SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The bill exempts from public record requirements the business e-mail addresses of current justices of the Supreme Court, district court of appeal judges, circuit court judges, and county court judges.

The bill provides a public necessity statement as required by the Florida Constitution.

The bill may have a minimal fiscal impact on the state and does not appear to have a fiscal impact on local governments.

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2018.

Article I, s. 24(c) of the Florida Constitution requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting for final passage of a newly created or expanded public record or public meeting exemption. The bill creates a public record exemption for certain records of e-mail addresses; thus, it requires a two-thirds vote for final passage.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Public Records

Article I, s. 24(a) of the Florida Constitution sets forth the state's public policy regarding access to government records. The section guarantees every person a right to inspect or copy any public record of the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government. The Legislature, however, may provide by general law for the exemption of records from the requirements of Art. I, s. 24(a) of the Florida Constitution provided the exemption passes by two-thirds vote of each chamber, states with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption (public necessity statement), and is no broader than necessary to meet its public purpose.[1]

The Florida Statutes also address the public policy regarding access to government records. Section 119.07(1), F.S. guarantees every person a right to inspect and copy any state, county, or municipal record, unless the record is exempt. Furthermore, the Open Government Sunset Review Act[2] provides that a public record exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose and the "Legislature finds that the purpose is sufficiently compelling to override the strong public policy of open government and cannot be accomplished without the exemption."[3] However, the exemption may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allow the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption;
- Protect sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety; however, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision; or
- Protect trade or business secrets.[4]

The Open Government Sunset Review Act does not apply to an exemption that applies solely to the Legislature or the State Court System.[5]

Public Records and Members of the Judiciary

Currently, s. 119.071(4)(d)(2.)e., F.S. exempts several types of information from ch. 119, F.S. for current or former members of the judiciary, namely:

- Their home addresses, dates of birth, and telephone numbers.
- The names, home addresses, dates of birth, telephone numbers, and places of employment of their spouses and children.
- The names and locations of schools and day care facilities attended by their children.

Communication with Members of the Judiciary

Due process requires that generally, when a party to a lawsuit wishes to communicate with the presiding judge or justice, the other party must be present. A communication between a party and the presiding judge or justice outside the presence of the other party is "ex parte communication" and highly disfavored, usually resulting in a breach of the rules regulating attorneys and judges.[6] Ex parte communications between parties and judges usually do not occur via telephone because judicial assistants usually receive telephone calls. E-mail communication presents a special problem in that a party to a case may send an e-mail directly to a judge, not realizing that such ex parte communication is prohibited and can compromise the integrity of the proceedings.

Effect of the Bill

The bill amends s. 119.071, F.S. to provide that the business e-mail addresses of current justices of the Supreme Court, district court of appeal judges, circuit court judges, and county court judges are exempt[7] from s. 119.07(1), F.S. and art. I, s. 24(a) of the Florida Constitution.

The bill provides a public necessity statement as required by the Florida Constitution, specifying that it is a public necessity to protect business e-mail addresses of current Florida justices and judges, because public release of such addresses could result in improper ex parte communications necessitating recusal or other action that could negatively affect the judiciary; that the harm that may result from the release of such addresses outweighs any public benefit; and that the public can contact the judicial member via e-mail through the judicial member's judicial assistant without the need for the judicial member's business e-mail address.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Amends s. 119.071, F.S. regarding the e-mail addresses of current justices and judges.
Section 2: Provides a public necessity statement.
Section 3: Provides an effective date of July 1, 2018.

[7] There is a difference between records the Legislature designates as exempt from public records requirements and those the Legislature designates as confidential and exempt. A record classified as exempt from public disclosure may be disclosed under certain circumstances. *See WFTV, Inc. v. C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

None.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

The bill could have an insignificant negative fiscal impact on courts because staff responsible for complying with public records requests may require training related to the creation of the public record exemption.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

Not applicable. The bill does not appear to affect county or municipal governments.

2. Other:

Public Necessity Statement and Breadth of Exemption
Article I, s. 24(c) of the Florida Constitution requires a public necessity statement for a newly created or expanded public record or public meeting exemption. The bill creates a public record exemption; therefore, it includes a public necessity statement. Article I, s. 24(c) of the Florida Constitution also requires a newly created public record or public meeting exemption to be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the law.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

Not applicable.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

None.

Section 2. The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity that business e-mail addresses of the current justices of the Supreme Court, district court of appeal judges, circuit court judges, and county court judges be made exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution. Public release of such e-mail addresses could result in e-mails from the public or parties to an action regarding pending litigation being sent directly to justices or judges, creating the risk of ex parte communications that could necessitate recusal or other action that may negatively affect judicial efficiency and court schedules. The Legislature further finds that the harm that may result from the release of such e-mail addresses outweighs any public benefit that may be derived from their disclosure. If the justices' and judges' business e-mail addresses are exempt from public records requirements, the public may still use e-mail to contact a justice or judge through his or her judicial assistant.

Section 3. This act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

In 1971, the Legislature passed the Florida Mental Health Act ("Baker Act") to address the mental health needs of individuals in the state. The Baker Act allows for voluntary and, under certain circumstances, involuntary, examinations of individuals suspected of having a mental illness, and establishes procedures for courts, law enforcement, and certain health care practitioners to initiate such examinations.

Currently, the following health care practitioners may initiate the involuntary examination of a person under the Baker Act (some subject to certain training and experience requirements): a physician, a clinical psychologist, a psychiatric nurse, a mental health counselor, a marriage and family therapist, and a clinical social worker.

HB 573 adds advanced registered nurse practitioners and physician assistants to the list of health care practitioners who may initiate the involuntary examination of a person under the Baker Act.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local government.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2018.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Current Situation

Involuntary Examination under the Baker Act

In 1971, the Legislature passed the Florida Mental Health Act (also known as "The Baker Act"[1]), codified in part I of ch. 394, F.S., to address mental health needs in the state.[2] The Baker Act provides the authority and process for the voluntary and involuntary examination of persons who meet certain criteria, and the subsequent inpatient or outpatient placement of such individuals for treatment.

The Department of Children and Families (DCF) administers the Baker Act through receiving facilities which are designated by DCF. The receiving facility may be public or private and provides the initial examination and short-term treatment of persons who meet the criteria under the Baker Act.[3] A person who requires longer term treatment may be transported to a DCF-designated treatment facility. Treatment facilities are state owned, operated, or supported that hospitals, centers, or clinics that are provide extended treatment and hospitalization beyond what is provided in a receiving facility.[4]

Current law allows an involuntary examination if there is reason to believe a person has a mental illness and; because of the illness, the person:[5]

- Has refused a voluntary examination after explanation of the purpose of the exam or is unable to determine for himself or herself that an examination is needed; and
- Is likely to suffer from self-neglect or substantial harm to her or his well-being, or be a danger to himself or herself or others.

A person who is subject to an involuntary examination may not be held longer than 72 hours in a receiving facility.[6]

Courts, law enforcement officers, and certain health care practitioners are authorized to initiate such involuntary examinations.[7] A circuit court may enter an ex parte order stating a person meets the criteria for involuntary examination.[8] A law enforcement officer[9] may take a person into custody who appears to meet the criteria for involuntary examination and transport them to a receiving facility for examination.[10] Health care practitioners may initiate an involuntary examination by executing the Certificate of Professional Initiating an Involuntary Examination, an official form adopted in rule by DCF.[11] The health care practitioner must have examined the person within the preceding 48 hours and state that the person meets the criteria for involuntary examination.[12] The Baker Act currently authorizes the following health care practitioners to initiate an involuntary examination by certificate:[13]

- A physician licensed under ch. 458, F.S., or ch. 459, F.S., who has experience in the diagnosis and treatment of mental and nervous disorders, or a physician employed by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs or Department of Defense.[14]
- A clinical psychologist, as defined in s. 490.003(7), F.S., with three years of postdoctoral experience in the practice of clinical psychology, inclusive of the experience required for licensure, or a psychologist employed by a facility operated by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs that qualifies as a receiving or treatment facility.[15]
- A psychiatric nurse who is certified as an advanced registered nurse practitioner under s. 464.012, who has a master's degree or a doctorate in psychiatric nursing, holds a national advanced practice certification as a psychiatric mental health advance practice nurse, and has two years of post-master's clinical experience under the supervision of a physician.[16]
- A mental health counselor licensed under ch. 491, F.S.
- A marriage and family therapist licensed under ch. 491, F.S.
- A clinical social worker licensed under ch. 491, F.S.

Between July 1, 2015 and June 30, 2016, there were 194,354 involuntary examinations initiated in the state. Law enforcement initiated half of the involuntary examinations (50.86 percent), followed closely by mental health professionals (47.27 percent), with the remaining initiated pursuant to ex parte orders by judges (1.88 percent).[17]

Physician Assistants

Physician assistant (PA) licensure in Florida is governed by ss. 458.347(7) and 459.022(7), F.S. The Department of Health (DOH) licenses PAs and the Florida Council on Physician Assistants (Council) regulates them.[18] PAs are also regulated by either the Florida Board of Medicine for PAs licensed under ch. 458, F.S., or the Florida Board of Osteopathic Medicine for PAs licensed under ch. 459, F.S. The duty of a board and its members is to make disciplinary decisions concerning whether a doctor or PA has violated the provisions of his or her practice act.[19] There are 9,118 PAs who hold active licenses to practice in Florida.[20]

PAs may only practice under the direct or indirect supervision of a medical doctor or doctor of osteopathic medicine with whom they have a clinical relationship.[21] A supervising physician may only delegate tasks and procedures to the PA that are within the supervising physician's scope of practice.[22] The supervising physician is responsible and liable for any acts or omissions of the PA and may not supervise more than four PAs at any time.[23]

To be licensed as a PA in Florida, an applicant must:[24]

- Submit a completed application and appropriate fees.[25]
- Complete of an approved PA training program;
- Obtain a passing score on the National Commission on Certification of Physician Assistant exam;
- Acknowledge any prior felony convictions;
- Submit to a background screening and have no disqualifying offenses;[26]
- Acknowledge any previous revocation or denial of licensure in any state; and
- A copy of course transcripts and a copy of the course description from a PA training program describing the course content in pharmacotherapy if the applicant is seeking prescribing authority.

Licenses are renewed biennially. At the time of renewal, must submit an acknowledgement that he or she has not been convicted of any felony in the previous two years and complete a physician assistant workforce survey.[27]

Florida law does not expressly allow PAs to refer for or initiate involuntary examinations under the Baker Act; however, in 2008, Attorney General Bill McCollum issued an opinion stating:

> A physician assistant pursuant to Chapter 458 or 459, Florida Statutes, may refer a patient for involuntary evaluation pursuant to section 394.463, Florida Statutes, provided that the physician assistant has experience regarding the diagnosis and treatment of mental and nervous disorders and such tasks are within the supervising physician's scope of practice.[28]

PAs are not required by law to have experience in the diagnosis and treatment of mental and nervous disorders.

Advanced Registered Nurse Practitioners

Nurses are licensure are licensed by DOH and regulated by the Board of Nursing pursuant to part I of ch. 464, F.S. Licensure requirements to practice nursing include completion of an approved educational course of study, passage of an examination approved by DOH, and acceptable criminal background screening results.[29] [29] SS. 464.008 and 464.009, F.S. As an alternative to licensure by examination, a nurse may also be eligible for licensure by endorsement.

A nurse who holds a current license to practice professional nursing may apply to be certified as an Advanced Registered Nurse Practitioner (ARNP), under s. 464.012, F.S., if the nurse meets one or both of the following requirements:

- Certification by a specialty board; or
- Graduation from a program leading to a master's degree in a nursing clinical specialty area with preparation in specialized practitioner skills.

Current law defines three categories of ARNPs: certified registered nurse anesthetists, certified nurse midwives, and nurse practitioners.[30] All ARNPs, regardless of practice category, may only practice within the framework of an established protocol and under the supervision of an allopathic or osteopathic physician or dentist.[31] ARNPs may carry out treatments as specified in statute, including:[32]

- Prescribing, dispensing, administering, or ordering any drug;[33]
- Initiating appropriate therapies for certain conditions;
- Ordering diagnostic tests and physical and occupational therapy;
- Ordering any medication for administration patients in certain facilities; and
- Performing additional functions as determined by rule.[34]

In addition to the above-allowed acts, an ARNP may also perform other acts as authorized by statute and within his or her specialty.[35] Further, if it is within an ARNP's established protocol, the ARNP may establish behavioral problems and diagnosis and make treatment recommendations.[36] There are 27,588 ARNPs who hold active licenses to practice in Florida.[37]

Currently, only ARNPs who are "psychiatric nurses" may initiate involuntary examinations under the Baker Act.[38] To qualify as a psychiatric nurse, an ARNP must have a master's or doctoral degree in psychiatric nursing, hold a national advance practice certification as a psychiatric mental health advanced practice nurse, and have two years post-master's clinical experience.[39]

Effect of Proposed Changes

HB 573 authorizes PAs and ARNPs to initiate involuntary examinations under the Baker Act. A PA or ARNP must execute a certificate stating that a person he or she examined within the preceding 48 hours appears to meet the criteria for an involuntary examination. Under current law, only a physician, clinical psychologist, psychiatric nurse, mental health counselor, marriage and family therapist or clinical social worker may initiate an involuntary examination by executing such a certificate.

The bill defines a "physician assistant" and an "advanced registered nurse practitioner" in the same manner as their respective practice acts (ss. 458.347, 459.022, and 464.003, F.S.).

The bill makes necessary conforming changes due to the statutory changes made by the bill.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The "Self Storage Facility Act" regulates self-service storage facilities, which are designed and used for the purpose of renting individual storage space to tenants for the purpose of storing personal property. The owner of a self-service storage facility has a lien on all personal property located at a self-service storage facility for rent, labor, and other charges, including expenses reasonably incurred in the sale or other disposition of such property. To conduct a lien sale the owner is required to take certain steps. One of these steps is that the owner must publish an advertisement of the sale once a week for 2 consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the area where the self-service storage facility is located. If there is no such newspaper of general circulation, the advertisement must be posted at least 10 days before the sale in at least three conspicuous places in the neighborhood where the self-service storage facility is located.

HB 691 allows an advertisement for sale to be published continuously for 2 consecutive weeks on a public website that customarily conducts personal property auctions as an alternative to publishing once a week for consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the area where the self-service storage facility is located. The bill also removes the requirement for the owner, when there is no newspaper of general circulation, to post the advertisement at least 10 days before the sale in at least three conspicuous places in the neighborhood where the self-service storage facility is located.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2018

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Self-Service Storage

Part III of ch. 83, F.S. is known as the "Self Storage Facility Act." The Act regulates self-service storage facilities.[1] These facilities are designed and used for the purpose of renting or leasing individual storage space to tenants who are to have access to such space for the purpose of storing and removing personal property.[2]

The owner of a self-service storage facility has a lien[3] on all personal property located at a self-service storage facility for rent, labor, or other charges and expenses necessary for property preservation or reasonably incurred in the sale or other disposition of such property.[4] The lien attaches on the date the personal property is brought to the self-service storage facility.[5]

If a tenant fails to pay the rent on the self-storage facility space when it becomes due, after 5 days the owner may deny the tenant access to the personal property located in the self-service storage facility.

Enforcement of Lien

The owner of the self-storage facility may satisfy his or her lien by conducting a lien sale. The facility owner is required to take certain steps before satisfying the lien.

First, the owner must provide written notice to the tenant prior to the sale of the property, in person or by certified mail to the tenant's last known address and conspicuously posted at the self-service storage facility. The notice must contain a statement showing:

- The amount due;
- The date it became due;
- A description of the property;
- A demand for payment within 14 days; and
- A conspicuous statement that, unless the claim is paid within the time stated in the notice, the personal property will be advertised for sale or other disposition and will be sold or otherwise disposed of at a specified time and place.

If the tenant has not satisfied the balance due after the expiration of the time provided by the notice, the facility owner may advertise for a sale of the property. An advertisement of the sale must be published once a week for 2 consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the area where the self-service storage facility is located. If there is no such newspaper of general circulation, the advertisement must be posted at least 10 days before the sale in at least three conspicuous places in the neighborhood where the self-service storage facility is located.[6] The advertisement must include a brief and general description of the property believed to be contained in the storage unit, the address of the facility, the name of the tenant, and the time, place, and manner of the sale or other disposition, which may not be sooner than 15 days after the first publication.[7]

After sale, the facility owner may utilize the proceeds of the sale to pay some or all of the balance due. The facility owner must hold any balance for delivery, on demand, to the tenant. The facility owner must provide notice of any balance to the tenant in person or by certified mail. The balance is considered abandoned if the tenant does not claim it within two years.[8]

Effect of Proposed Language

HB 691 allows an advertisement for sale of the contents of a self-service storage facility to be published continuously for 2 consecutive weeks on a public website that customarily conducts personal property auctions as an alternative to publishing once a week for consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the area where the self-service storage facility is located. The bill also removes the requirement, when there is no newspaper of general circulation, for the owner to post the advertisement at least 10 days before the sale in at least three conspicuous places in the neighborhood where the self-service storage facility is located.

IV. AMENDMENTS/ COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to self-service storage facilities; amending s. 83.806, F.S.; providing that advertisement of a sale or disposition of property may be published on certain websites; deleting a required alternative form of advertisement; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (4) of section 83.806, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

83.806 Enforcement of lien.—An owner's lien as provided in s. 83.805 may be satisfied as follows:

(4) After the expiration of the time given in the notice, an advertisement of the sale or other disposition shall be published once a week for 2 consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the area where the self-service storage facility or self-contained storage unit is located or published continuously for 2 consecutive weeks on a public website that customarily conducts personal property auctions.

(a) A lien sale may be conducted on a public website that customarily conducts personal property auctions. The facility or unit owner is not required to hold a license to post property for online sale. Inasmuch as any sale may involve property of more than one tenant, a single advertisement may be used to dispose of property at any one sale.

(b) The advertisement shall include:

1. A brief and general description of what is believed to constitute the personal property contained in the storage unit, as provided in paragraph (2)(b).

2. The address of the self-service storage facility or the address where the self-contained storage unit is located and the name of the tenant.

BILL #: HB 753 Judicial Nominating Commissions

TIED BILLS: IDEN./SIM. BILLS: SB 1030

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Trial court judicial positions that become vacant during a judge's term and all appellate judicial positions are filled by a system of nomination and appointment in which the Governor must appoint a justice or judge from a list of nominees provided by the relevant judicial nominating commission (JNC). There are separate JNCs for the Supreme Court, each district court of appeal, and each of the twenty judicial circuits. Each JNC has nine volunteer members. Five members are appointed solely by the Governor, and four members are appointed by the Governor from a list of nominees provided by The Florida Bar. Members of the JNCs serve 4-year staggered terms.

HB 753 maintains the current JNC structure of twenty-six 9-member JNCs, keeps five members of each JNC appointed solely by the Governor, and keeps four-year terms. This bill changes the method of selection of the four remaining members of each JNC to provide for appointment by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. Each leader will appoint two members of each JNC. Appointments will be staggered.

The bill creates a transition rule and provides that current members of JNCs will serve the remainder of their terms unless removed for cause.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2018.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Trial court judicial positions that become vacant during a judge's term and all appellate judicial positions are filled by the Governor from a list of nominees provided by a judicial nominating commission (JNC).[1] JNCs are required by the Florida Constitution, but the number of members and composition of each JNC is provided for by statute.[2] When an appellate judicial position becomes vacant, candidates submit their applications to the JNC for that court. The commission sends a list of three to six nominees to the Governor, and the Governor must fill the vacancy by selecting from that list.[3] Vacancies on the circuit or county courts that occur between elections are filled in the same manner as vacancies on the appellate bench.[4]

Article V, s. 11(d) of the Florida Constitution provides that JNCs must be created by general law for the Supreme Court, each district court of appeal, and each judicial circuit for all trial courts within that circuit. This constitutional provision is implemented by s. 43.291, F.S., which provides that each JNC consists of nine members appointed by the Governor.[5] Members serve 4-year staggered terms.[6] All JNC members must be residents of the territorial jurisdiction served by the JNC to which the member is appointed.[7]

The Governor appoints five of the nine members of each JNC at the Governor's sole discretion. Two of those five appointees must be members of The Florida Bar who are engaged in the practice of law.[8] The remaining four members of each JNC are appointed by the Governor from a list of nominees provided by the Board of Governors of The Florida Bar. The Board of Governors must submit three nominees for each position. Each of the nominees must be a member of The Florida Bar engaged in the practice of law. The Governor must either select an appointee from the list of nominees or reject all of the nominees and request that the Board of Governors submit a new list of three different recommended nominees.[9] In making appointments, the Governor must "seek to ensure that, to the extent possible, the membership of the commission reflects the racial, ethnic, and gender diversity, as well as the geographic distribution," of the population within the territorial jurisdiction of the JNC.[10] The Governor must also consider the adequacy of representation of each county within the judicial circuit.[11]

A justice or judge may not be a member of a JNC, but a JNC member may hold public office other than judicial office. A member of a JNC is not eligible for appointment, during his or her term of office and for a period of 2 years thereafter, to any state judicial office for which that JNC has the authority to make nominations.[12]

Effect of the Bill

This bill provides that the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint the four members of each JNC currently selected by the Governor upon nomination by the Board of Governors of The Florida Bar. Those appointees must still be members of The Florida Bar, but the requirement that they be engaged in the practice of law is removed. The Senate President and the House Speaker each appoint two members to each JNC, without any required input from the Governor or The Florida Bar. The Governor still selects the other five members of each JNC.

The bill provides that each current JNC member serves the remainder of his or her term unless removed for cause. For selections to the Supreme Court JNC, the Senate President appoints the members to fill the first and third positions that become vacant, and the House Speaker appoints the members to fill the second and fourth positions. For selections to circuit and district court JNCs with even-numbered districts or circuits, the Senate President appoints the members to fill the first and third positions that become vacant, and the House Speaker appoints the members to fill the second and fourth positions. For selections to circuit and district court JNCs with odd-numbered districts or circuits, the House Speaker appoints the members to fill the first and third positions that become vacant, and the Senate President appoints the members to fill the second and fourth positions. Once a JNC consists of five members appointed by the Governor, two members appointed by the House Speaker, and two members appointed by the Senate President, each subsequent expired term or vacancy is filled by appointment in the same manner as the member whose position is being filled.

This bill is effective July 1, 2018.

Section 1: Amends s. 43.291, F.S., relating to the manner of appointing JNC members.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

The Division of Condominiums, Timeshares and Mobile Homes (the Division), a division within the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR), provides consumer protection for Florida residents living in regulated communities through education, complaint resolution, mediation and arbitration, and developer disclosure. The Division has regulatory authority over the following business entities and individuals:

- Condominium Associations;
- Cooperative Associations;
- Florida Mobile Home Parks and related associations;
- Vacation Units and Timeshares;
- Yacht and Ship Brokers and related business entities; and
- Homeowners' Associations (limited to arbitration of election and recall disputes).

A condominium is a form of ownership of real property created pursuant to ch. 718, F.S., comprised of units which may be owned by one or more persons but have an undivided share of access to common facilities.[1] A condominium is created by recording a declaration of condominium in the public records of the county in which the condominium will be located.[2] A declaration governs the relationships among condominium unit owners and the condominium association. All unit owners are members of the condominium association, an entity responsible for the operation of the common elements owned by the unit owners, which operates or maintains real property in which unit owners have use rights. The condominium association is overseen by an elected board of directors, commonly referred to as a "board of administration." The association enacts condominium association bylaws, which govern the administration of the association, including quorum, voting rights, and election and removal of board members.

A cooperative is a form of property ownership created pursuant to ch. 719, F.S. The real property is owned by the cooperative association, and individual units are leased to the residents who own shares in the cooperative association.[3] The lease payment amount is the pro-rata share of the operational expenses of the cooperative. Cooperatives operate similarly to condominiums and the laws regulating cooperatives are in many instances nearly identical.

A homeowners' association (HOA) is an association of residential property owners in which voting membership is made up of parcel owners, in which membership is a mandatory condition of parcel ownership, and which is authorized to impose assessments that, if unpaid, may become a lien on the parcel.[4] Only HOAs whose covenants and restrictions include mandatory assessments are regulated by ch. 720, F.S. Like a condominium or cooperative, an HOA is administered by an elected board of directors. The powers and duties of an HOA includes the powers and duties provided in ch. 720, F.S., and in the governing documents of the association, which include the recorded covenants and restrictions, together with the bylaws, articles of incorporation, and duly adopted amendments to those documents. No state agency has direct oversight of HOAs. Florida law provides procedures and minimum requirements for operating and provides for a mandatory binding arbitration program, administered by the Division, only for certain election disputes.

