasion of privacy based on false light,<sup>17</sup> invasion of privacy based on unauthorized appropriation of name or likeness, defamation by slander, and unjust enrichment.

In 2008, the Florida Supreme Court indicated that Florida does not recognize tort claims based on false light, “because we conclude that false light is largely duplicative of existing torts, but without the attendant protections of the First Amendment.”<sup>18</sup> The Court specifically noted that the key elements of a false claim are nearly identical to the elements required in a defamation case.<sup>19</sup> Florida does recognize defamation claims.<sup>20</sup>

Right of Publicity

Section 540.08(1), F.S., prohibits a person from publishing, printing, displaying, or otherwise publicly using for purposes of trade or for any commercial or advertising purpose the name, portrait, photograph, or other likeness of any natural person without the person’s express written or oral consent to such use. There are exceptions for:

- Publication, printing, display, or use of the name or likeness of any person in any newspaper, magazine, book, news broadcast or telecast, or other news medium or publication as part of any bona fide news report or presentation having a current and legitimate public interest and where such name or likeness is not used for advertising purposes;
- The use of such name, portrait, photograph, or other likeness in connection with the resale or other distribution of literary, musical, or artistic productions or other articles of merchandise or property where such person has consented to the use on or in connection with the initial sale or distribution; and
- Any photograph of a person solely as a member of the public and where such person is not named or otherwise identified in or in connection with the use of such photograph.<sup>21</sup>

When necessary consent is not obtained, the person whose name, portrait, photograph, or other likeness is used may bring an action to enjoin the unauthorized publication, printing, display or other public use, and to recover damages for any loss or injury sustained, including an amount which would have been a reasonable royalty, and punitive or exemplary damages.<sup>22</sup>

In 2014, a Florida federal district court denied the defendant’s motion to dismiss a cause of action alleging a violation of s. 540.08, F.S., for publishing the plaintiff’s booking photograph without her consent and advertising “unpublishing services” that required the payment of a fee to remove the photograph.<sup>23</sup> In a later proceeding, the court denied the plaintiff’s Motion to Certify Class (to allow the case to proceed as a class action) without prejudice.<sup>24</sup> The case did not have a trial on the merits of the cases, so it is unknown whether the plaintiff would have succeeded on her claim.

Sealing of Criminal History Records

Under current law, a court may order a person’s criminal history record to be sealed. A person who petitions the court to have a criminal history record sealed must first obtain a certificate of eligibility (“COE”)<sup>25</sup> from the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (“FDLE”). Section 943.059(2), F.S., provides that FDLE shall issue a COE for sealing to a person who is the subject of a criminal history record provided that such person:

- Has submitted to FDLE a certified copy of the disposition of the charge to which the petition to seal pertains;
- Remits a $75 processing fee to the department for placement in the FDLE Operating Trust Fund, unless such fee is waived by the executive director;
- Has never, before the date on which the application for a certificate of eligibility is filed, been adjudicated guilty of a criminal offense or comparable ordinance violation, or been adjudicated delinquent for committing any felony or a misdemeanor specified in s. 943.051(3)(b), F.S.;
- Has not been adjudicated guilty of or adjudicated delinquent for committing any of the acts stemming from the arrest or alleged criminal activity to which the petition to seal pertains;
- Has never secured a prior sealing or expunction of a criminal history record; and
- Is no longer under court supervision applicable to the disposition of the arrest or alleged criminal activity to which the petition to seal pertains.<sup>26</sup>

A petition to a court to seal a criminal history record is complete only when accompanied by a valid COE issued by FDLE and a sworn statement attesting that the petitioner:

- Has never, before the date on which the petition is filed, been adjudicated guilty of a criminal offense or comparable ordinance violation, or been adjudicated delinquent for committing any felony or a misdemeanor specified in s. 943.051(3)(b), F.S.;
- Has not been adjudicated guilty of or adjudicated delinquent for committing any of the acts stemming from the arrest or alleged criminal activity to which the petition to seal pertains;
- Has never secured a prior sealing or expunction of a criminal history record; and
- Is eligible for such a sealing to the best of his or her knowledge or belief and does not have any other petition to seal or any petition to expunge pending before any court.<sup>27</sup>

Section 943.059(4), F.S., provides that when a record is sealed, it is not destroyed, but access is limited to the subject of the record, his or her attorney, law enforcement agencies for their respective criminal justice purposes, and certain other specified agencies for their respective licensing and employment purposes. A person may lawfully deny or fail to acknowledge the sealed arrest, except in specific circumstances.<sup>28</sup>

Records that have been sealed are confidential and exempt from the public records law. It is a first-degree misdemeanor to divulge their existence, except to specific entities for licensing or employment purposes.