Official Records – Current Situation

Condominium and cooperative associations are required to maintain official records for at least 7 years. The official records must include:

- A copy of the articles of incorporation, declaration, bylaws of and rules of the association;
- Meeting minutes;
- A roster of all unit owners or members, including the electronic mailing addresses and fax numbers of unit owners consenting to receive notice by electronic transmission;

- Accounting records for the association;
- All contracts for work to be performed including bids;
- A copy of the plans, permits, warranties, and other items provided by the developer;
- All other written records which are related to the operation of the association; and
- All ballots, sign-in sheets, voting proxies, and all other papers relating to voting by unit owners.[5]

Unit owners are able to inspect the official records, and a condominium or cooperative must have the records available for inspection within 5 working days of receiving a request to inspect them.[6]

Official Records – Effect of the Bill

The bill:

- Extends the deadline condominium and cooperative associations have to make records available to unit owners from 5 working days to 10 working days.
- Includes electronic records relating to voting to the list of official records that must be kept by condominium and cooperative associations.
- Provides that a condominium association must permanently maintain the following documents:
    - A copy of the articles of incorporation, declaration, bylaws of and rules of the association;
    - Meeting minutes; and
    - A copy of the plans, permits, warranties, and other items required by the developer.

Condominium websites – Current Situation and Effect of the Bill

By July 1, 2018, a condominium association with 150 or more units that does not manage timeshare units must post certain documents on a website that is only accessible to unit owners and employees of the condominium association. If the condominium association's website must include:

- The recorded declaration of condominium of each condominium operated by the condominium association and each amendment to each declaration;

- The rules of the condominium association;
- Any management agreement, lease, or other contract to which the condominium association is a party or under which the condominium association or the unit owners have an obligation or responsibility. Summaries of bids for materials, equipment, or services must be maintained on the website for 1 year;

- The certification of each director;
- All contracts or transactions between the condominium association and any director, corporation, firm, or condominium association that is not an affiliated condominium association or any other entity in which an condominium association director is also a director or officer and financially interested;
- Any contract or document regarding a conflict of interest or possible conflict of interest by a community association manager or a board member;
- The notice of any unit owner meeting and the agenda for the meeting, posted at least 14 days before the meeting. The notice must be posted in plain view on the front page of the website or on a separate subpage of the website labeled "Notices" which is conspicuously visible and linked from the front page; and
- Any documents to be considered during a meeting or listed on the agenda for a meeting. These must be posted at least 7 days before the meeting where the document will be considered.[7]

A condominium may not post the following protected documents or restricted information to its website unless the information or documents are redacted:

- Any record protected by the lawyer-client privilege or the work-product privilege;
- Information obtain by the condominium association in connection with the approval of the lease, sale, or other transfer of a unit;
- Personnel records of condominium association or management company employees;
- Medical records of the unit owners;
- Social security numbers, driver license numbers, credit card numbers, email addresses, telephone numbers, facsimile numbers, emergency contact information, and addresses of a unit owner other than as provided to fulfill notice requirements;
- Electronic security measures that are used to safeguard data, including passwords; and
- The software and operating system used by the condominium association, which allows the manipulation of the data.[8]

The bill extends the deadline condominium associations have to post certain documents to a website from July 1, 2018 to January 1, 2019.

The bill provides that a condominium association may post the complete copies of the bids for materials, equipment, or services in lieu of summaries of bids for materials, equipment, or services. The condominium association must post the copies or summaries of the bids after the bidding has closed.

The bill also provides that a condominium association or agent of a condominium association is not liable for disclosing protected or restricted information unless the disclosure was made with a knowing or intentional disregard of the protected or restricted nature of the information.

Condominium Financial Reporting – Current Situation and Effect of the Bill

Condominium associations are required to complete an annual financial report of the previous year's financial activities and provide the report to their unit owners. To comply with financial reporting requirements associations must:

- Complete an annual financial report for the previous fiscal year within 90 days after the end of the fiscal year, calendar year, or annually on a date provided in the bylaws;
- Provide unit or parcel owners the financial report or notice that the report is available upon request without charge within 21 days after the final financial report is completed by the condominium or received from the third party, but not later than 120 days after the end of the fiscal year or calendar year, or other date as provided in the bylaws; and [7] s. 718.112(12)(g), F.S.

[8] Id.

- Prepare financial statements according to generally accepted accounting principles and in a manner dictated by the total revenue of the association, namely:
    - A condominium having total annual revenues between $150,000 and less than $300,000 must prepare compiled financial statements;
    - A condominium having total annual revenues of at least $300,000 but less than $500,000 must prepare reviewed financial statements;
    - An association having total revenues of $500,000 or more must prepare audited financial statements; and
    - An association with total annual revenue of less than $150,000 must prepare a report of cash receipts and expenditures.[9]

An association may vote to waive the annual financial reporting requirements and prepare a report of cash receipts and expenditures by approval of a majority of voting interests.

If a unit owner does not receive the financial report, he or she may contact the Division to report an association's failure to provide a copy of the financial report within the required time. If the Division determines that the association failed to provide the financial report in a timely manner, the Division will require the association to provide the financial report to the unit owner and the Division within five business days. If the association fails to comply with the Division's request the association may not waive the financial annual financial reporting requirements.

The bill provides that if an association fails to comply with the Division's request the association may not waive the financial annual financial reporting requirements for the fiscal year in which the unit owner's request is made and the following fiscal year.

Alterations or Additions to Condominium Property-Current Situation and Effect of the Bill

Condominiums are required to maintain the property of the condominium. In order to maintain condominium property, condominiums may provide a specific procedure to approve material alterations or additions to condominium property in the condominium's declaration, which is the document creating the condominium. If a condominium's declaration does not provide a procedure to approve material alterations or additions then approval by 75 percent of the voting interests is required to approve any material alterations or additions. It is not clear in current statute if the approval must occur before work begins on the additions or alterations.

The bill provides that approval by 75 percent of voting interests must be obtained prior to work beginning on the material alterations or additions of condominium property.

Condominium Conflicts of Interest – Current Law and Effect of the Bill

Current law provides that a condominium may not hire an attorney who represents the condominium's management company.[10]

The bill repeals the provision that a condominium may not hire an attorney who represents the condominium's management company.

Condominium, Cooperative, HOA Fines and Suspension – Current Law and Effect of the Bill

Condominium and cooperative associations and HOAs may levy fines and suspensions against a unit or parcel owner, the unit or parcel's occupant, or a guest of the unit owner for failing to comply with any provision in the condominium's declaration, bylaws, or the condominium's rules.[11]

[11] ss. 718.303(3), 719.303(3), & 720.305(2), F.S.

A board may not impose a fine or suspension unless it gives at least 14 days written notice of the imposed fine or suspension, and the opportunity for a hearing. The hearing must be held before a committee of unit owners who are not board members or residing in a board member's household. The role of the committee is to determine whether to confirm or reject the fine or suspension. For condominiums, the committee must approve the fine or suspension by a majority vote otherwise the board may not impose the fine or suspension. The committee for cooperative associations must agree with the fine or suspension otherwise the cooperative may not approve the fine or suspension.[12] HOAs must provide written notice of any fine or suspension by mail or hand delivery to the parcel owner and, if applicable, to any tenant, licensee, or invitee of the parcel owner.[13] Current law does not provide a date for when a fine is due once the committee has approved the fine.

The bill provides that a fine approved by the committee is due five days after the date of the committee meeting.

The bill provides that the committee for a condominium and cooperative association must be made up of at least three members who are appointed by the board, and are not officers, board members, employees of the association, or a spouse, parent, child, brother, or sister of an officer, board member, or employee of the association.

The committee for a cooperative association must approve the fine or suspension by majority vote otherwise the association may not impose the fine or suspension.

The condominium or cooperative must provide written notice of any fine or suspension by mail or hand delivery to the unit owner and, if applicable, to any tenant, licensee, or guest of the unit owner.

Notice of Board Meetings for Condominiums, Cooperatives, and HOAs – Current Situation

Associations are required to notice all board meetings by posting notice in a conspicuous place on the association's property for at least 48 hours. Notice must be posted 14 days before meetings where a nonemergency special assessment or an amendment to the rules regarding unit use is considered.[14]

If a parcel owner in a HOA provides written consent, the HOA may provide the parcel owner notice by electronic transmission for board meetings, committee meetings, annual meetings, and special meetings.[15]

Condominium and cooperative associations are required to notice all member meetings by mailing, hand delivering, or electronically transmitting notice at least 14 days before the meeting. They must also post notice in a conspicuous place at least 14 days before the meeting. If a condominium or cooperative association opts to broadcast notice in lieu of posting notice it must broadcast notice at least four times every broadcast hour of each day for 14 days.[16]

Notice of Board Meetings – Effect of the Bill

The bill allows condominium and cooperative associations to adopt rules for noticing all board and unit owner meetings on a website if the time requirements for physically posting the board meetings are met. Any rule adopted for website notice must include a requirement that the association send an electronic notice providing a hyperlink to the website where the notice is posted, to all unit owners whose email addresses are part of the official records, and in the same manner as notice for a meeting of the members. Notice by website must be in addition to the other notice requirements.

Any owner who consents to receiving notice for a meeting by electronic transmission is responsible for removing or bypassing any filters that block receipt of mass emails sent to members by an association for the purpose of giving notice.

The bill allows a HOA to give notice by electronic transmission to any parcel owner who provided written consent and a fax number or email address to the HOA.

Communication by Board Members for Cooperatives and HOAs – Current Situation and Effect of the Bill

It is not clear if board members for cooperative associations and HOAs may use email as a form of communication. Board members for condominium associations may use email as a form of communication.[17]

The bill allows members of the board of directors for cooperative associations and HOAs to use email as a form of communication. However, a board member may not cast a vote via email.

Cooperative Common Expenses and Bulk Contracts – Current Situation and Effect of the Bill

Common expenses are normal costs incurred by a cooperative association and include:

- Costs for the operation, maintenance, repair, or replacement of cooperative property;
- Costs of carrying out the powers and duties of the cooperative; or
- Costs designated by the cooperative as a common expense.[18]

Common expenses are paid by the unit owners of a cooperative association and are included in a cooperative association's annual budget to its members.[19]

Cooperative associations may provide in their bylaws that bulk contracts for the cost of a master antenna television system or franchised cable television service are common expenses. Unlike condominiums, cooperatives may not provide bulk contracts for the cost of communication services defined in ch. 202, F.S., information services, or internet services as common expenses.[20]

Chapter 202, F.S., defines communication services to mean the transmission, conveyance, or routing of:

- voice, data, audio, video; or
- any other information or signals, including:
  - video services, to a point, or between or among points, by or through any electronic, radio, satellite, cable, optical, microwave; or
  - other medium or method now in existence or hereafter devised, regardless of the protocol used for such transmission or conveyance.
- The term also includes such transmission, conveyance, or routing in which computer processing applications are used to act on the form, code, or protocol of the content for purposes of transmission, conveyance, or routing without regard to whether such service is referred to as voice-over-Internet-protocol services or is classified by the Federal Communications Commission as enhanced or value-added.

Examples of communication services include:

- Cable and satellite television
- Video and music streaming
- Telephones
- Mobile communications, and similar services[21]

Information service is defined as the offering of a capability for generating, acquiring, storing, transforming, processing, retrieving, using or making available information via communications services.[22] The term also includes data processing and other services that allow data to be generated, acquired, stored, processed, or retrieved and delivered by an electronic transmission to a purchaser whose primary purpose for the underlying transaction is the processed data or information. The term does not include video service.

The bill amends cooperative association law to mirror condominium association law by providing that bulk contracts for communication services defined in ch. 202, F.S., internet services, and information services may be considered a common expense.

Cooperatives' Board of Directors and Board Members – Current Situation and Effect of the Bill

Cooperative associations are administered by a board of directors whose members are elected. The board consists of unit owners who have been elected to serve on the board. Directors of the board nominate officers, including president, secretary, and treasurer. The officers are responsible for the duties that are customarily performed by their counterparts in corporations.[23]

Unlike condominiums, cooperative associations are not required to have a provision that a director or officer is deemed to have abandoned their post if the officer or director is more than 90 days delinquent in the payment of any monetary obligation to the association.[24]

Additionally, cooperative associations do not have a provision that prevents co-owners of a unit in residential condominiums that are more than 10 units from serving on the board at the same time unless the co-owners own more than one unit or there are not enough eligible candidates to fill vacancies on the board.[25]

Condominium association board members serve one year terms, but a board member may serve a two year term if the association's bylaws or articles of incorporation allow it. Board members may not serve more than four consecutive 2-year terms, unless approved by two-thirds of the total voting interests or there are not enough eligible candidates to fill the vacancies on the board at the time of the vacancy.[26]

The bill amends cooperative association law to mirror condominium association law by providing that:

- A director or officer is deemed to have abandoned their office if the officer or director is more than 90 days delinquent in the payment of any monetary obligation to the association; and
- In residential cooperatives that are more than 10 units, co-owners of a unit may not serve as members on the board at the same time unless the co-owners own more than one unit or there are not enough eligible candidates to fill vacancies on the board.

Board Member Recall – Current Situation

A member of a condominium association board may be recalled and removed from office by a majority of all the voting interests of the association at a special meeting or by an agreement in writing by a majority of all voting interests.[27]

If a recall is approved by a majority of all voting interests by vote at a special meeting, the board must notice and hold a board meeting within 5 business days of the special meeting to recall the board member or members. The recall is effective immediately and the recalled member or members must turn any records and association property in their possession to the board within 10 days of the vote.[28]

If a recall is approved in writing by a majority of all voting interests, the agreement or a copy of the agreement must be served on the condominium by certified mail or personal service. The board must notice and hold a meeting to recall the board member or members within 5 business days of being served. The recall is effective immediately and the recalled member or members must turn any records and association property in their possession to the board within 10 days.[29]

If a board fails to notice and hold a meeting within 5 business days of the unit owner's vote or receiving the written agreement, the recall is deemed effective and the recalled board member or members must turn over any records and association property to the board within 10 days.[30]

If the board fails to notice and hold the required meeting or fails to file the required petition, the unit owner representative may file a petition to the Division for arbitration challenging the board's failure to act. The petition must be filed within 60 days after the expiration of the applicable 5 business day period. However, the Division may not accept the petition if there are 60 days or fewer until the reelection of the board member or 60 days or less have elapsed since the election of the board member. The review of a petition is limited to the sufficiency of service on the board and the facial validity of the written agreement or ballots filed.[31]

A recalled board member may file a petition to the Division for arbitration challenging the validity of the recall. The petition must be filed within 60 days of the recall. The petition must name the condominium and the unit owner as the respondents.[32]

The prevailing party in arbitration shall be awarded attorney's fees in the amount determined by the arbitrator.[33]

Board Member Recall – Effect of the Bill

The bill provides the requirement that a board must hold a meeting within 5 days of the unit owners' vote or receiving a written agreement, in order to determine if the vote or written agreement is facially valid. If the board determines the vote or written agreement is facially valid, the recall becomes effective upon the conclusion of the meeting.

The bill provides that a recalled board member may challenge the facial validity of the written agreement to recall, the ballots filed, or the substantial compliance with the procedural requirements for the recall.

If an arbitrator determines a board member's recall is invalid, the recall is null and void and the board member must be immediately reinstated. A board member who successfully challenges a recall is entitled to reasonable costs and attorney's fees from the respondents. An arbitrator may award reasonable costs and attorney's fees to the respondents if the arbitrator determines a recalled board member's request for arbitration is frivolous.

Bulk Assignees and Bulk Buyer – Current Situation

In 2010, the Legislature passed the Distressed Condominium Relief Act (Act) in order to relieve developers, lenders, unit owners, and condominium associations from certain provisions of the Florida Condominium Act. The Act was intended to relieve specific parties from certain liabilities so as to enable economic opportunities for successor purchasers of distressed condominiums.

Specifically, the Act created categories of "bulk buyers" and "bulk assignees." A bulk assignee is a person who acquires more than seven condominium parcels as provided in s. 718.703, F.S., and receives an assignment of some or all of the rights of the developer under specified recording documents. Similarly, a bulk buyer is a person who acquires more than seven condominium parcels, but who does not receive an assignment of developer rights other than the right to: conduct sales, leasing, and marketing activities within the condominium; be exempt from payment of working capital contributions; and be exempt from rights of first refusal. [34]

Because the Act was created in reaction to the "massive downturn in the condominium market which has occurred throughout the state," it was not intended to be open-ended. Rather, the intent of the Legislature was to enact the relief only for a specific and defined period:[35]

> "The Legislature further finds and declares that this situation cannot be open-ended without potentially prejudicing the rights of unit owners and condominium associations, and thereby declares that the provisions of this part may be used by purchasers of condominium inventory for only a specific and defined period."

Originally, the time limitation for classification as a bulk assignee or bulk buyer was until July 1, 2012.[36] In 2012, the Legislature extended the time limitation to July 1, 2015.[37] In 2014, the legislature again amended s. 718.707, F.S., to extend to July 1, 2016.

Finally, in 2015, the legislature again amended s. 718.707, F.S., to provide that a person acquiring condominium parcels may not be classified as a bulk assignee or bulk buyer unless the parcels were acquired between July 1, 2010, and July 1, 2018.

Bulk Assignees and Bulk Buyer – Effect of the Bill

The bill removes the time limit on acquisition for classification as a bulk buyer, extending the applicability of the bulk buyer provisions indefinitely.

HOA Elections – Current Situation and Effect of the Bill

HOAs are administered by a board of directors whose members are elected.[38] HOAs are required to hold board of director elections at its annual meeting or as provided in its governing documents.[39] Elections are conducted in accordance with the procedures set forth in the governing documents of the association. An election is not required unless more candidates are nominated than vacancies exist.[40]

The bill provides that if an election is not required because there are fewer or equal candidates than vacancies, and nominations from the floor are not required, then write-in nominations are not permitted. The candidates will commence service on the board of directors regardless of whether a quorum was attained at the annual meeting.

Payment of HOA Assessments – Current Situation and Effect of the Bill

HOAs are authorized to impose assessments on owners. Assessments are sums of money owed by parcel owners to an HOA to fund the HOA.[41] If assessments or installments of assessments are not paid timely, then they will accrue interest. Any payment received by a HOA for payment of an assessment or installment that accrued interest will first be applied to the interest accrued, then to any administrative late fee, then to any costs and reasonable attorney fees, and then to the delinquent assessment.[42] The order of payments is the same as condominium law.

The Florida Uniform Commercial Code (UCC) allows a debtor to make a restrictive notation on a payment instrument. Accepting the payment instrument with the notation may then be considered an accord and satisfaction of the outstanding debt.[43]

The bill provides that this application of the payment in HOA law applies notwithstanding the UCC. The bill further provides that this is intended to clarify existing law.

Within 21 days after the final financial report is completed by the association or received from the third party, but not later than 120 days after the end of the fiscal year or other date as provided in the bylaws, the association shall mail to each unit owner at the address last furnished to the association by the unit owner, or hand deliver to each unit owner, a copy of the most recent financial report or a notice that a copy of the most recent financial report will be mailed or hand delivered to the unit owner, without charge, within 5 business days after receipt of a written request from the unit owner. The division shall adopt rules setting forth uniform accounting principles and standards to be used by all associations and addressing the financial reporting requirements for multicondominium associations. The rules must include, but not be limited to, standards for presenting a summary of association reserves, including a good faith estimate disclosing the annual amount of reserve funds that would be necessary for the association to fully fund reserves for each reserve item based on the straight-line accounting method. This disclosure is not applicable to reserves funded via the pooling method. In adopting such rules, the division shall consider the number of members and annual revenues of an association. Financial reports shall be prepared as follows:

(e) A unit owner may provide written notice to the division of the association's failure to mail or hand deliver him or her a copy of the most recent financial report within 5 business days after he or she submitted a written request to the association for a copy of such report. If the division determines that the association failed to mail or hand deliver a copy of the most recent financial report to the unit owner, the division shall provide written notice to the association that the association must mail or hand deliver a copy of the most recent financial report to the unit owner and the division within 5 business days after it receives such notice from the division. An association that fails to comply with the division's request may not waive the financial reporting requirement provided in paragraph (d) for the fiscal year in which the unit owner's request was made and the following fiscal year. A financial report received by the division pursuant to this paragraph shall be maintained, and the division shall provide a copy of such report to an association member upon his or her request.

Section 2. Paragraphs (a), (c), (d), and (j) of subsection (2) of section 718.112, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

718.112 Bylaws.—

(2) REQUIRED PROVISIONS.—The bylaws shall provide for the following and, if they do not do so, shall be deemed to include the following:

(a) Administration.—

1. The form of administration of the association shall be described indicating the title of the officers and board of administration and specifying the powers, duties, manner of selection and removal, and compensation, if any, of officers and boards. In the absence of such a provision, the board of administration shall be composed of five members, unless the ~~except in the case of a~~ condominium ~~which~~ has five or fewer units. The board shall consist of not fewer than three members in condominiums with five or fewer units that are not-for-profit corporations~~, in which case in a not-for-profit corporation the board shall consist of not fewer than three members~~. In the absence of provisions to the contrary in the bylaws, the board of administration shall have a president, a secretary, and a treasurer, who shall perform the duties of such officers customarily performed by officers of corporations. Unless prohibited in the bylaws, the board of administration may appoint other officers and grant them the duties it deems appropriate. Unless otherwise provided in the bylaws, the officers shall serve without compensation and at the pleasure of the board of administration. Unless otherwise provided in the bylaws, the members of the board shall serve without compensation.

2. When a unit owner of a residential condominium files a written inquiry by certified mail with the board of administration, the board shall respond in writing to the unit owner within 30 days after receipt of the inquiry. The board's response shall either give a substantive response to the inquirer, notify the inquirer that a legal opinion has been requested, or notify the inquirer that advice has been requested from the division. If the board requests advice from the division, the board shall, within 10 days after its receipt of the advice, provide in writing a substantive response to the inquirer. If a legal opinion is requested, the board shall, within 60 days after the receipt of the inquiry, provide in writing a substantive response to the inquiry. The failure to provide a substantive response to the inquiry as provided herein precludes the board from recovering attorney fees and costs in any subsequent litigation, administrative proceeding, or arbitration arising out of the inquiry. The association may through its board of administration adopt reasonable rules and regulations regarding the frequency and manner of responding to unit owner inquiries, one of which may be that the association is only obligated to respond to one written inquiry per unit in any given 30-day period. In such a case, any additional inquiry or inquiries must be responded to in the subsequent 30-day period, or periods, as applicable.

(c) Board of administration meetings.—Meetings of the board of administration at which a quorum of the members is present are open to all unit owners. Members of the board of administration may use e-mail as a means of communication but may not cast a vote on an association matter via e-mail. A unit owner may tape record or videotape the meetings. The right to attend such meetings includes the right to speak at such meetings with reference to all designated agenda items. The division shall adopt reasonable rules governing the tape recording and videotaping of the meeting. The association may adopt written reasonable rules governing the frequency, duration, and manner of unit owner statements.

1. Adequate notice of all board meetings, which must specifically identify all agenda items, must be posted conspicuously on the condominium property at least 48 continuous hours before the meeting except in an emergency. If 20 percent of the voting interests petition the board to address an item of business, the board, within 60 days after receipt of the petition, shall place the item on the agenda at its next regular board meeting or at a special meeting called for that purpose. An item not included on the notice may be taken up on an emergency basis by a vote of at least a majority plus one of the board members. Such emergency action must be noticed and ratified at the next regular board meeting. ~~However,~~ Written notice of a meeting at which a nonemergency special assessment or an amendment to rules regarding unit use will be considered must be mailed, delivered, or electronically transmitted to the unit owners and posted conspicuously on the condominium property at least 14 days before the meeting. Evidence of compliance with this 14-day notice requirement must be made by an affidavit executed by the person providing the notice and filed with the official records of the association. Notice of any meeting in which regular or special assessments against unit owners are to be considered must specifically state that assessments will be considered and provide the estimated cost and description of the purposes for such assessments. Upon notice to the unit owners, the board shall, by duly adopted rule, designate a specific location on the condominium ~~or association~~ property where all notices of board meetings must be posted. If there is no condominium property ~~or association property~~ where notices can be posted, notices shall be mailed, delivered, or electronically transmitted to each unit owner at least 14 days before the meeting. In lieu of or in addition to the physical posting of the notice on the condominium property, the association may, by reasonable rule, adopt a procedure for conspicuously posting and repeatedly broadcasting the notice and the agenda on a closed-circuit cable television system serving the condominium association. However, if broadcast notice is used in lieu of a notice physically posted on condominium property, the notice and agenda must be broadcast at least four times every broadcast hour of each day that a posted notice is otherwise required under this section. If broadcast notice is provided, the notice and agenda must be broadcast in a manner and for a sufficient continuous length of time so as to allow an average reader to observe the notice and read and comprehend the entire content of the notice and the agenda. In addition to any of the authorized means of providing notice of a meeting of the board, the association may, by rule, adopt a procedure for conspicuously posting the meeting notice and the agenda on a website serving the condominium association for at least the minimum period of time for which a notice of a meeting is also required to be physically posted on the condominium property. Any rule adopted shall, in addition to other matters, include a requirement that the association send an electronic notice in the same manner as a notice for a meeting of the members, which must include a hyperlink to the website where the notice is posted, to unit owners whose e-mail addresses are included in the association's official records. ~~Notice of any meeting in which regular or special assessments against unit owners are to be considered must specifically state that assessments will be considered and provide the nature, estimated cost, and description of the purposes for such assessments.~~

2. Meetings of a committee to take final action on behalf of the board or make recommendations to the board regarding the association budget are subject to this paragraph. Meetings of a committee that does not take final action on behalf of the board or make recommendations to the board regarding the association budget are subject to this section, unless those meetings are exempted from this section by the bylaws of the association.

3. Notwithstanding any other law, the requirement that board meetings and committee meetings be open to the unit owners does not apply to:

a. Meetings between the board or a committee and the association's attorney, with respect to proposed or pending litigation, if the meeting is held for the purpose of seeking or rendering legal advice; or

b. Board meetings held for the purpose of discussing personnel matters.

(d) Unit owner meetings.—

1. An annual meeting of the unit owners must ~~shall~~ be held at the location provided in the association bylaws and, if the bylaws are silent as to the location, the meeting must ~~shall~~ be held within 45 miles of the condominium property. However, such distance requirement does not apply to an association governing a timeshare condominium.

2. Unless the bylaws provide otherwise, a vacancy on the board caused by the expiration of a director's term must ~~shall~~ be filled by electing a new board member, and the election must be by secret ballot. An election is not required if the number of vacancies equals or exceeds the number of candidates. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "candidate" means an eligible person who has timely submitted the written notice, as described in sub-subparagraph 4.a., of his or her intention to become a candidate. Except in a timeshare or nonresidential condominium, or if the staggered term of a board member does not expire until a later annual meeting, or if all members' terms would otherwise expire but there are no candidates, the terms of all board members expire at the annual meeting, and such members may stand for reelection unless prohibited by the bylaws. Each term may not exceed 2 years, unless a shorter term is specified ~~Board members may serve 2-year terms if permitted~~ by the bylaws or articles of incorporation. ~~A board member may not serve more than four consecutive 2-year terms, unless approved by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the total voting interests of the association or unless there are not enough eligible candidates to fill the vacancies on the board at the time of the vacancy.~~ If the number of board members whose terms expire at the annual meeting equals or exceeds the number of candidates, the candidates become members of the board effective upon the adjournment of the annual meeting. Unless the bylaws provide otherwise, any remaining vacancies shall be filled by the affirmative vote of the majority of the directors making up the newly constituted board even if the directors constitute less than a quorum or there is only one director. In a residential condominium association of more than 10 units or in a residential condominium association that does not include timeshare units or timeshare interests, coowners of a unit may not serve as members of the board of directors at the same time unless they own more than one unit or unless there are not enough eligible candidates to fill the vacancies on the board at the time of the vacancy. A unit owner in a residential condominium desiring to be a candidate for board membership must comply with sub-subparagraph 4.a. and must be eligible to be a candidate to serve on the board of directors at the time of the deadline for submitting a notice of intent to run in order to have his or her name listed as a proper candidate on the ballot or to serve on the board. A person who has been suspended or removed by the division under this chapter, or who is delinquent in the payment of any monetary obligation due to the association, is not eligible to be a candidate for board membership and may not be listed on the ballot. A person who has been convicted of any felony in this state or in a United States District or Territorial Court, or who has been convicted of any offense in another jurisdiction which would be considered a felony if committed in this state, is not eligible for board membership unless such felon's civil rights have been restored for at least 5 years as of the date such person seeks election to the board. The validity of an action by the board is not affected if it is later determined that a board member is ineligible for board membership due to having been convicted of a felony. This subparagraph does not limit the term of a member of the board of a nonresidential or timeshare condominium.

3. The bylaws must provide the method of calling meetings of unit owners, including annual meetings. Written notice must include an agenda, must be mailed, hand delivered, or electronically transmitted to each unit owner at least 14 days before the annual meeting, and must be posted in a conspicuous place on the condominium property at least 14 continuous days before the annual meeting. Upon notice to the unit owners, the board shall, by duly adopted rule, designate a specific location on the condominium property ~~or association property~~ where all notices of unit owner meetings must ~~shall~~ be posted. This requirement does not apply if there is no condominium property ~~or association property~~ for posting notices. In lieu of, or in addition to, the physical posting of meeting notices, the association may, by reasonable rule, adopt a procedure for conspicuously posting and repeatedly broadcasting the notice and the agenda on a closed-circuit cable television system serving the condominium association. However, if broadcast notice is used in lieu of a notice posted physically on the condominium property, the notice and agenda must be broadcast at least four times every broadcast hour of each day that a posted notice is otherwise required under this section. If broadcast notice is provided, the notice and agenda must be broadcast in a manner and for a sufficient continuous length of time so as to allow an average reader to observe the notice and read and comprehend the entire content of the notice and the agenda. In addition to any of the authorized means of providing notice of a meeting of the board, the association may, by rule, adopt a procedure for conspicuously posting the meeting notice and the agenda on a website serving the condominium association for at least the minimum period of time for which a notice of a meeting is also required to be physically posted on the condominium property.

Any rule adopted shall, in addition to other matters, include a requirement that the association send an electronic notice in the same manner as a notice for a meeting of the members, which must include a hyperlink to the website where the notice is posted, to unit owners whose e-mail addresses are included in the association's official records. Unless a unit owner waives in writing the right to receive notice of the annual meeting, such notice must be hand delivered, mailed, or electronically transmitted to each unit owner. Notice for meetings and notice for all other purposes must be mailed to each unit owner at the address last furnished to the association by the unit owner, or hand delivered to each unit owner. However, if a unit is owned by more than one person, the association must provide notice to the address that the developer identifies for that purpose and thereafter as one or more of the owners of the unit advise the association in writing, or if no address is given or the owners of the unit do not agree, to the address provided on the deed of record. An officer of the association, or the manager or other person providing notice of the association meeting, must provide an affidavit or United States Postal Service certificate of mailing, to be included in the official records of the association affirming that the notice was mailed or hand delivered in accordance with this provision.

4. The members of the board of a residential condominium shall be elected by written ballot or voting machine. Proxies may not be used in electing the board in general elections or elections to fill vacancies caused by recall, resignation, or otherwise, unless otherwise provided in this chapter. This subparagraph does not apply to an association governing a timeshare condominium.

a. At least 60 days before a scheduled election, the association shall mail, deliver, or electronically transmit, by separate association mailing or included in another association mailing, delivery, or transmission, including regularly published newsletters, to each unit owner entitled to a vote, a first notice of the date of the election. A unit owner or other eligible person desiring to be a candidate for the board must give written notice of his or her intent to be a candidate to the association at least 40 days before a scheduled election. Together with the written notice and agenda as set forth in subparagraph 3., the association shall mail, deliver, or electronically transmit a second notice of the election to all unit owners entitled to vote, together with a ballot that lists all candidates. Upon request of a candidate, an information sheet, no larger than 8 1/2 inches by 11 inches, which must be furnished by the candidate at least 35 days before the election, must be included with the mailing, delivery, or transmission of the ballot, with the costs of mailing, delivery, or electronic transmission and copying to be borne by the association. The association is not liable for the contents of the information sheets prepared by the candidates. In order to reduce costs, the association may print or duplicate the information sheets on both sides of the paper. The division shall by rule establish voting procedures consistent with this sub-subparagraph, including rules establishing procedures for giving notice by electronic transmission and rules providing for the secrecy of ballots. Elections shall be decided by a plurality of ballots cast. There is no quorum requirement; however, at least 20 percent of the eligible voters must cast a ballot in order to have a valid election. A unit owner may not authorize ~~permit~~ any other person to vote his or her ballot, and any ballots improperly cast are invalid. A unit owner who violates this provision may be fined by the association in accordance with s. 718.303. A unit owner who needs assistance in casting the ballot for the reasons stated in s. 101.051 may obtain such assistance. The regular election must occur on the date of the annual meeting. Notwithstanding this sub-subparagraph, an election is not required unless more candidates file notices of intent to run or are nominated than board vacancies exist.

b. Within 90 days after being elected or appointed to the board of an association of a residential condominium, each newly elected or appointed director shall certify in writing to the secretary of the association that he or she has read the association's declaration of condominium, articles of incorporation, bylaws, and current written policies; that he or she will work to uphold such documents and policies to the best of his or her ability; and that he or she will faithfully discharge his or her fiduciary responsibility to the association's members. In lieu of this written certification, within 90 days after being elected or appointed to the board, the newly elected or appointed director may submit a certificate of having satisfactorily completed the educational curriculum administered by a division-approved condominium education provider within 1 year before or 90 days after the date of election or appointment. The written certification or educational certificate is valid and does not have to be resubmitted as long as the director serves on the board without interruption. A director of an association of a residential condominium who fails to timely file the written certification or educational certificate is suspended from service on the board until he or she complies with this sub-subparagraph. The board may temporarily fill the vacancy during the period of suspension. The secretary shall cause the association to retain a director's written certification or educational certificate for inspection by the members for 5 years after a director's election or the duration of the director's uninterrupted tenure, whichever is longer. Failure to have such written certification or educational certificate on file does not affect the validity of any board action.

c. Any challenge to the election process must be commenced within 60 days after the election results are announced.

5. Any approval by unit owners called for by this chapter or the applicable declaration or bylaws, including, but not limited to, the approval requirement in s. 718.111(8), must be made at a duly noticed meeting of unit owners and is subject to all requirements of this chapter or the applicable condominium documents relating to unit owner decisionmaking, except that unit owners may take action by written agreement, without meetings, on matters for which action by written agreement without meetings is expressly allowed by the applicable bylaws or declaration or any law that provides for such action.

6. Unit owners may waive notice of specific meetings if allowed by the applicable bylaws or declaration or any law. Notice of meetings of the board of administration, unit owner meetings, except unit owner meetings called to recall board members under paragraph (j), and committee meetings may be given by electronic transmission to unit owners who consent to receive notice by electronic transmission. A unit owner who consents to receiving notices by electronic transmission is solely responsible for removing or bypassing filters that block receipt of mass emails sent to members on behalf of the association in the course of giving electronic notices.

7. Unit owners have the right to participate in meetings of unit owners with reference to all designated agenda items. However, the association may adopt reasonable rules governing the frequency, duration, and manner of unit owner participation.

8. A unit owner may tape record or videotape a meeting of the unit owners subject to reasonable rules adopted by the division.

9. Unless otherwise provided in the bylaws, any vacancy occurring on the board before the expiration of a term may be filled by the affirmative vote of the majority of the remaining directors, even if the remaining directors constitute less than a quorum, or by the sole remaining director. In the alternative, a board may hold an election to fill the vacancy, in which case the election procedures must conform to sub-subparagraph 4.a. unless the association governs 10 units or fewer and has opted out of the statutory election process, in which case the bylaws of the association control. Unless otherwise provided in the bylaws, a board member appointed or elected under this section shall fill the vacancy for the unexpired term of the seat being filled. Filling vacancies created by recall is governed by paragraph (j) and rules adopted by the division.

10. This chapter does not limit the use of general or limited proxies, require the use of general or limited proxies, or require the use of a written ballot or voting machine for any agenda item or election at any meeting of a timeshare condominium association or nonresidential condominium association.

Notwithstanding subparagraph (b)2. and sub-subparagraph 4.a., an association of 10 or fewer units may, by affirmative vote of a majority of the total voting interests, provide for different voting and election procedures in its bylaws, which may be by a proxy specifically delineating the different voting and election procedures. The different voting and election procedures may provide for elections to be conducted by limited or general proxy.

(j) Recall of board members.—Subject to s. 718.301, any member of the board of administration may be recalled and removed from office with or without cause by the vote or agreement in writing by a majority of all the voting interests. A special meeting of the unit owners to recall a member or members of the board of administration may be called by 10 percent of the voting interests giving notice of the meeting as required for a meeting of unit owners, and the notice shall state the purpose of the meeting. Electronic transmission may not be used as a method of giving notice of a meeting called in whole or in part for this purpose.

1. If the recall is approved by a majority of all voting interests by a vote at a meeting, the recall will be effective as provided in this paragraph. The board shall duly notice and hold a board meeting within 5 full business days after the adjournment of the unit owner meeting to recall one or more board members. Such member or members shall be recalled effective immediately upon conclusion of the board meeting provided that the recall is facially valid. A recalled member must ~~and shall~~ turn over to the board, within 10 full business days after the vote, any and all records and property of the association in their possession.

2. If the proposed recall is by an agreement in writing by a majority of all voting interests, the agreement in writing or a copy thereof shall be served on the association by certified mail or by personal service in the manner authorized by chapter 48 and the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure. The board of administration shall duly notice and hold a meeting of the board within 5 full business days after receipt of the agreement in writing. Such member or members shall be recalled effective immediately upon the conclusion of the board meeting provided that the recall is facially valid. A recalled member must ~~and shall~~ turn over to the board, within 10 full business days, any and all records and property of the association in their possession.

3. If the board fails to duly notice and hold a board meeting within 5 full business days after service of an agreement in writing or within 5 full business days after the adjournment of the unit owner recall meeting, the recall shall be deemed effective and the board members so recalled shall turn over to the board within 10 full business days after the vote any and all records and property of the association.

4. If the board fails to duly notice and hold the required meeting ~~or fails to file the required petition,~~ the unit owner representative may file a petition pursuant to s. 718.1255 challenging the board's failure to act. The petition must be filed within 60 days after the expiration of the applicable 5-full-business-day period. The review of a petition under this subparagraph is limited to the sufficiency of service on the board and the facial validity of the written agreement or ballots filed.

5. If a vacancy occurs on the board as a result of a recall or removal and less than a majority of the board members are removed, the vacancy may be filled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors, notwithstanding any provision to the contrary contained in this subsection. If vacancies occur on the board as a result of a recall and a majority or more of the board members are removed, the vacancies shall be filled in accordance with procedural rules to be adopted by the division, which rules need not be consistent with this subsection. The rules must provide procedures governing the conduct of the recall election as well as the operation of the association during the period after a recall but before the recall election.

6. A board member who has been recalled may file a petition pursuant to s. 718.1255 challenging the validity of the recall. The petition must be filed within 60 days after the recall. The association and the unit owner representative shall be named as the respondents. The petition may challenge the facial validity of the written agreement or ballots filed or the substantial compliance with the procedural requirements for the recall. If the arbitrator determines the recall was invalid, the petitioning board member shall immediately be reinstated and the recall is null and void. A board member who is successful in challenging a recall is entitled to recover reasonable attorney fees and costs from the respondents. The arbitrator may award reasonable attorney fees and costs to the respondents if they prevail, if the arbitrator makes a finding that the petitioner's claim is frivolous.

7. The division may not accept for filing a recall petition, whether filed pursuant to subparagraph 1., subparagraph 2., subparagraph 4., or subparagraph 6. when there are 60 or fewer days until the scheduled reelection of the board member sought to be recalled or when 60 or fewer days have elapsed since the election of the board member sought to be recalled.

Section 3. Subsection (2) of section 718.113, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

718.113 Maintenance; limitation upon improvement; display of flag; hurricane shutters and protection; display of religious decorations.—

(2)(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, there shall be no material alteration or substantial additions to the common elements or to real property which is association property, except in a manner provided in the declaration as originally recorded or as amended under the procedures provided therein. If the declaration as originally recorded or as amended under the procedures provided therein does not specify the procedure for approval of material alterations or substantial additions, 75 percent of the total voting interests of the association must approve the alterations or additions before the material alterations or substantial additions are commenced. This paragraph is intended to clarify existing law and applies to associations existing on July 1, 2018 ~~October 1, 2008~~.

(b) There shall not be any material alteration of, or substantial addition to, the common elements of any condominium operated by a multicondominium association unless approved in the manner provided in the declaration of the affected condominium or condominiums as originally recorded or as amended under the procedures provided therein. If a declaration as originally recorded or as amended under the procedures provided therein does not specify a procedure for approving such an alteration or addition, the approval of 75 percent of the total voting interests of each affected condominium is required before the material alterations or substantial additions are commenced. This subsection does not prohibit a provision in any declaration, articles of incorporation, or bylaws as originally recorded or as amended under the procedures provided therein requiring the approval of unit owners in any condominium operated by the same association or requiring board approval before a material alteration or substantial addition to the common elements is permitted. This paragraph is intended to clarify existing law and applies to associations existing on July 1, 2018 ~~the effective date of this act~~.

(c) There shall not be any material alteration or substantial addition made to association real property operated by a multicondominium association, except as provided in the declaration, articles of incorporation, or bylaws as originally recorded or as amended under the procedures provided therein. If the declaration, articles of incorporation, or bylaws as originally recorded or as amended under the procedures provided therein do not specify the procedure for approving an alteration or addition to association real property, the approval of 75 percent of the total voting interests of the association is required before the material alterations or substantial additions are commenced. This paragraph is intended to clarify existing law and applies to associations existing on July 1, 2018 ~~the effective date of this act~~.

Section 4. Subsection (3) of section 718.3026, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

718.3026 Contracts for products and services; in writing; bids; exceptions.—Associations with 10 or fewer units may opt out of the provisions of this section if two-thirds of the unit owners vote to do so, which opt-out may be accomplished by a proxy specifically setting forth the exception from this section.

~~(3) As to any contract or other transaction between an association and one or more of its directors or any other corporation, firm, association, or entity in which one or more of its directors are directors or officers or are financially interested:~~

~~(a) The association shall comply with the requirements of s. 617.0832.~~

~~(b) The disclosures required by s. 617.0832 shall be entered into the written minutes of the meeting.~~

~~(c) Approval of the contract or other transaction shall require an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the directors present.~~

~~(d) At the next regular or special meeting of the members, the existence of the contract or other transaction shall be disclosed to the members. Upon motion of any member, the contract or transaction shall be brought up for a vote and may be canceled by a majority vote of the members present. Should the members cancel the contract, the association shall only be liable for the reasonable value of goods and services provided up to the time of cancellation and shall not be liable for any termination fee, liquidated damages, or other form of penalty~~

~~for such cancellation.~~

Section 5. Section 718.3027, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

718.3027 Conflicts of interest.—

(1) Directors and officers of a board of an association that is not a timeshare condominium association, and the relatives of such directors and officers, must disclose to the board any activity that may reasonably be construed to be a conflict of interest. A rebuttable presumption of a conflict of interest exists if any of the following occurs without prior notice, as required in subsection (5) ~~(4)~~:

(a) A director or an officer, or a relative of a director or an officer, enters into a contract for goods or services with the association.

(b) A director or an officer, or a relative of a director or an officer, holds an interest in a corporation, limited liability corporation, partnership, limited liability partnership, or other business entity that conducts business with the association or proposes to enter into a contract or other transaction with the association.

(2) If a director or an officer, or a relative of a director or an officer, proposes to engage in an activity that is a conflict of interest, as described in subsection (1), the proposed activity must be listed on, and all contracts and transactional documents related to the proposed activity must be attached to, the meeting agenda. The association shall comply with the requirements of s. 617.0832, and the disclosures required by s. 617.0832 shall be entered into the written minutes of the meeting. Approval of the contract or other transaction requires an affirmative vote of two-thirds of all other directors present. At the next regular or special meeting of the members, the existence of the contract or other transaction shall be disclosed to the members. Upon motion of any member, the contract or transaction shall be brought up for a vote and may be canceled by a majority vote of the members present. If the contract is canceled, the association is only liable for the reasonable value of the goods and services provided up to the time of cancellation and is not liable for any termination fee, liquidated damages, or other form of penalty for such cancellation.

(3) If the board votes against the proposed activity, the director or officer, or the relative of the director or officer, must notify the board in writing of his or her intention not to pursue the proposed activity or to withdraw from office. If the board finds that an officer or a director has violated this subsection, the officer or director shall be deemed removed from office. The vacancy shall be filled according to general law.

(4) ~~(3)~~ A director or an officer, or a relative of a director or an officer, who is a party to, or has an interest in, an activity that is a possible conflict of interest, as described in subsection (1), may attend the meeting at which the activity is considered by the board and is authorized to make a presentation to the board regarding the activity. After the presentation, the director or officer, or the relative of the director or officer, must leave the meeting during the discussion of, and the vote on, the activity. A director or an officer who is a party to, or has an interest in, the activity must recuse himself or herself from the vote.

(5) ~~(4)~~ A contract entered into between a director or an officer, or a relative of a director or an officer, and the association, which is not a timeshare condominium association, that has not been properly disclosed as a conflict of interest or potential conflict of interest as required by s. 718.111(12)(g) is voidable and terminates upon the filing of a written notice terminating the contract with the board of directors which contains the consent of at least 20 percent of the voting interests of the association.

(6) ~~(5)~~ As used in this section, the term "relative" means a relative within the third degree of consanguinity by blood or marriage.

Section 6. Paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of section 718.303, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

718.303 Obligations of owners and occupants; remedies.—

(3) The association may levy reasonable fines for the failure of the owner of the unit or its occupant, licensee, or invitee to comply with any provision of the declaration, the association bylaws, or reasonable rules of the association. A fine may not become a lien against a unit. A fine may be levied by the board on the basis of each day of a continuing violation, with a single notice and opportunity for hearing before a committee as provided in paragraph (b). However, the fine may not exceed $100 per violation, or $1,000 in the aggregate.

(b) A fine or suspension levied by the board of administration may not be imposed unless the board first provides at least 14 days' written notice ~~and an opportunity for a hearing~~ to the unit owner and, if applicable, any ~~its~~ occupant, licensee, or invitee of the unit owner sought to be fined or suspended and an opportunity for a hearing~~. The hearing must be held~~ before a committee of at least three members appointed by the board who are not officers, directors, or employees of the association, or the spouse, parent, child, brother, or sister of an officer, director, or employee ~~other unit owners who are neither board members nor persons residing in a board member's household~~. The role of the committee is limited to determining whether to confirm or reject the fine or suspension levied by the board. If the committee does not approve ~~agree,~~ the proposed fine or suspension by majority vote, the fine or suspension may not be imposed. If the proposed fine or suspension is approved by the committee, the fine payment is due 5 days after the date of the committee meeting at which the fine is approved. The association must provide written notice of such fine or suspension by mail or hand delivery to the unit owner and, if applicable, to any tenant, licensee, or invitee of the unit owner.

Section 7. Section 718.707, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

718.707 Time limitation for classification as bulk assignee or bulk buyer.—A person acquiring condominium parcels may not be classified as a bulk assignee or bulk buyer unless the condominium parcels were acquired on or after July 1, 2010~~, but before July 1, 2018~~. The date of such acquisition shall be determined by the date of recording a deed or other instrument of conveyance for such parcels in the public records of the county in which the condominium is located, or by the date of issuing a certificate of title in a foreclosure proceeding with respect to such condominium parcels.