Effect of the Bill

Arrest Booking Photographs

The bill prohibits any person or entity engaged in the business of publishing or disseminating arrest booking photographs from soliciting or accepting a fee to remove the photographs. A person whose arrest booking photograph was published, or a legal representative of that person, may make a request in writing for the removal of the photograph. The written request must be by registered mail and must include sufficient proof of identification of the person whose photograph was published and specific information identifying the photograph to be removed. Within 10 calendar days after receiving a written request by the person in the photograph or his or her legal representative, the publisher of the photograph must remove the photograph without charge.

If the publisher does not remove the photograph within 10 calendar days after receipt of the written request for removal, the person whose arrest booking photograph was published or otherwise disseminated may bring a civil action for damages and to have the court issue an injunction. The court may impose a civil penalty of $1,000 per day for noncompliance with the injunction. The court must also award reasonable attorney fees and court costs related to the issuance and enforcement of the injunction. Any money recovered for the civil penalties must be deposited into the General Revenue Fund.

The bill states that the provisions discussed above do not apply to a person or entity that publishes or disseminates information relating to arrest booking photographs, unless the person or entity solicits or accepts a fee to remove the information.

Administrative Sealing of Criminal History Records

The bill creates s. 943.0586, F.S., relating to the administrative sealing of criminal history records. This section becomes effective upon the same date that HB 369 or similar legislation takes effect, and only if such legislation is adopted in the same legislative session or an extension and becomes law. The bill allows FDLE to administratively seal an arrest or incident of alleged criminal activity of an adult or a minor charged with a felony, misdemeanor, or violation of comparable ordinance by state, county, municipal, of other law enforcement agencies, upon notification by the clerk of court, that the state attorney declined prosecution, dismissed or nolle prossed all charges before trial, or the trial resulted in an acquittal or verdict of not guilty, and all appeals by the prosecution have been exhausted or the time to file an appeal has expired. This changes current law which requires persons to apply to FDLE and pay a $75 fee to seal such records. It also allows an unlimited number of administrative record sealings by FDLE under the circumstances identified above; whereas, current law only authorizes one sealing and requires court approval. .

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2018.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1. Creates an undesignated section of law relating to publishing of booking photographs.

Section 2. Creates s. 943.0586, F.S., relating to the administrative sealing of criminal history records.

Section 3. Provides an effective date of July 1, 2018.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues: The bill allows a court to impose a civil penalty of $1,000 per day on the publisher for noncompliance with an injunction requiring the removal of a posted photograph. If a court orders this civil penalty, the funds would be deposited in the General Revenue Fund.
2. Expenditures: FDLE indicates that as part of the new Computerized Criminal History (“CCH”) system, any workload associated with the administrative sealing of criminal histories could be absorbed within existing resources.<sup>29</sup> The new CCH system is currently under design, but should be operational in Fiscal Year 2018-19. The bill provides for an effective date of July 1, 2018 to allow the new system to become fully operational.

There is no anticipated fiscal impact to the Clerks of Court.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues: The bill does not appear to have any impact on local government revenues.
2. Expenditures: The bill does not appear to have any impact on local government expenditures.

<sup>29</sup> Florida Department of Law Enforcement, 2017 FDLE Legislative Bill Analysis – HB 857, Revised Mar. 20, 2017 (on file with Justice Appropriations Subcommittee).

- C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR: The bill may reduce costs for people who have their booking photographs published and want the photographs removed because the bill prohibits publishers of the photographs from charging removal fees. The bill also authorizes a civil cause of action, with an entitlement to reasonable attorney fees and costs, against those who, after a written request, fail to remove the photographs.
- D. FISCAL COMMENTS: None.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision: The bill does not appear to require counties or municipalities to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds, reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenue in the aggregate, nor reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.
2. Other: Requiring private entities to remove booking arrest photographs may result in a constitutional challenge based on the First Amendment to the extent that the bill regulates protected speech. However, the absence of a sufficiently analogous case on point makes the potential outcome of a First Amendment challenge speculative.<sup>30</sup>

- B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY: The bill does not appear to create a need for rulemaking or rulemaking authority.
- C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS: None.