Section 8. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (2) of section 719.104, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

719.104 Cooperatives; access to units; records; financial reports; assessments; purchase of leases.—

(2) OFFICIAL RECORDS.—

(a) From the inception of the association, the association shall maintain a copy of each of the following, where applicable, which shall constitute the official records of the association:

2. A photocopy of the cooperative documents.

The association shall also maintain the e-mail ~~electronic mailing~~ addresses and the numbers designated by unit owners for receiving notice sent by electronic transmission of those unit owners consenting to receive notice by electronic transmission. The e-mail ~~electronic mailing~~ addresses and numbers provided by unit owners to receive notice by electronic transmission shall be removed from association records when consent to receive notice by electronic transmission is revoked. However, the association is not liable for an erroneous disclosure of the e-mail ~~electronic mail~~ address or the number for receiving electronic transmission of notices.

6. All current insurance policies of the association.

7. A current copy of any management agreement, lease, or other contract to which the association is a party or under which the association or the unit owners have an obligation or responsibility.

8. Bills of sale or transfer for all property owned by the association.

9. Accounting records for the association and separate accounting records for each unit it operates, according to good accounting practices. ~~All accounting records shall be maintained for a period of not less than 7 years.~~ The accounting records shall include, but not be limited to:

a. Accurate, itemized, and detailed records of all receipts and expenditures.

b. A current account and a monthly, bimonthly, or quarterly statement of the account for each unit designating the name of the unit owner, the due date and amount of each assessment, the amount paid upon the account, and the balance due.

12. A copy of the current question and answer sheet as described in s. 719.504.

13. All other written records of the association not specifically included in the foregoing which are related to the operation of the association.

(b) The official records of the association must be maintained within the state for at least 7 years. The records of the association shall be made available to a unit owner within 45 miles of the cooperative property or within the county in which the cooperative property is located within 10 ~~5~~ working days after receipt of written request by the board or its designee. This paragraph may be complied with by having a copy of the official records of the association available for inspection or copying on the cooperative property or the association may offer the option of making the records available to a unit owner electronically via the Internet or by allowing the records to be viewed in an electronic format on a computer screen and printed upon request. The association is not responsible for the use or misuse of the information provided to an association member or his or her authorized representative pursuant to the compliance requirements of this chapter unless the association has an affirmative duty not to disclose such information pursuant to this chapter.

Section 9. Paragraphs (a), (c), and (d) of subsection (1) of section 719.106, Florida Statutes, are amended, and paragraph (m) is added to that subsection, to read:

719.106 Bylaws; cooperative ownership.—

(1) MANDATORY PROVISIONS.—The bylaws or other cooperative documents shall provide for the following, and if they do not, they shall be deemed to include the following:

(a) Administration.—

1. The form of administration of the association shall be described, indicating the titles of the officers and board of administration and specifying the powers, duties, manner of selection and removal, and compensation, if any, of officers and board members. In the absence of such a provision, the board of administration shall be composed of five members, unless the cooperative ~~except in the case of cooperatives~~ has ~~having~~ five or fewer units.~~, in which case in not-for-profit corporations,~~ The board shall consist of not fewer than three members in cooperatives with five or fewer units that are not-for-profit corporations. In a residential cooperative association of more than 10 units, co-owners of a unit may not serve as members of the board of directors at the same time unless the co-owners own more than one unit or unless there are not enough eligible candidates to fill the vacancies on the board at the time of the vacancy. In the absence of provisions to the contrary, the board of administration shall have a president, a secretary, and a treasurer, who shall perform the duties of those offices customarily performed by officers of corporations. Unless prohibited in the bylaws, the board of administration may appoint other officers and grant them those duties it deems appropriate. Unless otherwise provided in the bylaws, the officers shall serve without compensation and at the pleasure of the board. Unless otherwise provided in the bylaws, the members of the board shall serve without compensation.

2. A person who has been suspended or removed by the division under this chapter, or who is delinquent in the payment of any monetary obligation due to the association, is not eligible to be a candidate for board membership and may not be listed on the ballot. A director or officer charged by information or indictment with a felony theft or embezzlement offense involving the association's funds or property is suspended from office. The board shall fill the vacancy according to general law until the end of the period of the suspension or the end of the director's term of office, whichever occurs first. However, if the charges are resolved without a finding of guilt or without acceptance of a plea of guilty or nolo contendere, the director or officer shall be reinstated for any remainder of his or her term of office. A member who has such criminal charges pending may not be appointed or elected to a position as a director or officer. A person who has been convicted of any felony in this state or in any United States District Court, or who has been convicted of any offense in another jurisdiction which would be considered a felony if committed in this state, is not eligible for board membership unless such felon's civil rights have been restored for at least 5 years as of the date such person seeks election to the board. The validity of an action by the board is not affected if it is later determined that a board member is ineligible for board membership due to having been convicted of a felony.

3. When a unit owner files a written inquiry by certified mail with the board of administration, the board shall respond in writing to the unit owner within 30 days of receipt of the inquiry. The board's response shall either give a substantive response to the inquirer, notify the inquirer that a legal opinion has been requested, or notify the inquirer that advice has been requested from the division. If the board requests advice from the division, the board shall, within 10 days of its receipt of the advice, provide in writing a substantive response to the inquirer. If a legal opinion is requested, the board shall, within 60 days after the receipt of the inquiry, provide in writing a substantive response to the inquirer. The failure to provide a substantive response to the inquirer as provided herein precludes the board from recovering attorney's fees and costs in any subsequent litigation, administrative proceeding, or arbitration arising out of the inquiry. The association may, through its board of administration, adopt reasonable rules and regulations regarding the frequency and manner of responding to the unit owners' inquiries, one of which may be that the association is obligated to respond to only one written inquiry per unit in any given 30-day period. In such case, any additional inquiry or inquiries must be responded to in the subsequent 30-day period, or periods, as applicable.

(c) Board of administration meetings.—Members of the board of administration may use e-mail as a means of communication but may not cast a vote on an association matter via e-mail. Meetings of the board of administration at which a quorum of the members is present shall be open to all unit owners. Any unit owner may tape record or videotape meetings of the board of administration. The right to attend such meetings includes the right to speak at such meetings with reference to all designated agenda items. The division shall adopt reasonable rules governing the tape recording and videotaping of the meeting. The association may adopt reasonable written rules governing the frequency, duration, and manner of unit owner statements. Adequate notice of all meetings shall be posted in a conspicuous place upon the cooperative property at least 48 continuous hours preceding the meeting, except in an emergency. Any item not included on the notice may be taken up on an emergency basis by at least a majority plus one of the members of the board. Such emergency action shall be noticed and ratified at the next regular meeting of the board. Notice of any meeting in which regular or special assessments against unit owners are to be considered must specifically state that assessments will be considered and provide the estimated cost and description of the purpose for such assessments. ~~However,~~ Written notice of any meeting at which nonemergency special assessments, or at which amendment to rules regarding unit use, will be considered shall be mailed, delivered, or electronically transmitted to the unit owners and posted conspicuously on the cooperative property not less than 14 days before the meeting. Evidence of compliance with this 14-day notice shall be made by an affidavit executed by the person providing the notice and filed among the official records of the association. Upon notice to the unit owners, the board shall by duly adopted rule designate a specific location on the cooperative property upon which all notices of board meetings shall be posted. In lieu of or in addition to the physical posting of notice of any meeting of the board of administration on the cooperative property, the association may, by reasonable rule, adopt a procedure for conspicuously posting and repeatedly broadcasting the notice and the agenda on a closed-circuit cable television system serving the cooperative association. However, if broadcast notice is used in lieu of a notice posted physically on the cooperative property, the notice and agenda must be broadcast at least four times every broadcast hour of each day that a posted notice is otherwise required under this section. When broadcast notice is provided, the notice and agenda must be broadcast in a manner and for a sufficient continuous length of time so as to allow an average reader to observe the notice and read and comprehend the entire content of the notice and the agenda. In addition to any of the authorized means of providing notice of a meeting of the board, the association may, by rule, adopt a procedure for conspicuously posting the meeting notice and the agenda on a website serving the cooperative association for at least the minimum period of time for which a notice of a meeting is also required to be physically posted on the cooperative property. Any rule adopted shall, in addition to other matters, include a requirement that the association send an electronic notice in the same manner as a notice for a meeting of the members, which must include a hyperlink to the website where the notice is posted, to unit owners whose e-mail addresses are included in the association's official records. ~~Notice of any meeting in which regular assessments against unit owners are to be considered for any reason shall specifically contain a statement that assessments will be considered and the nature of any such assessments.~~ Meetings of a committee to take final action on behalf of the board or to make recommendations to the board regarding the association budget are subject to the provisions of this paragraph. Meetings of a committee that does not take final action on behalf of the board or make recommendations to the board regarding the association budget are subject to the provisions of this section, unless those meetings are exempted from this section by the bylaws of the association. Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, the requirement that board meetings and committee meetings be open to the unit owners does not apply to board or committee meetings held for the purpose of discussing personnel matters or meetings between the board or a committee and the association's attorney, with respect to proposed or pending litigation, if the meeting is held for the purpose of seeking or rendering legal advice.

(d) Shareholder meetings.—There shall be an annual meeting of the shareholders. All members of the board of administration shall be elected at the annual meeting unless the bylaws provide for staggered election terms or for their election at another meeting. Any unit owner desiring to be a candidate for board membership must comply with subparagraph 1. The bylaws must provide the method for calling meetings, including annual meetings. Written notice, which must incorporate an identification of agenda items, shall be given to each unit owner at least 14 days before the annual meeting and posted in a conspicuous place on the cooperative property at least 14 continuous days preceding the annual meeting. Upon notice to the unit owners, the board must by duly adopted rule designate a specific location on the cooperative property upon which all notice of unit owner meetings are posted. In lieu of or in addition to the physical posting of the meeting notice, the association may, by reasonable rule, adopt a procedure for conspicuously posting and repeatedly broadcasting the notice and the agenda on a closed-circuit cable television system serving the cooperative association. However, if broadcast notice is used in lieu of a posted notice, the notice and agenda must be broadcast at least four times every broadcast hour of each day that a posted notice is otherwise required under this section. If broadcast notice is provided, the notice and agenda must be broadcast in a manner and for a sufficient continuous length of time to allow an average reader to observe the notice and read and comprehend the entire content of the notice and the agenda. In addition to any of the authorized means of providing notice of a meeting of the shareholders, the association may, by rule, adopt a procedure for conspicuously posting the meeting notice and the agenda on a website serving the cooperative association for at least the minimum period of time for which a notice of a meeting is also required to be physically posted on the cooperative property. Any rule adopted shall, in addition to other matters, include a requirement that the association send an electronic notice in the same manner as a notice for a meeting of the members, which must include a hyperlink to the website where the notice is posted, to unit owners whose e-mail addresses are included in the association's official records. Unless a unit owner waives in writing the right to receive notice of the annual meeting, the notice of the annual meeting must be sent by mail, hand delivered, or electronically transmitted to each unit owner. An officer of the association must provide an affidavit or United States Postal Service certificate of mailing, to be included in the official records of the association, affirming that notices of the association meeting were mailed, hand delivered, or electronically transmitted, in accordance with this provision, to each unit owner at the address last furnished to the association.

1. The board of administration shall be elected by written ballot or voting machine. A proxy may not be used in electing the board of administration in general elections or elections to fill vacancies caused by recall, resignation, or otherwise unless otherwise provided in this chapter.

a. At least 60 days before a scheduled election, the association shall mail, deliver, or transmit, whether by separate association mailing, delivery, or electronic transmission or included in another association mailing, delivery, or electronic transmission, including regularly published newsletters, to each unit owner entitled to vote, a first notice of the date of the election. Any unit owner or other eligible person desiring to be a candidate for the board of administration must give written notice to the association at least 40 days before a scheduled election. Together with the written notice and agenda as set forth in this section, the association shall mail, deliver, or electronically transmit a second notice of election to all unit owners entitled to vote, together with a ballot that lists all candidates. Upon request of a candidate, the association shall include an information sheet, no larger than 8 1/2 inches by 11 inches, which must be furnished by the candidate at least 35 days before the election, to be included with the mailing, delivery, or electronic transmission of the ballot, with the costs of mailing, delivery, or transmission and copying to be borne by the association. The association is not liable for the contents of the information sheets provided by the candidates. In order to reduce costs, the association may print or duplicate the information sheets on both sides of the paper. The division shall by rule establish voting procedures consistent with this subparagraph, including rules establishing procedures for giving notice by electronic transmission and rules providing for the secrecy of ballots. Elections shall be decided by a plurality of those ballots cast. There is no quorum requirement. However, at least 20 percent of the eligible voters must cast a ballot in order to have a valid election. A unit owner may not permit any other person to vote his or her ballot, and any such ballots improperly cast are invalid. A unit owner who needs assistance in casting the ballot for the reasons stated in s. 101.051 may obtain assistance in casting the ballot. Any unit owner violating this provision may be fined by the association in accordance with s. 719.303. The regular election must occur on the date of the annual meeting. This subparagraph does not apply to timeshare cooperatives. Notwithstanding this subparagraph, an election and balloting are not required unless more candidates file a notice of intent to run or are nominated than vacancies exist on the board. Any challenge to the election process must be commenced within 60 days after the election results are announced.

b. Within 90 days after being elected or appointed to the board, each new director shall certify in writing to the secretary of the association that he or she has read the association's bylaws, articles of incorporation, proprietary lease, and current written policies; that he or she will work to uphold such documents and policies to the best of his or her ability; and that he or she will faithfully discharge his or her fiduciary responsibility to the association's members. Within 90 days after being elected or appointed to the board, in lieu of this written certification, the newly elected or appointed director may submit a certificate of having satisfactorily completed the educational curriculum administered by an education provider as approved by the division pursuant to the requirements established in chapter 718 within 1 year before or 90 days after the date of election or appointment. The educational certificate is valid and does not have to be resubmitted as long as the director serves on the board without interruption. A director who fails to timely file the written certification or educational certificate is suspended from service on the board until he or she complies with this sub-subparagraph. The board may temporarily fill the vacancy during the period of suspension. The secretary of the association shall cause the association to retain a director's written certification or educational certificate for inspection by the members for 5 years after a director's election or the duration of the director's uninterrupted tenure, whichever is longer. Failure to have such written certification or educational certificate on file does not affect the validity of any board action.

2. Any approval by unit owners called for by this chapter, or the applicable cooperative documents, must be made at a duly noticed meeting of unit owners and is subject to this chapter or the applicable cooperative documents relating to unit owner decisionmaking, except that unit owners may take action by written agreement, without meetings, on matters for which action by written agreement without meetings is expressly allowed by the applicable cooperative documents or law which provides for the unit owner action.

3. Unit owners may waive notice of specific meetings if allowed by the applicable cooperative documents or law. Notice of meetings of the board of administration, shareholder meetings, except shareholder meetings called to recall board members under paragraph (f), and committee meetings may be given by electronic transmission to unit owners who consent to receive notice by electronic transmission. A unit owner who consents to receiving notices by electronic transmission is solely responsible for removing or bypassing filters that may block receipt of mass emails sent to members on behalf of the association in the course of giving electronic notices.

4. Unit owners have the right to participate in meetings of unit owners with reference to all designated agenda items. However, the association may adopt reasonable rules governing the frequency, duration, and manner of unit owner participation.

5. Any unit owner may tape record or videotape meetings of the unit owners subject to reasonable rules adopted by the division.

6. Unless otherwise provided in the bylaws, a vacancy occurring on the board before the expiration of a term may be filled by the affirmative vote of the majority of the remaining directors, even if the remaining directors constitute less than a quorum, or by the sole remaining director. In the alternative, a board may hold an election to fill the vacancy, in which case the election procedures must conform to the requirements of subparagraph 1. unless the association has opted out of the statutory election process, in which case the bylaws of the association control. Unless otherwise provided in the bylaws, a board member appointed or elected under this subparagraph shall fill the vacancy for the unexpired term of the seat being filled. Filling vacancies created by recall is governed by paragraph (f) and rules adopted by the division.

Notwithstanding subparagraphs (b)2. and (d)1., an association may, by the affirmative vote of a majority of the total voting interests, provide for a different voting and election procedure in its bylaws, which vote may be by a proxy specifically delineating the different voting and election procedures. The different voting and election procedures may provide for elections to be conducted by limited or general proxy.

(m) Director or officer delinquencies.—A director or officer more than 90 days delinquent in the payment of any monetary obligation due the association shall be deemed to have abandoned the office, creating a vacancy in the office to be filled according to law.

Section 10. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 719.107, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

719.107 Common expenses; assessment.—

(b) If so provided in the bylaws, the cost of communications services as defined in chapter 202, information services or Internet services ~~a master antenna television system or duly franchised cable television service~~ obtained pursuant to a bulk contract shall be deemed a common expense, and if not obtained pursuant to a bulk contract, such cost shall be considered common expense if it is designated as such in a written contract between the board of administration and the company providing the communications services as defined in chapter 202, information services or Internet services ~~master television antenna system or the cable television service~~. The contract shall be for a term of not less than 2 years.

1. Any contract made by the board after April 2, 1992, for a community antenna system or duly franchised cable television service, communications services as defined in chapter 202, information services or Internet services may be canceled by a majority of the voting interests present at the next regular or special meeting of the association. Any member may make a motion to cancel the contract, but if no motion is made or if such motion fails to obtain the required majority at the next regular or special meeting, whichever is sooner, following the making of the contract, then such contract shall be deemed ratified for the term therein expressed.

2. Any such contract shall provide, and shall be deemed to provide if not expressly set forth, that any hearing impaired or legally blind unit owner who does not occupy the unit with a nonhearing impaired or sighted person may discontinue the service without incurring disconnect fees, penalties, or subsequent service charges, and as to such units, the owners shall not be required to pay any common expenses charge related to such service. If less than all members of an association share the expenses of cable television, the expense shall be shared equally by all participating unit owners. The association may use the provisions of s. 719.108 to enforce payment of the shares of such costs by the unit owners receiving cable television.

Section 11. Paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of section 719.303, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

719.303 Obligations of owners.—

(3) The association may levy reasonable fines for failure of the unit owner or the unit's occupant, licensee, or invitee to comply with any provision of the cooperative documents or reasonable rules of the association. A fine may not become a lien against a unit. A fine may be levied by the board on the basis of each day of a continuing violation, with a single notice and opportunity for hearing before a committee as provided in paragraph (b). However, the fine may not exceed $100 per violation, or $1,000 in the aggregate.

(b) A fine or suspension levied by the board of administration may not be imposed unless the board first provides at least 14 days' written notice ~~and an opportunity for a hearing~~ to the unit owner and, if applicable, any ~~its~~ occupant, licensee, or invitee of the unit owner sought to be fined or suspended and an opportunity for a hearing~~. The hearing must be held~~ before a committee of at least three members appointed by the board who are not officers, directors, or employees of the association, or the spouse, parent, child, brother, or sister of an officer, director, or employee ~~other unit owners who are neither board members nor persons residing in a board member's household~~. The role of the committee is limited to determining whether to confirm or reject the fine or suspension levied by the board. If the committee does not approve ~~agree with~~ the proposed fine or suspension by majority vote, the fine or suspension ~~it~~ may not be imposed. If the proposed fine or suspension is approved by the committee, the fine payment is due 5 days after the date of the committee meeting at which the fine is approved. The association must provide written notice of such fine or suspension by mail or hand delivery to the unit owner and, if applicable, to any tenant, licensee, or invitee of the unit owner.

Section 12. Paragraphs (a) and (c) of subsection (2) of section 720.303, Florida Statutes, are amended, to read:

720.303 Association powers and duties; meetings of board; official records; budgets; financial reporting; association funds; recalls.—

(2) BOARD MEETINGS.—

(a) Members of the board of administration may use e-mail as a means of communication, but may not cast a vote on an association matter via e-mail. A meeting of the board of directors of an association occurs whenever a quorum of the board gathers to conduct association business. Meetings of the board must be open to all members, except for meetings between the board and its attorney with respect to proposed or pending litigation where the contents of the discussion would otherwise be governed by the attorney-client privilege. A meeting of the board must be held at a location that is accessible to a physically handicapped person if requested by a physically handicapped person who has a right to attend the meeting. The provisions of this subsection shall also apply to the meetings of any committee or other similar body when a final decision will be made regarding the expenditure of association funds and to meetings of any body vested with the power to approve or disapprove architectural decisions with respect to a specific parcel of residential property owned by a member of the community.

(c) The bylaws shall provide the following for giving notice to parcel owners and members of all board meetings and, if they do not do so, shall be deemed to include ~~provide~~ the following:

1. Notices of all board meetings must be posted in a conspicuous place in the community at least 48 hours in advance of a meeting, except in an emergency. In the alternative, if notice is not posted in a conspicuous place in the community, notice of each board meeting must be mailed or delivered to each member at least 7 days before the meeting, except in an emergency. Notwithstanding this general notice requirement, for communities with more than 100 members, the association bylaws may provide for a reasonable alternative to posting or mailing of notice for each board meeting, including publication of notice, provision of a schedule of board meetings, or the conspicuous posting and repeated broadcasting of the notice on a closed-circuit cable television system serving the homeowners' association. However, if broadcast notice is used in lieu of a notice posted physically in the community, the notice must be broadcast at least four times every broadcast hour of each day that a posted notice is otherwise required. When broadcast notice is provided, the notice and agenda must be broadcast in a manner and for a sufficient continuous length of time so as to allow an average reader to observe the notice and read and comprehend the entire content of the notice and the agenda. The association may provide notice by electronic transmission in a manner authorized by law for meetings of the board of directors, committee meetings requiring notice under this section, and annual and special meetings of the members to any member who has provided a facsimile number or e-mail address to the association to be used for such purposes; however, a member must consent in writing to receiving notice by electronic transmission.

2. An assessment may not be levied at a board meeting unless the notice of the meeting includes a statement that assessments will be considered and the nature of the assessments. Written notice of any meeting at which special assessments will be considered or at which amendments to rules regarding parcel use will be considered must be mailed, delivered, or electronically transmitted to the members and parcel owners and posted conspicuously on the property or broadcast on closed-circuit cable television not less than 14 days before the meeting.

3. Directors may not vote by proxy or by secret ballot at board meetings, except that secret ballots may be used in the election of officers. This subsection also applies to the meetings of any committee or other similar body, when a final decision will be made regarding the expenditure of association funds, and to any body vested with the power to approve or disapprove architectural decisions with respect to a specific parcel of residential property owned by a member of the community.

Section 13. Paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of section 720.305, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

720.305 Obligations of members; remedies at law or in equity; levy of fines and suspension of use rights.—

(2) The association may levy reasonable fines. A fine may not exceed $100 per violation against any member or any member's tenant, guest, or invitee for the failure of the owner of the parcel or its occupant, licensee, or invitee to comply with any provision of the declaration, the association bylaws, or reasonable rules of the association unless otherwise provided in the governing documents. A fine may be levied by the board for each day of a continuing violation, with a single notice and opportunity for hearing, except that the fine may not exceed $1,000 in the aggregate unless otherwise provided in the governing documents. A fine of less than $1,000 may not become a lien against a parcel. In any action to recover a fine, the prevailing party is entitled to reasonable attorney fees and costs from the nonprevailing party as determined by the court.

(b) A fine or suspension levied ~~may not be imposed~~ by the board of administration may not be imposed unless the board first provides ~~without~~ at least 14 days' notice to the parcel owner and, if applicable, any occupant, licensee, or invitee of the parcel owner, ~~person~~ sought to be fined or suspended and an opportunity for a hearing before a committee of at least three members appointed by the board who are not officers, directors, or employees of the association, or the spouse, parent, child, brother, or sister of an officer, director, or employee. If the committee, by majority vote, does not approve a proposed fine or suspension, the proposed fine or suspension ~~it~~ may not be imposed. The role of the committee is limited to determining whether to confirm or reject the fine or suspension levied by the board. If the proposed ~~board of administration imposes a~~ fine or suspension levied by the board is approved by the committee, the fine payment is due 5 days after the date of the committee meeting at which the fine is approved. The association must provide written notice of such fine or suspension by mail or hand delivery to the parcel owner and, if applicable, to any tenant, licensee, or invitee of the parcel owner.

Section 14. Paragraph (a) of subsection (9) of section 720.306, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

720.306 Meetings of members; voting and election procedures; amendments.—

(9) ELECTIONS AND BOARD VACANCIES.—

(a) Elections of directors must be conducted in accordance with the procedures set forth in the governing documents of the association. Except as provided in paragraph (b), all members of the association are eligible to serve on the board of directors, and a member may nominate himself or herself as a candidate for the board at a meeting where the election is to be held; provided, however, that if the election process allows candidates to be nominated in advance of the meeting, the association is not required to allow nominations at the meeting. An election is not required unless more candidates are nominated than vacancies exist. If an election is not required because there are either an equal number or fewer qualified candidates than vacancies exist, and if nominations from the floor are not required pursuant to this section or the bylaws, write-in nominations are not permitted and such qualified candidates shall commence service on the board of directors, regardless of whether a quorum is attained at the annual meeting. Except as otherwise provided in the governing documents, boards of directors must be elected by a plurality of the votes cast by eligible voters. Any challenge to the election process must be commenced within 60 days after the election results are announced.

Section 15. Paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of section 720.3085, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

720.3085 Payment for assessments; lien claims.—

(3) Assessments and installments on assessments that are not paid when due bear interest from the due date until paid at the rate provided in the declaration of covenants or the bylaws of the association, which rate may not exceed the rate allowed by law. If no rate is provided in the declaration or bylaws, interest accrues at the rate of 18 percent per year.

(b) Any payment received by an association and accepted shall be applied first to any interest accrued, then to any administrative late fee, then to any costs and reasonable attorney fees incurred in collection, and then to the delinquent assessment. This paragraph applies notwithstanding any restrictive endorsement, designation, or instruction placed on or accompanying a payment. A late fee is not subject to the provisions of chapter 687 and is not a fine. The foregoing is applicable notwithstanding s. 673.3111, any purported accord and satisfaction, or any restrictive endorsement, designation, or instruction placed on or accompanying a payment. The preceding sentence is intended to clarify existing law.

Section 16. This act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

Summaries of bids for materials, equipment, or services which exceed $500 must be maintained on the website for 1 year. In lieu of summaries, complete copies of the bids may be posted.

k. The notice of any unit owner meeting and the agenda for the meeting, as required by s. 718.112(2)(d)3., no later than 14 days before the meeting. The notice must be posted in plain view on the front page of the website, or on a separate subpage of the website labeled "Notices" which is conspicuously visible and linked from the front page. The association must also post on its website any document to be considered and voted on by the owners during the meeting or any document listed on the agenda at least 7 days before the meeting at which the document or the information within the document will be considered.

1. Notice of any board meeting, the agenda, and any other document required for the meeting as required by s. 718.112(2)(c), which must be posted no later than the date required for notice pursuant to s. 718.112(2)(c).

3. The association shall ensure that the information and records described in paragraph (c), which are not allowed ~~permitted~~ to be accessible to unit owners, are not posted on the association's website. If protected information or information restricted from being accessible to unit owners is included in documents that are required to be posted on the association's website, the association shall ensure the information is redacted before posting the documents online. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the association or its agent is not liable for disclosing information that is protected or restricted pursuant to this paragraph unless such disclosure was made with a knowing or intentional disregard of the protected or restricted nature of such information.

4. The failure of the association to post information required under subparagraph 2. is not in and of itself sufficient to invalidate any action or decision of the association's board or its committees.

(13) FINANCIAL REPORTING.—Within 90 days after the end of the fiscal year, or annually on a date provided in the bylaws, the association shall prepare and complete, or contract for the preparation and completion of, a financial report for the preceding fiscal year. Within 21 days after the final financial report is completed by the association or received from the third party, but not later than 120 days after the end of the fiscal year or other date as provided in the bylaws, the association shall mail to each unit owner at the address last furnished to the association by the unit owner, or hand deliver to each unit owner, a copy of the most recent financial report or a notice that a copy of the most recent financial report will be mailed or hand delivered to the unit owner, without charge, within 5 business days after receipt of a written request from the unit owner. The division shall adopt rules setting forth uniform accounting principles and standards to be used by all associations and addressing the financial reporting requirements for multicondominium associations. The rules must include, but not be limited to, standards for presenting a summary of association reserves, including a good faith estimate disclosing the annual amount of reserve funds that would be necessary for the association to fully fund reserves for each reserve item based on the straight-line accounting method. This disclosure is not applicable to reserves funded via the pooling method. In adopting such rules, the division shall consider the number of members and annual revenues of an association. Financial reports shall be prepared as follows:

(e) A unit owner may provide written notice to the division of the association's failure to mail or hand deliver him or her a copy of the most recent financial report within 5 business days after he or she submitted a written request to the association for a copy of such report. If the division determines that the association failed to mail or hand deliver a copy of the most recent financial report to the unit owner, the division shall provide written notice to the association that the association must mail or hand deliver a copy of the most recent financial report to the unit owner and the division within 5 business days after it receives such notice from the division. An association that fails to comply with the division's request may not waive the financial reporting requirement provided in paragraph (d) for the fiscal year in which the unit owner's request was made and the following fiscal year. A financial report received by the division pursuant to this paragraph shall be maintained, and the division shall provide a copy of such report to an association member upon his or her request.

Section 2. Paragraphs (a), (c), (d), and (j) of subsection (2) of section 718.112, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

718.112 Bylaws.—

(2) REQUIRED PROVISIONS.—The bylaws shall provide for the following and, if they do not do so, shall be deemed to include the following:

(a) Administration.—

1. The form of administration of the association shall be described indicating the title of the officers and board of administration and specifying the powers, duties, manner of selection and removal, and compensation, if any, of officers and boards. In the absence of such a provision, the board of administration shall be composed of five members, unless the ~~except in the case of a~~ condominium ~~which~~ has five or fewer units. The board shall consist of not fewer than three members in condominiums with five or fewer units that are not-for-profit corporations~~, in which case in a not-for-profit corporation the board shall consist of not fewer than three members~~. In the absence of provisions to the contrary in the bylaws, the board of administration shall have a president, a secretary, and a treasurer, who shall perform the duties of such officers customarily performed by officers of corporations. Unless prohibited in the bylaws, the board of administration may appoint other officers and grant them the duties it deems appropriate. Unless otherwise provided in the bylaws, the officers shall serve without compensation and at the pleasure of the board of administration. Unless otherwise provided in the bylaws, the members of the board shall serve without compensation.

2. When a unit owner of a residential condominium files a written inquiry by certified mail with the board of administration, the board shall respond in writing to the unit owner within 30 days after receipt of the inquiry. The board's response shall either give a substantive response to the inquirer, notify the inquirer that a legal opinion has been requested, or notify the inquirer that advice has been requested from the division. If the board requests advice from the division, the board shall, within 10 days after its receipt of the advice, provide in writing a substantive response to the inquirer. If a legal opinion is requested, the board shall, within 60 days after the receipt of the inquiry, provide in writing a substantive response to the inquiry. The failure to provide a substantive response to the inquiry as provided herein precludes the board from recovering attorney fees and costs in any subsequent litigation, administrative proceeding, or arbitration arising out of the inquiry. The association may through its board of administration adopt reasonable rules and regulations regarding the frequency and manner of responding to unit owner inquiries, one of which may be that the association is only obligated to respond to one written inquiry per unit in any given 30-day period. In such a case, any additional inquiry or inquiries must be responded to in the subsequent 30-day period, or periods, as applicable.

(c) Board of administration meetings.—Meetings of the board of administration at which a quorum of the members is present are open to all unit owners. Members of the board of administration may use e-mail as a means of communication but may not cast a vote on an association matter via e-mail. A unit owner may tape record or videotape the meetings. The right to attend such meetings includes the right to speak at such meetings with reference to all designated agenda items. The division shall adopt reasonable rules governing the tape recording and videotaping of the meeting. The association may adopt written reasonable rules governing the frequency, duration, and manner of unit owner statements.

1. Adequate notice of all board meetings, which must specifically identify all agenda items, must be posted conspicuously on the condominium property at least 48 continuous hours before the meeting except in an emergency. If 20 percent of the voting interests petition the board to address an item of business, the board, within 60 days after receipt of the petition, shall place the item on the agenda at its next regular board meeting or at a special meeting called for that purpose. An item not included on the notice may be taken up on an emergency basis by a vote of at least a majority plus one of the board members. Such emergency action must be noticed and ratified at the next regular board meeting. ~~However,~~ Written notice of a meeting at which a nonemergency special assessment or an amendment to rules regarding unit use will be considered must be mailed, delivered, or electronically transmitted to the unit owners and posted conspicuously on the condominium property at least 14 days before the meeting. Evidence of compliance with this 14-day notice requirement must be made by an affidavit executed by the person providing the notice and filed with the official records of the association. Notice of any meeting in which regular or special assessments against unit owners are to be considered must specifically state that assessments will be considered and provide the estimated cost and description of the purposes for such assessments. Upon notice to the unit owners, the board shall, by duly adopted rule, designate a specific location on the condominium ~~or association~~ property where all notices of board meetings must be posted. If there is no condominium property ~~or association property~~ where notices can be posted, notices shall be mailed, delivered, or electronically transmitted to each unit owner at least 14 days before the meeting. In lieu of or in addition to the physical posting of the notice on the condominium property, the association may, by reasonable rule, adopt a procedure for conspicuously posting and repeatedly broadcasting the notice and the agenda on a closed-circuit cable television system serving the condominium association. However, if broadcast notice is used in lieu of a notice physically posted on condominium property, the notice and agenda must be broadcast at least four times every broadcast hour of each day that a posted notice is otherwise required under this section. If broadcast notice is provided, the notice and agenda must be broadcast in a manner and for a sufficient continuous length of time so as to allow an average reader to observe the notice and read and comprehend the entire content of the notice and the agenda. In addition to any of the authorized means of providing notice of a meeting of the board, the association may, by rule, adopt a procedure for conspicuously posting the meeting notice and the agenda on a website serving the condominium association for at least the minimum period of time for which a notice of a meeting is also required to be physically posted on the condominium property. Any rule adopted shall, in addition to other matters, include a requirement that the association send an electronic notice in the same manner as a notice for a meeting of the members, which must include a hyperlink to the website where the notice is posted, to unit owners whose e-mail addresses are included in the association's official records. ~~Notice of any meeting in which regular or special assessments against unit owners are to be considered must specifically state that assessments will be considered and provide the nature, estimated cost, and description of the purposes for such assessments.~~

2. Meetings of a committee to take final action on behalf of the board or make recommendations to the board regarding the association budget are subject to this paragraph. Meetings of a committee that does not take final action on behalf of the board or make recommendations to the board regarding the association budget are subject to this section, unless those meetings are exempted from this section by the bylaws of the association.

3. Notwithstanding any other law, the requirement that board meetings and committee meetings be open to the unit owners does not apply to:

a. Meetings between the board or a committee and the association's attorney, with respect to proposed or pending litigation, if the meeting is held for the purpose of seeking or rendering legal advice; or

b. Board meetings held for the purpose of discussing personnel matters.

(d) Unit owner meetings.—

1. An annual meeting of the unit owners must ~~shall~~ be held at the location provided in the association bylaws and, if the bylaws are silent as to the location, the meeting must ~~shall~~ be held within 45 miles of the condominium property. However, such distance requirement does not apply to an association governing a timeshare condominium.

2. Unless the bylaws provide otherwise, a vacancy on the board caused by the expiration of a director's term must ~~shall~~ be filled by electing a new board member, and the election must be by secret ballot. An election is not required if the number of vacancies equals or exceeds the number of candidates. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "candidate" means an eligible person who has timely submitted the written notice, as described in sub-subparagraph 4.a., of his or her intention to become a candidate. Except in a timeshare or nonresidential condominium, or if the staggered term of a board member does not expire until a later annual meeting, or if all members' terms would otherwise expire but there are no candidates, the terms of all board members expire at the annual meeting, and such members may stand for reelection unless prohibited by the bylaws. Board members may serve ~~2-year~~ terms longer than one year if permitted by the bylaws or articles of incorporation. A board member may not serve more than eight consecutive years ~~four consecutive 2-year terms~~, unless approved by an affirmative vote of unit owners representing two-thirds of all votes cast in the election ~~the total voting interests of the association~~ or unless there are not enough eligible candidates to fill the vacancies on the board at the time of the vacancy. If the number of board members whose terms expire at

Current law governing the collection, storage and disposition of abandoned or lost tangible personal property located on public property sets forth procedures for persons and law enforcement to follow in order to locate the rightful owner. The law provides exceptions for personal property lost within certain facilities such as institutions of higher learning and public airports.

CS/HB 851 adds theme parks, entertainment complexes, zoos, museums, aquariums, public food service establishments, and public lodging establishments to the list of facilities that are exempt from the existing collection, storage and disposition guidelines if the operators comply with the proposed alternative disposition guidelines. Exempt facilities will hold their own found property for 30 days and if such property is unclaimed after 30 days, the property may be either disposed or donated to charity.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local government.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2018.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Chapter 705, F.S., governs the collection, storage and disposition of abandoned or lost tangible personal property located on public property. When a person finds lost or abandoned property they are required to report the finding to a law enforcement officer.[1] The officer must allow the finder of the property an opportunity to make a claim to recover the property if the rightful owner is not identified or located.[2] If a claim is made, current law directs the title of the unclaimed property to vest in the finder of the property after a 90-day custodial time period.[3] If a claim is not made, the title of the unclaimed property may vest in the law enforcement officer or agency, so long as specified notice requirements are met.[4] Failure to report a finding of lost or abandoned property to law enforcement is considered theft.[5]

The collection, storage and disposition provisions do not apply to the State University System or a public-use international airport.[6] The law provides separate disposal requirements for property found on the premises of the State University System,[7] Florida College System,[8] or public-use airports.[9] In addition, the law sets forth a procedure for handling the abandonment of animals by their owner.[10]

Effect of Proposed Changes

CS/HB 851 adds additional exceptions and disposition guidelines to the law governing the collection, storage and disposition of abandoned or lost tangible personal property. These guidelines are voluntary and contingent upon an election of compliance by the operator of the facility. The bill exempts the following facilities if the operator elects to comply with the proposed guidelines:

- Premises located within a theme park or entertainment complex, as the term is defined in s. 509.013(9), F.S.;[11]
- Premises operated as a zoo, a museum, or an aquarium; and
- Premises of a public food service establishment or public lodging establishment licensed under part I of ch. 509, F.S.

The voluntary alternative disposition guidelines for these additional facilities requires persons controlling any premises located within the facility to deliver the lost or abandoned property to the facility operator, who must take charge of the property and make a record of the date it was found. If the property is not claimed by the owner within 30 days after it is found, or a longer period of time as deemed appropriate by the facility operator, the facility operator is required to dispose of the property or donate it to a charitable institution that is exempt from federal income tax under s. 501(c)(3) of the

IV. AMENDMENTS/ COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES

On January 23, 2018, the Agriculture & Property Rights Subcommittee adopted one amendment to HB 851 and reported the bill favorably as a committee substitute. The amendment includes public food service establishments and public lodging establishments to the list of facilities that may opt out of the provisions under ss. 705.101-106, F.S., relating to lost or abandoned property.

This analysis is drafted to the CS as reported favorably by the Agriculture & Property Rights Subcommittee.

If the property is not claimed by the owner within 30 days after it is found, or a longer period of time as may be deemed appropriate by the owner or operator of the premises, the owner or operator of the premises must dispose of the property or donate it to a charitable institution that is exempt from federal income tax

The rightful owner of the property may reclaim the property at any time before the disposition, sale, or donation of the property in accordance with this section and the established policies and procedures of the owner or operator of the premises.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Florida Commission on Human Relations was established by the Legislature in 1969 and is charged with enforcing the state's civil rights laws, including the Florida Fair Housing Act (FFHA). Modeled upon the federal Fair Housing Act, the FFHA prohibits a person from refusing to sell or rent, or otherwise make unavailable a dwelling to any person because of race, color, national origin, sex, handicap, familial status, or religion. A person aggrieved by a discriminatory housing practice may file a complaint with the commission, and later pursue administrative or civil action if the Commission is unable to obtain the respondent's compliance with the FFHA.

The Commission is certified as a "substantially equivalent" agency by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and, through annual work share agreements, receives and investigates housing discrimination complaints referred by HUD which may have been filed under the federal Fair Housing Act. HUD provides funding to the Commission through the Fair Housing Assistance Program (FHAP) for processing complaints, training, technical assistance, and the creation and maintenance of data information systems.

Recent judicial decisions interpreting the FFHA have held that a person must first exhaust his or her administrative remedies before pursuing a civil action under the FFHA. A person aggrieved by housing discrimination may commence a civil action at any time under the federal Fair Housing Act, without regard to whether a complaint was filed with HUD or the status of any complaint. Due to this disparity, HUD currently maintains that FFHA, as interpreted by the courts, is not substantially equivalent to the federal Fair Housing Act.

This bill amends the FFHA to provide that a person aggrieved by a discriminatory housing practice is not required to exhaust his or her administrative remedies prior to bringing a civil action under the FFHA.

If passed, the bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state government. However, the state may lose federal grants of approximately $850,000 annually should the bill fail to pass. This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on local governments.

The bill is effective upon becoming a law.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

BACKGROUND

The Florida Commission on Human Relations (the Commission) was established by the Legislature in 1969 and is charged with enforcing the state's civil rights laws. The Commission investigates complaints of discrimination under the Florida Fair Housing Act of 1983, the Florida Civil Rights Act of 1992, and the Whistle-Blower's Act of 1999.

Florida Fair Housing Act

The Florida Fair Housing Act (FFHA) is modeled upon the federal Fair Housing Act.[1] The FFHA prohibits a person from refusing to sell or rent, or otherwise make unavailable a dwelling to any person because of race, color, national origin, sex, handicap, familial status, or religion.[2] In addition, protection is afforded to persons who are pregnant or in the process of becoming legal custodians of children 18 years of age or younger, or persons who are themselves handicapped or associated with a handicapped person.[3]

A person alleging discrimination under the FFHA has one year after the discriminatory housing practice to file a complaint with the Commission.[4] The Commission has 100 days after receiving the complaint to complete its investigation and issue a determination.[5] The Commission can also decide to resolve the complaint and eliminate or correct the alleged discriminatory housing practice through conciliation.[6] If, within 180 days after a complaint is filed, the Commission has been unable to obtain voluntary compliance, the complainant may initiate civil action or petition for an administrative determination.[7] If the Commission finds reasonable cause, the claimant may request that the Attorney General bring the civil action against the respondent.[8] A civil action must be commenced within two years after the alleged discriminatory act occurred.[9] The court may continue a civil case if conciliation efforts by the Commission or by a local housing agency are likely to result in a satisfactory settlement.[10] If the court finds that a discriminatory housing practice has occurred, the court must issue an order prohibiting the practice and providing affirmative relief.[11]

Remedies available under the FFHA include fines and actual and punitive damages.[12] The court may also award reasonable attorney's fees and costs to the Commission.[13]

Federal Fair Housing Act

Substantially Equivalent Agencies

The United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) administers and enforces the federal Fair Housing Act.[14] The federal Fair Housing Act recognizes that a state or local government may also enact laws or ordinances prohibiting unlawful housing discrimination.[15] HUD may certify a state or local government agency as "substantially equivalent" if HUD determines that the state or local law and the federal Fair Housing Act are substantially equivalent with respect to:[16]

- The substantive rights protected by such agency in the jurisdiction with respect to which certification is to be made;
- The procedures followed by such agency;
- The remedies available to such agency; and
- The availability of judicial review of such agency's action.

HUD has developed a two-step process of substantial equivalency certification. The first step considers the adequacy of the law, meaning that the law which the agency administers facially provides rights, procedures, remedies, and the availability of judicial review that are substantially equivalent to those provided in the federal Fair Housing Act.[17] A determination of the adequacy of a state or local fair housing law "on its face" is intended to focus on the meaning and intent of the text of the law, as distinguished from the effectiveness of its administration. Accordingly, this determination is not limited to an analysis of the literal text of the law. Regulations, directives, rules of procedure, judicial decisions, or interpretations of the law by competent authorities will be considered in making the determination.[18] The second step considers the adequacy of performance of the law, meaning that in operation the fair housing law provides rights, procedures, remedies, and the availability of judicial review that are substantially equivalent to those provided in the federal Fair Housing Act.[19]

If a housing discrimination complaint is filed with HUD under the Federal Fair Housing Act and the complaint falls with the jurisdiction of a "substantially equivalent" agency, HUD must refer the complaint to the local or state agency and may take no further action except under limited circumstances.[20]

The Commission, charged with enforcement of the FFHA which is modeled upon the federal Fair Housing Act, serves as the main, certified "substantially equivalent" HUD agency in Florida.[21] Through annual work-share agreements with HUD, the Commission, in its capacity as a substantially equivalent agency, accepts and investigates housing discrimination cases from HUD. Figure 1 illustrates the number of housing complaints investigated and closed by the Commission from 2010-2016. According to the Commission's Fiscal Year 2010-11 through Fiscal Year 2015-16 Annual Reports, housing complaints represented on average 15% of all complaints received by the Commission.[22]

Fair Housing Assistance Program

A "Substantially equivalent" agency is eligible for federal funding through the Fair Housing Assistance Program (FHAP).[23] FHAP permits HUD to reimburse state and local agencies for services that further the purposes of the federal Fair Housing Act. The financial assistance is designed to provide support for:[24]

- The processing of dual-filed complaints;
- Training under the Fair Housing Act and the agencies' fair housing law;
- The provision of technical assistance;
- The creation and maintenance of data and information systems;
- The development and enhancement of education and outreach projects, special enforcement efforts, partnership initiatives, and other fair housing projects.

The Commission is reimbursed by HUD for closing housing cases, through deposit from HUD into the Human Relations Commission Operating Trust Fund within the Commission as illustrated in Figure 2. Trust fund monies received from HUD in Fiscal Year 2016-17 totaled $847,280, an increase from the Fiscal Year 2015-16 total of $497,018.

Exhaustion of Administrative Remedies

A series of recent judicial decisions regarding the applicability of administrative remedies under the FFHA have threatened the Commission's status as a "substantially equivalent" HUD agency.

In 2004, the Fourth District Court of Appeal held in Belletete v. Halford, that an aggrieved person must first exhaust administrative remedies under the FFHA before commencing a civil action in court, citing the doctrine of exhaustion of administrative remedies.[25] The Court's holding was not based upon an analysis of the FFHA, which does not explicitly require exhaustion of administrative remedies. Rather, the court provided a cursory analysis of what it considered to be an analogous provision of the Florida Civil Rights Act. The Belletete holding has been criticized by the Florida Attorney General, and has been rejected by the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida.[26] Nevertheless, Florida state courts, both in and outside of the Fourth District Court of Appeal have continued to adopt the holding of Belletete, and dismiss claims brought under the FFHA where the plaintiff has not exhausted the administrative process.[27]

In ongoing discussions since 2008, HUD has informed the Commission that the judicial interpretation of FFHA in Belletete requiring the exhaustion of administrative remedies, "renders the Florida law fundamentally inconsistent with federal law." The Federal Fair Housing Act explicitly allows an aggrieved person to commence a civil action whether or not a complaint has been filed with HUD and without regard to the status of any such complaint.[28] Efforts to amend the FFHA during the 2012,[29] 2013,[30] 2014,[31] and 2016[32] legislative sessions were unsuccessful and courts continue to apply the Belletete rule in FFHA civil actions.

On July 2, 2015, HUD notified the Commission that HUD would suspend the Commission's participation in FHAP if the FFHA was not amended by January 25, 2016, to overcome the judicially-created requirement that a plaintiff exhaust their administrative remedies as a condition precedent to filing a housing discrimination claim under the FFHA.[33] In light of the legislative calendar, HUD agreed to extend the deadline to amend the FFHA until March 12, 2016.[34]

On March 16, 2016, HUD recognized pending litigation on this subject in the Third District Court of Appeal[35] and vowed to refrain from making any decision regarding suspension of the Commission's participation in FHAP during the pendency of the judicial proceedings.[36] In December 2016, The Third District Court of Appeal applied the Belletete rule and held that a plaintiff must exhaust all administrative remedies before commencing an action in civil court, determining that "[w]hether the [Florida Fair Housing Act] should be amended to conform precisely to the federal [Fair Housing Act] is a matter for the Legislature."[37]

EFFECT OF THE BILL

The bill amends the FFHA to provide that a person aggrieved by a discriminatory housing practice is not required to petition for an administrative hearing or exhaust his or her administrative remedies prior to bringing a civil action under the FFHA. On reconsideration, in which the Florida Attorney General intervened and argued that Belletete was wrongly decided, the court reversed itself and reinstated the FFHA claims. See, 2010 WL 427436 (S. injured by unlawful housing discrimination may file a civil action at any time under the FFHA regardless of whether a complaint has been filed with the Commission or the status of any such complaint.

The bill prohibits the filing of a civil action under the FFHA if the claimant and the respondent have entered into a conciliation agreement which has been approved by the Commission other than to enforce the terms of the agreement. Also, an aggrieved person may not file a civil action regarding a discriminatory housing practice once an administrative hearing has begun. These provisions are consistent with similar provisions under the federal Fair Housing Act.

The bill also makes conforming changes to s. 760.07, F.S.

The bill is effective upon becoming law.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

   None.

2. Expenditures:

   The Office of the State Courts Administrator indicates that the fiscal impact is indeterminate due to the unavailability of data needed to establish additional revenue expected from an increase in civil filings and increased expenditures due to additional workload.[38]

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

   None.

2. Expenditures:

   None.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

None.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

The Commission does not expect a fiscal or workload impact from the bill. While the Commission maintains that existing law allows a person aggrieved by a discriminatory housing practice to commence a civil action without first filing a complaint for an administrative remedy, the bill clarifies that individuals can bypass the investigation and conciliation process in order to better access Florida's court system.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 760.07, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

760.07 Remedies for unlawful discrimination.—Any violation of any Florida statute that makes ~~making~~ unlawful discrimination because of race, color, religion, gender, pregnancy, national origin, age, handicap, or marital status in the areas of education, employment, ~~housing,~~ or public accommodations gives rise to a cause of action for all relief and damages described in s. 760.11(5), unless greater damages are expressly provided for. If the statute prohibiting unlawful discrimination provides an administrative remedy, the action for equitable relief and damages provided for in this section may be initiated only after the plaintiff has exhausted his or her administrative remedy. The term "public accommodations" does not include lodge halls or other similar facilities of private organizations which are made available for public use occasionally or periodically. The right to trial by jury is preserved in any case in which the plaintiff is seeking actual or punitive damages.

Section 2. Subsections (2) and (4) of section 760.34, Florida Statutes, are amended, and subsections (5) and (6) of that section are republished, to read:

760.34 Enforcement.—

(2) Any person who files a complaint under subsection (1) must do so ~~be filed~~ within 1 year after the alleged discriminatory housing practice occurred. The complaint must be in writing and shall state the facts upon which the allegations of a discriminatory housing practice are based. A complaint may be reasonably and fairly amended at any time. A respondent may file an answer to the complaint against him or her and, with the leave of the commission, which shall be granted whenever it would be reasonable and fair to do so, may amend his or her answer at any time. Both the complaint and the answer must ~~shall~~ be verified.

(4) ~~If, within 180 days after a complaint is filed with the commission or within 180 days after expiration of any period of reference under subsection (3), the commission has been unable to obtain voluntary compliance with ss. 760.20-760.37,~~ The ~~person~~ aggrieved person may commence a civil action in any appropriate court against the respondent named in the complaint or petition for an administrative determination pursuant to s. 760.35 to enforce the rights granted or protected by ss. 760.20-760.37 and is not required to petition for an administrative hearing or exhaust administrative remedies before commencing such action. If, as a result of its investigation under subsection (1), the commission finds there is reasonable cause to believe that a discriminatory housing practice has occurred, at the request of the person aggrieved, the Attorney General may bring an action in the name of the state on behalf of the aggrieved person to enforce the provisions of ss. 760.20-760.37.

(5) In any proceeding brought pursuant to this section or s. 760.35, the burden of proof is on the complainant.

(6) Whenever an action filed in court pursuant to this section or s. 760.35 comes to trial, the commission shall immediately terminate all efforts to obtain voluntary compliance.

Section 3. Section 760.35, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

760.35 Civil actions and relief; administrative procedures.—

(1) An aggrieved person may commence a civil action ~~shall be commenced~~ no later than 2 years after an alleged discriminatory housing practice has occurred. However, the court shall continue a civil case brought pursuant to this section or s. 760.34 from time to time before bringing it to trial if the court believes that the conciliation efforts of the commission or local agency are likely to result in satisfactory settlement of the discriminatory housing practice complained of in the complaint made to the commission or to the local agency and which practice forms the basis for the action in court. Any sale, encumbrance, or rental consummated prior to the issuance of any court order issued under the authority of ss. 760.20-760.37 and involving a bona fide purchaser, encumbrancer, or tenant without actual notice of the existence of the filing of a complaint or civil action under the provisions of ss. 760.20-760.37 shall not be affected.

(2) An aggrieved person may commence a civil action under this section regardless of whether a complaint has been filed under s. 760.34(1) and regardless of the status of any such complaint. If the commission has obtained a conciliation agreement with the consent of an aggrieved person under s. 760.36, the aggrieved person may not file any action under this section regarding the alleged discriminatory housing practice that forms the basis for the complaint except for the purpose of enforcing the terms of such an agreement.

(3) An aggrieved person may not commence a civil action under this section regarding an alleged discriminatory housing practice if an administrative law judge has commenced a hearing on the record on the allegation.

(4) ~~(2)~~ If the court finds that a discriminatory housing practice has occurred, it shall issue an order prohibiting the practice and providing affirmative relief from the effects of the practice, including injunctive and other equitable relief, actual and punitive damages, and reasonable attorney ~~attorney's~~ fees and costs.

1. The commission may institute an administrative proceeding under chapter 120; or

2. The person aggrieved may request administrative relief under chapter 120 within 30 days after receiving notice that the commission has concluded its investigation under s. 760.34.

(b) Administrative hearings shall be conducted pursuant to ss. 120.569 and 120.57(1). The respondent must be served written notice by certified mail. If the administrative law judge finds that a discriminatory housing practice has occurred or is about to occur, he or she shall issue a recommended order to the commission prohibiting the practice and recommending affirmative relief from the effects of the practice, including quantifiable damages and reasonable attorney ~~attorney's~~ fees and costs. The commission may adopt, reject, or modify a recommended order only as provided under s. 120.57(1). Judgment for the amount of damages and costs assessed pursuant to a final order by the commission may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof and may be enforced as any other judgment.

(c) The district courts of appeal may, upon the filing of appropriate notices of appeal, review final orders of the commission pursuant to s. 120.68. Costs or fees may not be assessed against the commission in any appeal from a final order issued by the commission under this subsection. Unless specifically ordered by the court, the commencement of an appeal does not suspend or stay an order of the commission.

(d) This subsection does not prevent any other legal or administrative action provided by law.

Section 4. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The bill creates s. 1004.097, F.S, the "Campus Free Expression Act" (Act), which addresses the issue of free speech on Florida university and college campuses.

The bill defines the terms free speech zone, outdoor areas of campus, and public institutions of higher education. It clarifies that an individual or institution may not infringe upon the expressive rights of others, and an institution is prohibited from restricting expressive activities to a particular area of campus and designating free speech zones.

Protected activities include speeches and writings that an individual uses to communicate ideas to others. These include:

- Peaceful assembly.
- Peaceful protests.
- Speeches.
- Guest speakers.
- Distributing literature.
- Carrying signs.
- Circulating petitions.
- Video or audio recording in outdoor areas of campus.

Reasonable limits on expressive activities are permitted. However, students, faculty, or staff may not materially and substantially disrupt activities on campus. An institution may restrict expressive activities only if the restrictions are reasonable. The restrictions must be content-neutral on time, place, and manner of expression, and must be narrowly tailored to a significant institutional interest. All restrictions must be clear, published, and provide for ample alternative means of expression.

The bill empowers individuals and the Attorney General to defend free speech rights by creating a state cause of action. Remedies for violations include monetary damages, reasonable court costs, and attorney fees. A one-year statute of limitations is set.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2018.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Intellectual Diversity and Freedom of Expression

In 2013, the American Council of Trustees and Alumni (ACTA), with the James Madison Institute (JMI), produced a comprehensive report that reviewed state university policies in Florida relating to the right to free expression on campus.[1] The report found that, while Florida institutions have broad policy statements that declare the right to free expression on campus, they also have broad policies that punish "offensive" speech or restrict expression to designated "free speech zones."[2] The Foundation for Individual Rights in Education (FIRE) also conducted a review of the state of free speech on college campuses.[3] FIRE conducted a survey of the publicly available policies at 449 4-year postsecondary institutions (345 public and 104 private) and found that 39.6 percent of those institutions maintain severely restrictive speech codes that prohibit constitutionally protected speech.[4] FIRE rated colleges and universities as either "red light,"[5] "yellow light,"[6] or "green light"[7] based on the amount of restrictions their written policies place on protected speech. Over a 9-year period, the number of public postsecondary institutions that received a "red light" rating dropped from 79 percent to 33.9 percent.[8]

As of 2017, the only Florida public universities that have received a "green light" campus free speech rating are the University of Florida and the University of North Florida.[9]

In January 2015, the Committee on Freedom of Expression at the University of Chicago produced a free speech policy statement (referred to as the "Chicago Statement") that affirmed the centrality of unfettered debate to the university's mission.[10] Below is an excerpt from this statement:[11]

A "red light" institution is one that has at least one policy both clearly and substantially restricting freedom of speech, or that bars public access to its speech-related policies by requiring a university login and password for access. A "clear" restriction is one that unambiguously infringes on protected expression.

> Because the University is committed to free and open inquiry in all matters, it guarantees all members of the University community the broadest possible latitude to speak, write, listen, challenge, and learn. Except insofar as limitations on that freedom are necessary to the functioning of the University, the University of Chicago fully respects and supports the freedom of all members of the University community "to discuss any problem that presents itself."
> Of course, the ideas of different members of the University community will often and quite naturally conflict. But it is not the proper role of the University to attempt to shield individuals from ideas and opinions they find unwelcome, disagreeable, or even deeply offensive. Although the University greatly values civility, and although all members of the University community share in the responsibility for maintaining a climate of mutual respect, concerns about civility and mutual respect can never be used as a justification for closing off discussion of ideas, however offensive or disagreeable those ideas may be to some members of our community.

Several other postsecondary institutions have adopted some version of the "Chicago Statement" since 2015.[12]

US Constitutional Right to Free Speech

The First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution states that:

> Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.[13]

What Does Free Speech Mean?

The Supreme Court of the United States (SCOTUS) historically determines what exactly constitutes protected speech. The following are examples of speech, both direct (words) and symbolic (actions), that the SCOTUS has decided are, or are not, entitled to First Amendment protections.[14]

Freedom of speech includes the right:[15]

- Not to speak (specifically, the right not to salute the flag).[16]
- Of students to wear black armbands to school to protest a war ("Students do not shed their constitutional rights at the schoolhouse gate.").[17]
- To use certain offensive words and phrases to convey political messages.[18]
- To contribute money to political campaigns.[19]
- To advertise commercial products and professional services.[20]
- To engage in symbolic speech such as burning the American flag in protest.[21]

Freedom of speech does not include the right:[22]

- To incite actions that would harm others such as shouting 'fire' in a crowded theater."[23]
- To make or distribute obscene materials.[24]
- To burn draft cards as an anti-war protest.[25]

- Of students to make an obscene speech at a school-sponsored event.[27]
- Of students to advocate illegal drug use at a school-sponsored event.[28]

Free Speech at Higher Education Institutions

The SCOTUS stated that the "college classroom with its surrounding environs is peculiarly the 'marketplace of ideas.'"[29] If public universities stifle student speech and prevent the open exchange of ideas on campus "our civilization will stagnate and die."[30] In college classrooms young adults learn to exercise these constitutional rights necessary to participate in our system of government and to tolerate others' exercise of the same rights. There is "no room for the view that . . . First Amendment protections should apply with less force on college campuses than in the community at large . . . Quite to the contrary, the vigilant protection of constitutional freedoms is nowhere more vital than in the community of American schools."[31]

Effect of Proposed Changes

This bill creates the "Campus Free Expression Act" (Act), s. 1004.097, F.S, which addresses the issue of free speech on the campuses of public postsecondary institutions.

The Act defines the terms free speech zone, outdoor areas of campus, and public institutions of higher education as follows:

- Free speech zone is defined as a designated area on a public institution of higher education's campus for the purpose of political protesting.
- Outdoor areas of campus are defined generally as accessible areas of the campus where members of the campus community are commonly allowed, including grassy areas, walkways, or other similar common areas. The term does not include outdoor areas where access is restricted.
- Public institution of higher education (institution) is defined as any public technical center, state college, state university, law school, medical school, dental school, or other Florida College System institution as defined in s. 1000.21, F.S.

Free speech rights are protected by enforcing the right to peacefully protest or distribute literature on campus, and clarifying that an individual or institution may not infringe upon the expressive rights of others. Protected activities include speeches and writings that an individual uses to communicate ideas to others.

- Peaceful protests.
- Speeches.
- Guest speakers.
- Distributing literature.
- Carrying signs.
- Circulating petitions.
- Video or audio recording in outdoor areas of campus.

Reasonable limits on expressive activities are permitted; however, students, faculty, or staff may not materially disrupt activities on campus. An individual may exercise rights freely as long as his or her conduct is lawful and does not materially and substantially disrupt the functioning of the public institution of higher education.

Restrictions must be reasonable and content-neutral on time, place, and manner of expression. These restrictions must be narrowly tailored to a significant institutional interest. This clarifies the legal standard for courts to apply and ensures that regulations are truly necessary to prevent disruption. All restrictions must be clear, published, and provide for ample alternative means of expression. Additionally, institutions are prohibited from creating policies restricting expressive activities to a particular area of campus and designating free speech zones.

A state cause of action with a one-year statute of limitation is created. If an individual is prevented from speaking or writing, or is forced to do so in a free-speech zone, that individual or the Attorney General can file a lawsuit in state court. Remedies for violations include monetary damages, reasonable court costs, and attorneys' fees. However, the total compensatory damages available, excluding reasonable court costs and attorney fees, may not exceed $100,000. If there are multiple plaintiffs, the court divides the damages equally among the plaintiffs until the maximum award is exhausted. The court is required to award a minimum of $500, plus an additional $50 for each day the violation remains ongoing. The $50 per day starts the day after the Institution is properly served under the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure.

By allowing individuals to recover attorneys' fees, the bill ensures access to courts and makes it feasible for an individual to bring a case where significant, nonmonetary, constitutional rights are at stake.

(2) RIGHT TO FREE SPEECH ACTIVITIES.—

(a) Expressive activities protected under this section include, but are not limited to, any lawful verbal or written means by which an individual may communicate ideas to others, including all forms of peaceful assembly, protests, speeches, and guest speakers; distributing literature; carrying signs; circulating petitions; and the recording and publication, including Internet publication, of video or audio recorded in outdoor areas of campus of public institutions of higher education.

(b) A person who wishes to engage in an expressive activity in the outdoor areas of campus of a public institution of higher education may do so freely, spontaneously, and contemporaneously as long as the person's conduct is lawful and does not materially and substantially disrupt the functioning of the public institution of higher education.

(c) The outdoor areas of campus of a public institution of higher education that accept federal funding are considered traditional public forums. A public institution of higher education may create and enforce restrictions that are reasonable and content-neutral on time, place, and manner of expression and that are narrowly tailored to a significant institutional interest. Restrictions must be clear, published, and provide for ample alternative means of expression.

(d) A public institution of higher education may not designate any area of campus as a free speech zone or otherwise create policies restricting expressive activities to a particular area of campus.

(e) Students, faculty, or staff of a public institution of higher education may not materially disrupt previously scheduled or reserved activities on campus occurring at the same time.

(3) CAUSE OF ACTION; DAMAGES.—

(a) The Attorney General or a person whose expressive rights are violated by an action prohibited under this section may bring an action in a court of competent jurisdiction to recover compensatory damages, reasonable court costs, and attorney fees.

(b) If the court finds that a violation of this section occurred, the court shall award the aggrieved party a minimum of $500 for the initial violation plus an additional $50 for each day the violation remains ongoing starting the day after the date the complaint is served on the public institution of higher education.

(c) Excluding reasonable court costs and attorney fees, the total compensatory damages available to a plaintiff in a case arising from a single violation of this section may not exceed $100,000. If there are multiple plaintiffs, the court shall divide the damages equally among the plaintiffs until the maximum award is exhausted.

(4) STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS.—A person aggrieved by a violation of this section must bring suit no later than 1 year after the date the cause of action accrues. For the purpose of calculating the 1-year limitation period, each day that a violation of this section persists or each day that a policy in violation of this section remains in effect constitutes a new violation and, therefore, a new day that the cause of action accrues.

Section 3. This act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act (UFTA) provides a creditor with a means to reach assets a debtor has transferred to another person or entity. Florida adopted UFTA in 1987.

In 2014, the Uniform Law Commission amended UFTA for the first time since its creation in 1984. The amendments replaced UFTA with the Uniform Voidable Transactions Act (UVTA), which address issues with UFTA such as providing a choice of law provision, specifying the burden of proof on creditors and debtors in actions under the UVTA, and making clear that fraudulent intent is not required when seeking to set aside a transfer of property.

HB 979 adopts the Uniform Voidable Transaction Act to replace the UFTA. The bill provides that a creditor making a claim has the burden of proving the elements of their claim by a preponderance of the evidence. The bill removes the way partnerships are considered insolvent and instead subjects partnerships to the same solvency standard as other debtors. The bill adds a choice of law provision by providing a claim for relief is governed by the claims law of the jurisdiction in which the debtor is located when the transfer is made or the obligation is incurred. The bill also outlines how the UVTA applies to a business organization structured as a series organization, a form of business organization recognized in some other states.

The statute of limitations for filing an action to set aside a transfer or obligation is the later of 4 years from the transfer or obligation, or one year from when the transfer or obligation was or could have been discovered. The bill changes the one year provision to provide that it starts when the wrongful nature of the transfer or obligation was or could reasonably have been discovered.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2018.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act

According to the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, the Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act (UFTA) was enacted by 44 states, as well as the District of Columbia and the U.S. Virgin Islands.[1] Florida adopted the UFTA in 1987.[2] Chapter 726, F.S., the Florida Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act (FUFTA), gives a present or future creditor the ability to reach assets that a debtor has transferred to another person or entity if the transfer was made to shield the assets from being used to satisfy a debt to the creditor.

For present and future creditors, s. 726.105, F.S., provides that a transfer made or an obligation incurred by a debtor is fraudulent if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation:

- With actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud any creditor; or
- Without receiving reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation, and the debtor:
    - Engaged, or about to engage, in a business or a transaction for which the remaining assets of the debtor were unreasonably small in relation to the business or transaction; or
    - Intended to incur or believed that he or she would incur debts beyond his or her ability to pay as they became due.[3]

For present creditors only, a transfer made or an obligation incurred by a debtor is fraudulent if the debtor made the transfer or incurred the obligation without receiving reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer or obligation and the debtor was insolvent or became insolvent because of the transfer or obligation.[4]

The FUFTA provides a statutory remedy for creditors primarily through a "clawback" action in which a creditor may have a debtor's transfer or obligation voided and surrendered back to the creditor.[5] This remedy is subject to a 4-year statute of limitations.[6]

Uniform Voidable Transactions Act

In 2014, the Uniform Law Commission amended the Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act for the first time since its creation in 1984.[7] The Commission changed the name of UFTA to the Uniform Voidable Transaction Act (UVTA) to clarify its purpose and application. According to the Commission, fraud has never been a necessary element of a claim under UFTA and UFTA has always applied to the incurrence of obligations as well as transfers to property.[8] Additionally, UVTA makes the following changes:

- Adds a choice of law rule for claims governed by UVTA;
- Creates uniform rules allocating the burden of proof;

- Deletes the special definition of insolvency for partnerships; and
- Revises the defenses available to a transferee or obligee.[9]

UVTA has been enacted in 16 states and legislation has been introduced in 5 states in 2018.[10]

Effect of the Bill

HB 979 adopts UVTA in Florida and replaces FUFTA, and renames ch. 726, F.S., from "Fraudulent Transfers" to "Voidable Transactions." The bill amends s. 726.101, F.S., to be cited as the "Uniform Voidable Transactions Act," and removes the term "fraudulent" from ch. 726, F.S., and replaces it with "voidable." The bill further states that the 2014 official comments to the UVTA, adopted by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, are not part of ch. 726, F.S., and do not reflect the laws of the state.

Definitions

The bill amends s. 726.102, F.S, regarding definitions for ch. 726, F.S. The bill adds the following definitions:

- "Claims law" means a fraudulent conveyance, fraudulent transfer, or voidable transfer laws or other laws of similar effect.
- "Electronic" means technology having electrical, digital, magnetic, wireless, optical, electromagnetic, or similar capabilities.
- "Organization" means a person other than an individual.
- "Record" means information that is inscribed on a tangible medium or that is stored in an electronic or other medium and is retrievable in perceivable form.
- "Sign" means to execute or adopt a tangible symbol, or attach to or logically associate with the record an electronic symbol, sound, or process, with present intent to authenticate or adopt a record .

The bill also amends the definition of person to include limited partnership, business corporation, nonprofit business corporation, public corporation, limited liability company, limited cooperative association, unincorporated nonprofit association, common law business trust, statutory trust, and association joint venture.

Insolvency

Current law provides that a debtor is insolvent if the sum of the debtor's debts is greater than all of the debtor's assets.[11] A debtor who is generally not paying his or her debts as they become due is presumed to be insolvent.[12] FUFTA treats the calculation of insolvency for partnerships different than the way a person is calculated as being insolvent. A partnership is considered insolvent if the sum of the partnership's debts is greater than the aggregate, at fair valuation, of all of the partnership's assets and the sum of the excess of the value of each general partner's nonpartnership assets over the partner's nonpartnership debts.[13]

The bill amends s. 726.103, F.S, to remove the special definition of insolvency for partnerships and treats a partnership like a person. Thus, under the bill, a partnership is insolvent if, at a fair valuation, the sum of the partnership's debts is greater than the sum of the partnerships' assets. The bill limits the presumption of insolvency to provide where a debt is not being paid because of a dispute, that non-payment does not trigger a finding of insolvency. Additionally, the bill provides that the presumption of insolvency is placed on the debtor to prove he or she is not insolvent.

Burden of Proof

Section 726.105(1), F.S., provides that a creditor who is a victim of fraud may have some recourse against the recipient of a transfer from the debtor if the transfer was made with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud any creditor of the debtor, or if the transfer was made without receiving reasonably equivalent value in exchange for the transfer. In determining actual intent of the debtor, a court may consider a number of factors, including whether the value of the consideration received by the debtor was reasonably equivalent to the value of the asset transferred.[14] Section 726.106(1), F.S., provides a transfer by a debtor is per se fraudulent when the debtor made the transfer without receiving a reasonably equivalent value in exchange and the debtor was insolvent at the time or the transfer made the debtor insolvent.[15] Also, s. 726.106(2), F.S., provides a transfer made by a debtor is fraudulent as to a creditor if the transfer was made to an insider for an antecedent debt,[16] the debtor was insolvent at that time, and the insider had reasonable cause to believe that debtor was insolvent.

The bill amends ss. 726.105-.106, F.S., to provide that a creditor making a claim for relief under ss. 726.105 or 726.106, F.S., has the burden of proving the voidable transaction by a preponderance of the evidence.[17] Additionally, the bill provides that when a court considers the intent of the debtor under s. 726.105(1), F.S., the court may consider the value of the consideration received and the value by way of asset substitution to ensure conversion of assets alone is not seen as an attempt to defraud creditors.

Defenses

A creditor may obtain a judgment on a claim against a debtor and may, if the court so orders, levy execution on the asset transferred or its proceeds if such transfer is voidable pursuant to ch. 726, F.S.[18] However, s. 726.109, F.S., provides a number of defenses or protections to a transferee. For example, a transfer or obligation is not voidable against a person who took in good faith and for a reasonably equivalent value.[19] Additionally, a good faith transferee is entitled to a lien on or a right to retain any interest in the asset transferred.[20]

The bill provides recovery pursuant to a judgment of the asset transferred or its proceeds is available only against the first transferee of the asset and an immediate transferee and exempts good faith transferees and their immediate good faith transferees, from having judgments enforced against them.

Another defense provided in ch. 726, F.S., is that a transfer is not voidable if the transfer results from a termination of a lease upon default by the debtor when the termination is pursuant to the lease terms or by enforcement of a security interest in compliance with Article 9 of the Uniform Commercial Code.

The bill outlines who carries the burden of proving the defenses or right to attach judgments against transferees. Anyone seeking to invoke the defenses in s. 726.109, F.S., has the burden of proving the applicability of that defense. A creditor has the burden of proving applicability of judgments against a first transferee or an immediate transferee. A good faith transferee has the burden of proving they are a good faith transferee or a mediate good faith transferee. The standard of proof is a preponderance of the evidence.

Statute of Limitations

Section 726.110(1), F.S., provides a cause of action relating to a fraudulent transfer or obligation is barred unless brought within 4 years after the transfer was made or obligation was incurred or, if later, within 1 year after the transfer or obligation was discovered by claimant. The bill adds the element of discovery of the wrongful nature of the transfer or obligation to the 1 year statute of limitations that applies once the transfer is discovered.

Choice of Law

The bill creates s. 726.113, F.S., to provide that a claim for relief under ch. 726, F.S., is governed by the claims law of the jurisdiction in which the debtor is located when the transfer is made or the obligation is incurred. For purposes of determining a debtor's physical location, the bill provides:

- An individual debtor's physical location is at his or her principal residence;
- A debtor's physical location, if the debtor is an organization with only one place of business, is at the debtor's place of business; and
- A debtor's physical location, if the debtor is an organization and has more than one place of business, is at its chief executive office.

The bill provides this choice of law provision does not govern any claims between the parties arising outside of ch. 726, F.S. The bill also provides that if a foreign jurisdiction applies, it will not affect the debtor's entitlement to any protections under the debtor's homestead under the Florida Constitution.

Application to Series Organizations

A series organization is a business organization concept in which a limited partnership or a limited liability company may designate their separate assets in specific series.[21] Once designated, the creditors to an individual series may not look to the assets of another series, even if both series are owned by the same limited liability company or partnership.[22] In the context of limited partnerships, the series is intended to emulate the existence of multiple limited partnerships without creating separate entities.[23]

The bill creates s. 726.114, to outline how ch. 726, F.S., applies to a series organization. A series organization and each protected series organization is a separate person for purposes of ch. 726, F.S., even if for other purposes a protected series is not a person separate from the organization. The bill defines a series organization as an organization that, pursuant to the law under which it is organized, has the following characteristics:

- The organic record of the organization provides for creation by the organization of one or more protected series, however denominated, with respect to specified property of the organization, and for records to be maintained for each protected series that identify the property of, or associated with, the protected series.
- Debt incurred or existing with respect to the activities of, or property of or associated with, a particular protected series is enforceable against the property of or associated with the protected series only and not against the property of or associated with the organization or other protected series of the organization.

[22] For example, if an investor group wished to purchase a chain of thirty-five fast food restaurants, the investors can create a single limited liability company, isolate each restaurant into its own series, and divert creditors of one restaurant from reaching assets of other owned restaurants. [23] Id. at 354.

- Debt incurred or existing with respect to the activities or property of the organization is enforceable against the property of the organization only, and not against the property of or associated with a protected series of the organization.

The bill defines protected series as an arrangement, however denominated, created by a series organization that meets the requirements of a series organization. By enacting this application on series organizations even when Florida law does not contemplate a series organization, a Florida court may find a voidable transaction of a series organization organized in a state which has adopted series organization laws.

Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act

The Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act of 2000 (E-Sign Act) provides electronic signatures, contracts, and records with respect to a transaction are valid as a written document.[24] The E-Sign Act does not require contracts, records, or signatures in electronic form.[25] It also provides that if a statute requires a transaction to a consumer be made in writing, then the use of electronic record satisfies the requirement if the consumer consents or is informed of the right to have it in non-electronic form.[26] Additionally, the E-Sign Act does not apply to court orders, notice of cancellation of utility services, foreclosure or eviction, cancellation of health insurance, or a recall of a product.[27]

The bill provides ch. 726, F.S., modifies, limits, and supersedes the E-Sign Act but does not modify limit or supersede the portion of the Act regarding consumer disclosures, or authorize electronic delivery of any of the prohibited notices described in the E-Sign Act.

The effective date of the bill is July1, 2018.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Guardianship is a concept whereby a "guardian" acts for another, called a "ward," whom the law regards as incapable of managing his or her own affairs due to age or incapacity. The Office of Public and Professional Guardians (OPPG) oversees, investigates, and disciplines all public and professional guardians. Complaints against a guardian must be filed with OPPG.

A guardian must file with the court an initial guardianship report, an annual guardianship report, and an annual accounting of the ward's property. In addition to the duty to serve as the custodian of the guardianship files, the clerk reviews each initial and annual guardianship report to ensure that it contains required information about the ward. If the clerk believes further review is appropriate, the clerk may request and review records and documents that reasonably impact guardianship assets. A guardian or OPPG may disclose confidential information about a ward in limited circumstances.

HB 1187 identifies specific actions that the circuit court clerks may take when reviewing guardianship reports. Specifically, the bill permits the clerk to conduct audits and may cause the initial and annual guardianship reports to be audited, when the clerk has reason to believe further review is appropriate. If the clerk identifies an act of wrongdoing on the part of the guardian based on the audit, the bill prohibits the guardian from being paid or reimbursed using the ward's assets for any fees incurred in responding to the audit.

The bill requires the clerk to advise the court of the results of such audits. The bill states that the clerk's communication to the court regarding the clerk's duties to review and audit guardianship reports and accountings may not be considered an ex parte communication.

The bill provides that the clerk may disclose confidential information to the Department of Children and Families or law enforcement agencies "for other purposes," as provided by a court order. The bill authorizes a guardian to provide the confidential information to the court clerk or an investigator with OPPG for investigations that arise under a review of records and documents involving assets, the beginning inventory balance, and fees charged to the guardianship.

The bill allows a complaint against a guardian to be filed with either OPPG or its designee.

The bill does not have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2018.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Guardianship

Guardianship is a concept whereby a "guardian" acts for another, called a "ward," whom the law regards as incapable of managing his or her own affairs due to age or incapacity.[1] There are two main forms of guardianship: guardianship over the person or guardianship over the property, which may be limited or plenary.[2] A person serving as a public guardian is considered a professional guardian for purposes of regulation, education, and registration.[3] For adults, a guardianship may be established when a person has demonstrated that he or she is unable to manage his or her own affairs. If the adult is competent, this can be accomplished voluntarily. However, when an individual's mental competence is in question, an involuntary guardianship may be established through the adjudication of incompetence, which is determined by a court appointed examination committee.[4]

Fiduciary Relationship

The relationship between a guardian and his or her ward is a fiduciary one.[5] A fiduciary relationship exists between two persons when one of them is under a duty to act for or to give advice for the benefit of another upon matters within the scope of that relationship.[6] Section 744.362, F.S., imposes specific duties upon a guardian consistent with the basic duties of a fiduciary. As such, the guardian must act in the best interest of the ward and carry out his or her responsibilities in an informed and considered manner. Additionally, a guardian may not use the relationship with the ward for his or her private gain other than the remuneration for fees and expenses provided by law.[7]

Initial and Annual Guardianship Reports

Every guardian must file an initial report within 60 days after the letters of guardianship, which appoint the guardian, are signed and file an annual report with the court consisting of an annual accounting and/or an annual guardianship plan.[8]

Initial Guardianship Report

The initial guardianship plan continues in effect until amended or replaced by the approval of an annual guardianship plan; the restoration of capacity or death of the ward; or the ward, if a minor, reaches the age of 18 years.[9] The initial guardianship plan includes:[10]

- The provision of medical, mental, or personal care services for the welfare of the ward;
- The provision of social and personal services for the welfare of the ward;
- The place and kind of residential setting best suited for the needs of the ward;

- Any physical and mental examinations necessary to determine the ward's medical and mental health treatment needs.

Additionally, an initial guardianship plan for an incapacitated person must be based on the recommendations of the examining committee's examination, as incorporated into the order determining incapacity.[11]

Annual Guardianship Report and Accounting

The annual guardianship report of a guardian of the property must consist of an annual accounting, and the annual report of a guardian of the person must consist of an annual guardianship plan.[12] Unless the court requires filing on a calendar-year basis, each guardian of the person must file an annual guardianship plan with the court within 90 days after the last day of the anniversary month that the letters of guardianship were signed; the plan must cover the coming fiscal year, ending on the last day in such anniversary month.[13]

The annual accounting must include:[14]

- A full and correct account of the receipts and disbursements of all of the ward's property over which the guardian has control and a statement of the ward's property on hand at the end of the accounting period; and
- A copy of the annual or year-end statement of all of the ward's cash accounts from each of the institutions where the cash is deposited.

Additionally, the guardian must obtain and preserve a receipt, cancelled check, or other proof of payment for all expenditures and disbursements made on behalf of the ward, along with any substantiating papers, for three years after his or her discharge as a guardian.[15] The guardian is not required to file these documents with the court but must make them available for inspection and review as the court may order.[16]

Responsibilities of the Clerk of the Circuit Court

In addition to the duty to serve as the custodian of the guardianship files, the clerk reviews each initial and annual guardianship report to ensure that it contains required information about the ward.[17] The clerk must:[18]

- Within 30 days after the date of filing of the initial or annual report of the guardian of the person, complete his or her review of the report.
- Within 90 days after the filing of the verified inventory and accountings by a guardian of the property, the clerk shall audit the verified inventory and the accountings and advise the court of the results of the audit.
- Report to the court when a report is not timely filed.

If the clerk believes further review is appropriate, he or she may request and review records and documents that reasonably impact guardianship assets, including, but not limited to, the beginning inventory balance and any fees charged to the guardianship.[19] If a guardian does not produce records and documents to the clerk upon request, the clerk may request the court to enter an order compelling the guardian to produce the requested records and documents.[20]

The guardian must pay a fee to the clerk of the circuit court for its audit.[21] This fee is paid from the ward's estate, and is scaled based on the value of his or her estate. The maximum fees the clerk may charge are:[22]

- $20 for estates with a value of $25,000 or less;
- $85 for estates with a value of more than $25,000 up to and including $100,000;
- $170 for estates with a value of more than $100,000 up to and including $500,000; and
- $250 for estates with a value in excess of $500,000.

Office of the Public and Professional Guardians

The Legislature created the Statewide Public Guardianship Office in 1999 to provide oversight for all public guardians.[23] In 2016, the Legislature renamed the Statewide Public Guardianship Office within the Department of Elder Affairs (DOEA) as the Office of Public and Professional Guardians (OPPG) and expanded the OPPG's responsibilities.[24] The expansion of the Office's oversight of professional guardians followed reports of abuse and inappropriate behavior by professional guardians.[25] The OPPG now regulates professional guardians with certain disciplinary and enforcement powers.[26] Specifically, s. 744.2004, F.S., requires OPPG to review and, if determined legally sufficient, investigate any complaint that a professional guardian has violated the standards of practice established by OPPG.

OPPG has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the Clerks' Statewide Investigations Alliance[27] to conduct independent and objective investigations when OPPG refers complaints to them.[28] There are seven county clerk offices with units accredited to perform investigations of legally sufficient complaints regarding the conduct of professional guardians.[29] Since

Confidentiality of Guardianship Records

Typically, guardianship records are confidential; this includes initial, annual, and final guardianship reports, as well as any amendments thereto.[31] These reports and any court record relating to the settlement of a claim[32] on behalf of the ward are only subject to inspection by:[33]

- The court:
- The clerk or the clerk's representative:
- The guardian and the guardian's attorney:
- The guardian ad litem with regard to the settlement of the claim; and
- The ward, in certain circumstances, and the ward's attorney.

If anyone other than the statutorily identified individuals above wishes to inspect guardianship records, he or she must petition the court for access and show good cause as to why access should be granted.[34] Additionally, the court may direct disclosure of guardianship records in connection with a real property transaction or for such other purpose as the court allows.[35]

Disclosure of Confidential Information without Court Approval to Ombudsman Council Members

Without obtaining court approval, a guardian acting within the powers granted by the order appointing the guardian or an approved annual or amended guardianship report, may provide confidential information about a ward, such as medical or financial information, that is related to an investigation arising under part I of ch. 400, F.S., to a local or state ombudsman[36] council member conducting such an investigation.[37]

Confidentiality of Records Held by OPPG Related to Investigations

Any medical, financial, or mental health records or financial audits of guardianship records that are held by certain agencies must be provided to OPPG upon its request, if necessary to investigate a guardian as a result of a complaint filed with OPPG or for OPPG to fulfil its statutory duties.[38] All records held by OPPG relating to the medical, financial, or mental health of vulnerable adults,[39] persons with a developmental disability,[40] or persons with a mental illness,[41] are confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), F.S., and Article I, section 24(a) of the State Constitution.[42] Additionally, s. 744.2111, F.S., provides that the following are confidential and exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution, when held by DOEA in connection with a complaint filed and any subsequent investigation conducted by OPPG, unless the disclosure is required by court order:

- Personal identifying information of a complainant or ward;
- All personal health and financial records of a ward; and
- All photographs and video recordings.

Any confidential or exempt information provided to OPPG must continue to be held confidential or exempt as otherwise provided by law.[43] However, the confidentiality requirements in s. 744.2111, F.S. do not prevent DOEA or OPPG from disclosing the protected records to any law enforcement agency, any other regulatory agency in the performance of its official duties and responsibilities, or the clerk of circuit court when reviewing an initial or annual guardianship report.

Ex Parte Communications

An ex parte communication occurs when one party to a case communicates directly with the judge about something related to the factual or legal issues of the case without the other parties' knowledge.[44] Similarly, an ex parte proceeding is one that does not require one of the parties in the case to be present or respond to the motion; these proceedings are limited urgent matters where requiring notice would subject one party to irreparable harm, such as a request for a temporary restraining order. Ex parte communications are prohibited except in limited circumstances, because they remove the appearance of the court's impartiality in a proceeding and may prejudice a pending matter against the party not represented.[45]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Review of Guardianship Reports by the Clerk

HB 1187 identifies specific actions that the circuit court clerks may take when reviewing guardianship reports. Specifically, the bill permits the clerk to conduct audits and may cause the initial and annual guardianship reports to be audited, when the clerk has reason to believe further review is appropriate under s. 744.368(5), F.S. If the clerk finds an act of wrongdoing on the part of the guardian when he or she responds to the review or audit, any fees the guardian incurred in responding to the audit may not be paid or reimbursed using the ward's assets.

The bill requires the clerk to advise the court of the results of such audits. The bill states that the clerk's communication to the court regarding such audits may not be considered an ex parte communication.

The term does not include a developmental disability as defined in chapter 393, intoxication, or conditions manifested only by antisocial behavior or substance abuse.

Disclosure of Confidential Information

The bill allows the clerk to disclose confidential information to the Department of Children and Families (DCF) or law enforcement agencies "for other purposes," as provided by a court order. Currently, if DCF or law enforcement agencies want access to confidential guardianship records, they must petition the court and show good cause. "Other purposes" is not defined in the bill; is unclear what these purposes would be. Additionally it is unclear if the clerk would have to show good cause to obtain a court order for such disclosure.

The bill also expands to whom a guardian may disclose confidential information about a ward without court approval beyond the state or local ombudsman council members currently authorized in law. The bill authorizes guardians to disclose confidential information to:

- The court clerk for investigations that arise from a review of guardianship reports, guardianship records and documents, and related audits conducted pursuant to s. 744.368, F.S.; and
- The OPPG for investigations related to the regulation and oversight of professional guardians pursuant to Part II of ch. 744, F.S.

The bill requires the clerk or the OPPG's investigator to maintain the confidentiality of such disclosed information.

Complaints Against Guardians

The bill allows a complaint against a guardian to be filed with a designee of OPPG. The Clerks' Statewide Investigations Alliance currently performs investigative services for the OPPG.[46] This change would allow complaints to be filed with the Clerks' Statewide Investigations Alliance, who is the current OPPG designee pursuant to an MOU, or any other designee of the OPPG in addition to with the OPPG.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2018.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Long-term care facilities include nursing homes and assisted living facilities. HB 1369 addresses several provisions related to claims and lawsuits against nursing homes and assisted living facilities, to include:

The Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Fund was created in 2001, within the Agency of Health Care Administration, to support activities and programs directly related to the care of nursing home and assisted living facility residents. Current law requires the punitive damages awarded in a claim against a nursing home or assisted living facility to be split equally between the claimant and the Fund. The bill provides that ten percent of such punitive damages awards must be paid to the Fund.

A nursing home licensee must pay a claimant the entire amount of a judgment, award, or settlement within 60 days of that judgment, award, or settlement becoming final. This deadline may be extended by a written agreement by the parties. Current law has no limit on the extension that the parties may agree to. The bill prohibits such agreements from extending payment beyond six months after the date the judgement, award, or settlement becomes final.

Current law requires a nursing home to maintain general and professional liability insurance coverage, but does not specify the minimum amount of coverage. The bill requires a nursing home to maintain professional liability only in an amount no less than $2 million per claim with a minimum annual aggregate of not less than $4 million. An insurance policy that deducts defense costs from the coverage is prohibited.

Current law requires insurers of medical professionals, hospitals, clinics and lawyers to report to the Office of Insurance Regulation, any written claim or action for damages for personal injuries claimed to have been caused by error, omission, or negligence in the performance of the insured's professional services. The bill requires insurers of nursing homes and assisted living facilities to also report such claims to the Office of Insurance Regulation.

The bill appears to have an unknown positive fiscal impact on state revenues. The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on local government.

The bill is effective July 1, 2018.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Part II of ch. 400, F.S., provides for the development, establishment, and enforcement of basic standards for the health, care and treatment of people in nursing homes and related health care facilities.[1] The Agency for Health Care Administration (Agency) has the responsibility of developing rules related to the operation of nursing homes.

Requiring Nursing Home Facilities to Maintain a Certain Level of Liability Coverage

Litigation against Nursing Homes

Section 400.022, F.S., sets forth various legal rights of nursing home residents. Included in those rights is the right to receive "adequate and appropriate health care and protective and support services." Section 400.02, F.S., provides that any resident whose rights are violated by a nursing home has a cause of action against the nursing home.[2] Sections 400.023-400.0238, F.S., create a comprehensive framework for litigation and recovery against a nursing home, including provisions for presuit notice, mediation, availability of records, and punitive damages.

Named Defendants in Nursing Home Cases

Prior to filing a claim for a violation of a nursing home resident's rights resulting in death or injury, the claimant is required to notify each prospective defendant by certified mail.[3]

Any cause of action for a violation of a nursing home resident's rights which allege direct or vicarious liability for personal injury or death of the nursing home resident may only be brought against:

- The licensee;
- The licensee's management or consulting company;
- The licensee's management employees; and
- Any direct caregivers, whether employees or contractors.
- A cause of action cannot be brought against a passive investor.

The statue defines the potential defendants as follows:

- "Licensee" means an individual, corporation, partnership, firm, association, governmental entity, or other entity that is issued a permit, registration, certificate, or license by the Agency, and that is legally responsible for all aspects of the operation of the nursing home facility.[4]
- "Management or consulting company" means an individual or entity who contracts with, or receives a fee from a licensee to provide any of the following services for a nursing home facility:
    - Hiring or firing of the administrator or director of nursing;
    - Controlling or having control over the staffing levels at the facility;
    - Having control over the budget of the facility; or
    - Implementing and enforcing the policies and procedures of the facility.[5]

[1] S. 400.011, F.S.

[2] The action may be brought by the resident or his or her guardian, by a person or organization acting on behalf of a resident with the consent of the resident or his or her guardian, or by the personal representative of the estate of the deceased resident regardless of the cause of death. See s. 400.023(1), F.S.

[3] S. 400.0233(2), F.S.

[4] S. 400.023(2)(a), F.S.

[5] S. 400. 023(2)(b), F.S.

- "Passive investor" means an individual or entity that has an interest in a facility but does not participate in the decision making or operations of the facility.[6]

The statute further provides that before a person other than the licensee, the licensee's management or consulting company, the licensee's managing employees, or a direct caregiver employee can be named as a defendant in a lawsuit alleging violation of a resident's rights, the court or arbitration panel must find that there is sufficient evidence that: The individual or entity owed a duty of reasonable care to the resident and the individual or entity breached that duty, and the breach of that duty is a legal cause of loss, injury, or damage to or death of the resident. If the court or arbitration panel makes this finding, and a proposed amended pleading it is asserts that such cause of action arose out of the conduct, transaction, or occurrence set forth or attempted to be set forth in the original pleading, the proposed amendment is considered to relate back to the original pleading.[7]

Where a violation of rights resulted in the death of a resident, current law requires the resident's estate to elect either survival damages under s. 46.021, F.S., or wrongful death damages under s. 768.21, F.S. The election of remedies must be made after the verdict and before the judgment is entered.[8]

In a claim brought under the statute, the claimant has the burden of proving, by a preponderance of the evidence, that:

- The defendant owed a duty to the resident;
- The defendant breached the duty to the resident;
- The breach of the duty is a legal cause of loss, injury ,death, or damage to the resident; and
- The resident sustained loss, injury, death, or damage as a result of the breach. [9]

Punitive Damages and Limitations

Punitive damages are not compensation for injury. Instead, they are private fines levied by civil juries to punish reprehensible conduct and to deter its future occurrence.[10] A nursing home may be liable for punitive damages only if the judge or jury find, by clear and convincing evidence, that the nursing home actively and knowingly participated in intentional misconduct or engaged in conduct that constituted gross negligence, and contributed to the loss, damages, or injury by the claimant.[11]

- Intentional misconduct means that the nursing home had actual knowledge of the wrongfulness of the conduct and the high probability that injury or damage to the claimant would result and, despite that knowledge, intentionally pursued that course of conduct, resulting in injury or damage.[12]
- Gross negligence means that a nursing home's conduct was so reckless or wanting in care that it constituted a conscious disregard or indifference to the line, safety, or rights of persons exposed to such conduct.[13]

Punitive damages are generally limited to three times the amount of compensatory damages or $1 million, whichever is greater.[14] However, if the jury finds that the wrongful conduct was motivated primarily by unreasonable financial gain and determines that the unreasonably dangerous nature of the conduct, together with the high likelihood of injury resulting from the conduct, was actually known by the managing agent, director, officer, or other person responsible for making policy decisions on behalf of the defendant, then it may reward an amount of punitive damages not to exceed the greater of:[15]

If the jury determines that the defendant has a specific intent to harm the claimant and determines that the defendant's conduct did in fact harm the claimant, there is no cap on punitive damages.[16]

Nursing Homes and Liability Insurance

In 2001, the state enacted legislation requiring every licensed nursing facility to maintain general and professional liability insurance coverage.[17] However, the statute does not require any minimum amount of such coverage.

In 2003, a joint committee was formed to reconsider issues regarding the continuing liability insurance and lawsuit crises facing Florida's long-term care facilities and to assess the impact of the reform enacted two years earlier.[18] Because state law does not require specific coverage types or amounts, testimony at the committee hearings said that many skilled nursing facilities had chosen to carry the least amount of general and professional liability insurance available in order to comply with statute.[19] As a consequence, facilities had been sued for professional liability claims and were unable to defend the case.[20]

In order to find out about the availability of long-term care liability insurance in Florida, the committee solicited information from the Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR) within the Department of Financial Services.[21] OIR is responsible for regulating insurance in the state. OIR re-evaluated the liability insurance market and reported that there had been no appreciable change in the availability of private liability insurance over that past year.[22] Attorneys for the nursing homes testified at the committee that since the passage of s. 400.141(q), F.S., requiring liability coverage, nursing homes had less ability to get liability insurance, which meant they were leaving Florida.[23] However, there was no evidence presented that any nursing homes closed solely as a result of failure to obtain insurance.[24]

It was reported that surplus lines carriers were taking advantage of the requirements of nursing homes maintaining coverage with no minimum by structuring their low limit policies in such a way that they were taking no risk of loss on the policy.[25] "When a serious claim occurs, these insurers pay the low limit amount offered under the policy (for example, $25,000) and keep any premium over and above the policy limit the insured have paid as pure profit (for example, the difference between a premium of $32,000 and the policy limit of $25,000)."[26] As a result, these policies provide no meaningful coverage in the event of a legitimate claim by a resident.[27] It was recommended to the legislature that all long-term care facilities carry aggregate professional liability coverage with a minimum coverage amount of at least $300,000.[28] The requirement would prevent excess and surplus insurers from offering single occurrence policies for the purpose of "gaming" state law and provide meaningful coverage for legitimate claims.

The Committee invited nursing home representatives to discuss their experience with insurance and liability protection. The representatives consistently discussed the difficulty in getting acceptable insurance coverage for Florida nursing homes.[29] A representative of the Florida Health Care Association testified that insurance liability coverage is either unaffordable or available only in limited amounts from surplus lines carriers.[30]

In conclusion, the Joint Committee recommended nursing homes needed incentives to carry a specific minimum amount of professional liability insurance coverage, based on a per bed calculation.[31]

Defense Within Limits Insurance Policies

Defense within limits insurance policies are commonly referred to as "wasting policies." It is an insurance policy that includes the cost of defense representation in the limit of liability which is normally available to indemnify against losses.[32] A wasting policy potentially may pay the claimant nothing where defense costs have consumed the amount of the coverage.

Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund

Section 400.0239, F.S., created the Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund within the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA).[36] This fund was created in 2001 to support activities and programs directly related to the care of nursing home and assisted living facility residents.[37] Expenditures from the trust fund can be made for direct support of the following:[38]

- Development and operation of a mentoring program for increasing the competence, professionalism, and career preparation of long-term care facility direct care staff, including nurses, nursing assistances, and social service and dietary personnel.
- Development and implementation of specialized training programs for long-term care facility personnel who provide direct care of residents with Alzheimer's Disease and other dementias, residents at risk of developing pressure sores, and residents with special nutrition and hydration needs.
- Provisions of economic and other incentives to enhance the stability and career development of the nursing home direct care workforce, including paid sabbaticals for exemplary direct care career staff to visit facilities throughout the state to train and motivate younger workers to commit to careers in long-term care.
- Promotion and support for the formation and active involvement of resident and family councils in the improvement of nursing home care.

It is funded through a combination of general revenues, Civil Money Penalty Fund, and fifty-percent of any punitive damages awarded as part of lawsuit against nursing homes or related healthcare facilities.[39]

Punitive Damages

Sections 400.0238, F.S., and 429.298, F.S., both require the amount of punitive damages awarded in a claim against a nursing home and assisted living facility, respectively, to be split equally between the claimant and the Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund.

Civil Money Penalty Funds

Civil Money Penalties (CMP) are fines imposed by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) against nursing facilities that have failed to maintain compliance with federal requirements.[40] A portion of these funds are returned to states and may be used for projects supporting activities that benefit nursing facility residents or that protect and improve their quality of life or care.[41]

Current Balance of the Trust Fund

As of January 18, 2018, there is a total balance in the fund of $22,579,079.10.[42] This amount includes $350,386.78 deposited from punitive damages and $22,228,792.32 deposited from Civil Money Penalty Funds.[43] The total amount of expenditures for Fiscal Year 2017-2018 is $111,755.32.[44]

Since 2008, only $350,386.78 has been deposited in the Fund from a single punitive damages award.[45] To date, none of the funds from the punitive damages have been expended.[46] The punitive claim award deposited in the account makes up about 2% of the overall balance of the Fund, with 98% coming from Civil Money Penalty Funds.

Authorizing AHCA to Revoke License or Deny License Renewal

Current law provides that when an adverse judgment, arbitration award or settlement agreement is entered against a licensee as defined in s. 400.023(2), F.S., relating to a claim of negligence or violation of a resident's rights under s. 400.023, F.S., the licensee must pay the judgment creditor the entire amount of the judgment and all accrued interest within 60 days, unless otherwise mutually agreed to in writing by the parties.[47] If the licensee does not do so, the Agency may use such failure as additional grounds for suspending or denying renewal of the nursing home's license, to deny a license renewal application, or to deny a related party change of ownership application.

The Agency is deemed notified of the unsatisfied judgment when a certified copy of both the judgment and a valid lien certificate are served by process server, or received via certified mail.[48] Upon notification of the existence of an unsatisfied judgment or settlement, the Agency must notify the licensee by certified mail that within 30 days after receipt of the notification the licensee is subject to disciplinary action unless it proves the Agency with proof of compliance with one of five conditions pertaining to the judgment or settlement. The five conditions are:

- The judgment or settlement has been paid;
- A mutually agreed upon payment plan exists;
- A notice of appeal has been timely filed;
- A court order staying execution of the final judgment exists; or

- The court or arbitration panel that is overseeing the action documents that the licensee is seeking indemnification from an insurance carrier or other party that may be required to pay the award.[49]

If the licensee fails to provide proof of one of the five conditions within the 30 days, the Agency must issue an emergency order finding that the nursing home facility lacks financial ability to operate and that the Agency is in the process of suspending the facility's license.[50] Following or during the period of suspension, a controlling interest in that facility may not seek licensure for the facility at issue.[51] Additionally, if the judgment results from a trial or arbitration, the Agency may not approve a chance of ownership until one of the five conditions is met with respect to the judgment.[52]

Requiring Nursing Homes and Assisted Living Facilities to Report Professional Liability Claims

Section 627.357, F.S., requires all commercial self-insurance funds, surplus lines insurers, risk retention groups, and joint underwriting associations to report to the Office of Insurance (OIR) any written claim or action for damages for personal injury claimed to have been caused by error, omission, or negligence in the performance of such insured's professional services if the insurer covers any of the following:

- Physician.
- Osteopathic physician.
- Podiatric physician.
- Dentist.
- Hospital.
- Crises stabilization unit.
- Health maintenance organization.
- Clinic.
- Ambulatory surgical center.
- Member of the Florida Bar.

Insurers of nursing homes and assisted living facilities are not required to report to OIR any claims or action for damages.

Effect of the Proposed Changes

Requiring Nursing Homes to Maintain a Certain Level of Liability Coverage

HB 1369 amends s. 400.141(q), F.S., to require all licensed nursing home facilities to maintain professional liability insurance in an amount not less than $2 million per an occurrence and with a minimum annual aggregate of not less than $4 million. The requirement to maintain general liability insurance coverage is repealed. Furthermore, the bill provides that any insurance policy that includes the cost of defense within its limits ("wasting policies"), will not satisfy the requirements of the professional insurance minimums. Out of the 684 nursing homes currently licensed in Florida, 47 nursing homes (approximately 7%) currently comply with the changes of the bill (assuming those 47 homes do not have "wasting policies").

Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund

HB 1369 amends sections 400.0238, F.S., and 429.298, F.S., to replace the 50/50 share of punitive damages between the claimant and the trust fund with a 90/10 share. This change applies to nursing homes and assisted living facilities. Ninety-percent of the punitive damage award will be kept by the claimant and the remaining ten-percent will be deposited in to the Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund.

Authorizing AHCA to Revoke License or Deny License Renewal

HB 1369 amends s. 400.024, F.S., to provide that regardless of any agreement by the parties, an extension for payment of a judgment, award, or settlement owed by a nursing home may not exceed 6 months from the day such judgment, award, or settlement became final and subject to execution.

Requiring Nursing Homes and Assisted Living Facilities to Report Professional Liability Claims

HB 1369 amends s. 627.357, F.S., to require insurers of nursing home and assisted living facilities to report to OIR all written claims for damages and personal injuries claimed to have been caused by error, omission, or negligence in the performance of such insured's professional services.

The bill is effective July 1, 2018.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

   The bill appears to have an unknown positive recurring fiscal impact on state revenues resulting from increased insurance premium tax revenues.

2. Expenditures:

   None.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

   None.

2. Expenditures:

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

The portion of the bill that requires certain minimum insurance coverages appears to have a significant fiscal impact on nursing homes in the private sector. Data is not available to project the cost of acquiring such insurance. At least 93% of existing nursing homes would have to obtain increased insurance coverage. Insurance companies will see a corresponding increase in premium revenues.

IV. AMENDMENTS/ COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to long-term care facility responsibility; amending s. 400.024, F.S.; authorizing the Agency for Health Care Administration to revoke the license or deny a license renewal or change of ownership application of a nursing home facility that fails to pay a judgment or settlement agreement within a specified timeframe; amending s. 400.141, F.S.; requiring a nursing home facility to maintain a certain level of liability insurance coverage; excluding certain types of coverage; amending ss. 400.0238 and 429.298, F.S.; revising percentages of punitive damages awarded to the claimant and deposited in the Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund; amending s. 627.912, F.S.; requiring nursing homes and assisted living facilities to report professional liability claims and actions to the Office of Insurance Regulation; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (4) of section 400.0238, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

400.0238 Punitive damages; limitation.—

(4) Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, the amount of punitive damages awarded pursuant to this section shall be ~~equally~~ divided between the claimant and the Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund. The claimant shall receive 90 percent of the award and the Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund shall receive 10 percent of the award, in accordance with the following provisions:

(a) The clerk of the court shall transmit a copy of the jury verdict to the Chief Financial Officer by certified mail. In the final judgment, the court shall order the percentages of the award, payable as provided herein.

(b) A settlement agreement entered into between the original parties to the action after a verdict has been returned must provide a proportionate share payable to the Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund specified herein. For purposes of this paragraph, a proportionate share is a 10-percent ~~50-percent~~ share of that percentage of the settlement amount which the punitive damages portion of the verdict bore to the total of the compensatory and punitive damages in the verdict.

(c) The Department of Financial Services shall collect or cause to be collected all payments due the state under this section. Such payments are made to the Chief Financial Officer and deposited in the appropriate fund specified in this subsection.

(d) If the full amount of punitive damages awarded cannot be collected, the claimant and the other recipient designated pursuant to this subsection are each entitled to a proportionate share of the punitive damages collected.

Section 2. Subsection (1) of section 400.024, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

400.024 Failure to satisfy a judgment or settlement agreement.—

(1) Upon the entry by a Florida court of an adverse final judgment against a licensee as defined in s. 400.023(2) which arises from an award pursuant to s. 400.023, including an arbitration award, for a claim of negligence or a violation of residents' rights, in contract or tort, or from noncompliance with the terms of a settlement agreement as determined by a court or arbitration panel, which arises from a claim pursuant to s. 400.023, the licensee shall pay the judgment creditor the entire amount of the judgment, award, or settlement and all accrued interest within 60 days after the date such judgment, award, or settlement becomes final and subject to execution unless otherwise mutually agreed to in writing by the parties. However, no such agreement shall allow for payment more than 6 months after the date such judgment, award, or settlement becomes final and subject to execution. Failure to make such payment shall result in additional grounds that may be used by the agency for revoking a license or for denying a renewal application or a related party change of ownership application as provided in this section.

Section 3. Paragraph (q) of subsection (1) of section 400.141, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

400.141 Administration and management of nursing home facilities.—

(1) Every licensed facility shall comply with all applicable standards and rules of the agency and shall:

(q) Maintain ~~general and~~ professional liability insurance coverage that is in force at all times in an amount not less than $2 million per claim and with a minimum annual aggregate of not less than $4 million. Any professional liability insurance that provides for the payment of litigation costs or attorney fees for the defense of a claim against a nursing home pursuant to s. 400.023, s. 400.0233, or the common law of this state as a deduction from the liability limits of the policy or that in any way reduces the liability coverage limits available under the policy for a settlement or judgment by any amount attributable to litigation costs or attorney fees incurred during the course of the defense of the insured does not fulfill the insurance requirement of this section. In lieu of such coverage, a state-designated teaching nursing home and its affiliated assisted living facilities created under s. 430.80 may demonstrate proof of financial responsibility as provided in s. 430.80(3)(g).

Section 4. Subsection (4) of section 429.298, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

429.298 Punitive damages; limitation.—

(4) Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, the amount of punitive damages awarded pursuant to this section shall be ~~equally~~ divided between the claimant and the Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund. The claimant shall receive 90 percent of the award and the Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund shall receive 10 percent of the award, in accordance with the following provisions:

(a) The clerk of the court shall transmit a copy of the jury verdict to the Chief Financial Officer by certified mail. In the final judgment, the court shall order the percentages of the award, payable as provided herein.

(b) A settlement agreement entered into between the original parties to the action after a verdict has been returned must provide a proportionate share payable to the Quality of Long-Term Care Facility Improvement Trust Fund specified herein. For purposes of this paragraph, a proportionate share is a 10-percent ~~50-percent~~ share of that percentage of the settlement amount which the punitive damages portion of the verdict bore to the total of the compensatory and punitive damages in the verdict.

(c) The Department of Financial Services shall collect or cause to be collected all payments due the state under this section. Such payments are made to the Chief Financial Officer and deposited in the appropriate fund specified in this subsection.

(d) If the full amount of punitive damages awarded cannot be collected, the claimant and the other recipient designated pursuant to this subsection are each entitled to a proportionate share of the punitive damages collected.

Section 5. Subsection (1) of section 627.912, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.912 Professional liability claims and actions; reports by insurers and health care providers; annual report by office.—

(1)(a) Each self-insurer authorized under s. 627.357 and each commercial self-insurance fund authorized under s. 624.462, authorized insurer, surplus lines insurer, risk retention group, and joint underwriting association providing professional liability insurance to a practitioner of medicine licensed under chapter 458, to a practitioner of osteopathic medicine licensed under chapter 459, to a podiatric physician licensed under chapter 461, to a dentist licensed under chapter 466, to a hospital licensed under chapter 395, to a crisis stabilization unit licensed under part IV of chapter 394, to a nursing home licensed under part II of chapter 400, to an assisted living facility licensed under part I of chapter 429, to a health maintenance organization certificated under part I of chapter

641, to clinics included in chapter 390, or to an ambulatory surgical center as defined in s. 395.002, and each insurer providing professional liability insurance to a member of The Florida Bar shall report to the office as set forth in paragraph (c) any written claim or action for damages for personal injuries claimed to have been caused by error, omission, or negligence in the performance of such insured's professional services or based on a claimed performance of professional services without consent.

(b) For purposes of this section, the term "claim" means the receipt of a notice of intent to initiate litigation, a summons and complaint, or a written demand from a person or his or her legal representative stating an intention to pursue an action for damages against a person described in paragraph (a).

(c) The duty to report specified in paragraph (a) arises upon the occurrence of the first of:

1. The entry of any judgment against any provider identified in paragraph (a) for which all appeals as a matter of right have been exhausted or for which the time period for filing such an appeal has expired;

2. The execution of an agreement between a provider identified in paragraph (a) or an entity required to report under that paragraph and a claimant to settle damages purported to arise from the provision of professional services, which agreement includes the indemnity payment of at least $1;

however, if any applicable law requires any such agreement to be approved by the court, the duty arises when the agreement is approved;

3. The final payment of any indemnity money by any of the entities required to report under paragraph (a) on behalf of any provider identified in that paragraph for damages purported to arise from professional services rendered; or

4. The final disposition of a claim for which no indemnity payment was made on behalf of the insured but for which loss adjustment expenses were paid in excess of $5,000. As used in this subparagraph, the term "final disposition" means the insurer has brought down all reserves and closed its file.

(d) After any calendar year in which no claim or action for damages was closed, the entity shall file a no claim submission report. Such report shall be filed with the office no later than April 1 of each calendar year for the immediately preceding calendar year. If a reporting entity submits such a report for a particular calendar year and subsequently discovers that its report was submitted in error, the reporting entity shall promptly notify the office of the error and take steps as directed by the office to make the needed corrections.

(e) If a claim is initially opened and then closed, and is subsequently reopened, the reopened claim shall be treated as a new claim and reported after the occurrence of the first of any event listed in paragraph (c).

(f) Each health care practitioner and health care facility listed in paragraph (a) must report any claim or action for damages as described in paragraph (a), if the claim is not otherwise required to be reported by an insurer or other insuring entity.

(g) Reports under this subsection shall be filed with the office no later than 30 days following the occurrence of the first of any event listed in paragraph (c). An insurer is not required to file a new or amended report on a claim more than 1 year after submitting an initial report.

Section 6. This act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

Re: HB 6523 - Representative Raburn
Relief/Ashraf Kamel & Marguerite Dimitri/Palm Beach County School Board

THIS IS A CLAIM FOR $360,000 BASED ON A SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT BETWEEN ASHRAF KAMEL AND MARGUERITE DIMITRI, AS THE PARENTS OF JEAN PIERRE KAMEL, AND THE PALM BEACH COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD, RELATING TO THE WRONGFUL DEATH OF JEAN PIERRE KAMEL BECAUSE OF THE SCHOOL BOARD'S NEGLIGENCE. THE SCHOOL BOARD HAS PAID $200,000 PURSUANT TO SECTION 768.28, F.S.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

This matter concerns the death of Jean Pierre Kamel, a 13-year-old. On Monday, January 27, 1997, Jean Pierre was standing on the sidewalk in front of Conniston Middle School in Palm Beach County, Florida, where he attended as a student. About 8:40 a.m., he was shot to death by Tronneal Mangum, a 13-year-old classmate.

The shooting allegedly occurred because of a dispute over Jean Pierre's expensive watch which had been obtained by Tronneal, and which Jean Pierre decided he wanted back. On the Thursday before the shooting, Tronneal kicked Jean Pierre in his prosthetic leg, and a teacher referred the matter to school administration. The assistant principal, in turn, met with both students. The matter was resolved when Tronneal agreed to bring the watch to school on Monday and deliver it to a school administrator.

Earlier in the school year, Jean Pierre had asked his math teacher to move his seat away from Tronneal because they did not get along, and the math teacher had obliged. Jean Pierre told his math teacher on the Friday before the shooting that Tronneal was "after" Jean Pierre. The math teacher later testified that Jean Pierre had told her he had already spoken to an assistant principal about the matter and did not want to do so again, and that he did not seem scared or upset. The math teacher did not report the conversation to school administration.

When Jean Pierre was shot, he was standing in front of the school on a 9-foot-wide sidewalk. There was a dispute as to whether Jean Pierre was technically on school property when he was killed, with Respondent arguing that although it did own part of the sidewalk, the part closest to the street was owned by the city, not Respondent. However, evidence showed that students and school officials believed the entire sidewalk to be school property. The record indicates that Respondent had exercised control over the entire sidewalk, with school officials patrolling the area during and before school hours, including the time of day when the shooting occurred.

As a result of the shooting, Tronneal Mangum was suspended from school, tried as an adult, and sentenced to life in prison.[1]

LITIGATION HISTORY:

Ashraf Kamel, on his own behalf and as personal representative of the estate of Jean Pierre Kamel, filed a wrongful death suit against the Palm Beach County School Board in the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit.

In 2002, a jury returned a verdict for a total of $2,003,000 in damages and found Respondent 80% responsible for Jean Pierre's death and Jean Pierre 20% responsible for his own death. The $2,003,000 was further broken down as follows: $3,000 for funeral expenses and $1,000,000 for past and future pain and suffering for each parent. Tronneal Mangum, the shooter, was not included on the verdict form; thus, the jury had no opportunity to apportion any liability to him as the intentional tortfeasor.[2]

The court reduced the total amount to take into account Jean Pierre's portion of fault and entered a final judgment for $1,602,400. Respondent appealed to the Fourth District Court of Appeal, arguing that the jury's award was inappropriate because the incident did not occur on school property and because the shooting was unforeseeable. The appellate court affirmed the judgment in favor of Claimants on February 12, 2003.[3] Respondent has paid the sovereign immunity cap of $200,000. In 2005, after the Special Master final hearing, Claimants and Respondent entered into a settlement agreement to resolve all outstanding claims for $360,000.

[1] In 2016, Tronneal's life sentence was reduced to forty years' imprisonment as a result of Miller v. Alabama, 567 U.S. 460 (2012) (holding that the Eighth Amendment forbids a sentencing scheme for juvenile homicide offenders that requires life imprisonment without the possibility of parole), and section 775.082(1)(b)1., F.S. (requiring at least a forty-year sentence).

CLAIMANTS' POSITION: Claimants argue that Respondent bears blame for the death of their son and that the settlement agreement should be given full weight by the Legislature. Specifically, Claimants argue that Respondent owed a duty as the Palm Beach County School Board to protect its students and that Respondent breached that duty when its employees (including a math teacher, assistant principal, and school personnel) failed to take proper actions to prevent the shooting. As to the issue about the location where Jean Pierre was shot, Claimants argue that Respondent knew that the entire sidewalk was its responsibility and that Respondent had maintained dominion and control over the sidewalk. Claimants also argue that previous gun possession incidents at their son's middle school made the shooting foreseeable.

Claimants submitted as an expert Mr. Henry Branche, a building security consultant and former Chief of Security for the New York City School System. He opined that Respondent's employees were negligent by not preparing an incident report when Jean Pierre asked to be moved away from Tronneal in math class; for the assistant principal's use of conflict resolution rather than the school's discipline policy for what he described as an assault when Tronneal kicked Jean Pierre in his prosthetic leg; and for the math teacher's failure to write a referral when Jean Pierre told her that Tronneal was after him. Claimants' expert also testified that the shooting was foreseeable since there had been two previous incidents of gun possession at Conniston Middle School, and that the school's security plan was lacking in that only one teacher was near the area where the shooting occurred.

RESPONDENT'S POSITION: Respondent vigorously contested this claim bill when it was first filed in the Legislature in 2004, arguing that it did not owe a duty to Jean Pierre because he was on a portion of the sidewalk not technically on school grounds when he was murdered, and that the shooting was unforeseeable. Now that there is a settlement agreement, Respondent no longer vigorously contests the bill. However, Respondent does assert that it would adversely affect its operations to have to pay the settlement amount of $360,000.

Respondent submitted as an expert Mr. Gregg McCrary, a security consultant and former FBI agent. He opined that Conniston Middle School had sufficient security and included a program that emphasized early intervention, looked for troubled students, and monitored the campus. Conniston Middle School had a uniformed police officer on campus. The expert further opined that there were no warning signs that would have made a homicide foreseeable, that the school could not have deterred the murder, and that even having an armed officer at the precise spot where the shooting occurred would probably not have ultimately prevented the murder.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

Regardless of whether there is a jury verdict or settlement, every claim bill must be reviewed de novo in light of the elements of negligence.

Duty

Florida law imposes on school officials a duty to supervise students' activities while students are at school.[4] Here, the shooting occurred during hours when the school was entrusted with the care of students on property that school officials and students reasonably believed was school property, and which Respondent had supervised and patrolled as such.[5] Therefore, I find Respondent owed a duty to Jean Pierre Kamel.

Breach & Causation

This case was vigorously contested at trial, with the parties disagreeing as to whether Respondent breached a duty of care and whether Respondent's breach caused Jean Pierre's death. Each side presented an expert to support its position. Ultimately, a jury weighed the evidence and concluded that Respondent was negligent and that such negligence contributed in part to Jean Pierre's death. Having considered the circumstances of this case, I decline to disturb the jury's finding that Respondent bears some fault for Jean Pierre's death.

Damages

The jury found damages totaling $2,003,000. The court reduced those damages in accordance with the jury's finding of 20% comparative negligence by Jean Pierre and entered a final judgment for $1,602,400. Claimants have received $200,000 and now seek an additional $360,000 in fulfillment of their settlement agreement with Respondent. Given the pain and suffering experienced by Claimants because of the death of their son, I find that damages in the amount of $360,000—which is about 18% of the original jury verdict—is reasonable. I further find that this amount is reasonable even if some (or most) of the fault should be allocated to the shooter himself.[6]

ATTORNEY'S/ LOBBYING FEES:

Claimants' attorneys will limit their fees to 25 percent of any amount awarded by the Legislature. Out of these fees, a lobbyist fee for 6% of the total award and an appellate fee for 5% of the [6] The Senate Special Master reallocated fault as follows: 50% to the shooter; 30% to Respondent as the school board; and 20% to the victim. Since the amount Claimants seek—$360,000—is only about 18% of the total jury verdict, it is a reasonable award if the Legislature believes Respondent was at least 18% at fault for the shooting.

total award will be paid. Outstanding costs are $1,935.66.

RESPONDENT'S ABILITY TO PAY: Respondent is self-insured and has no liability insurance to cover tort claims. Respondent states that if this claim bill were awarded, it would be paid from Respondent's general operating budget, affecting Respondent's "ability to fund needed educational programs, teachers' salaries and schools."

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY: This claim bill, first introduced in the House in 2004 as HB 1353, has not been filed in the House since 2010. It was filed most recently in the Senate as 2012 SB 66 but was withdrawn prior to introduction.

SUGGESTED AMENDMENTS: The section addressing the limitation on attorneys' fees should be amended to provide for specific fee amounts; and Tronneal Mangum's age at the time of the shooting should be corrected to reflect that Tronneal was 13 years old when the shooting occurred, not 14.

RECOMMENDATION: I recommend that House Bill 6523 be reported FAVORABLY.

SPECIAL MASTER'S FINAL REPORT

The Honorable Richard Corcoran
Speaker, The Florida House of Representatives
Suite 420, The Capitol
Tallahassee, Florida 32399-1300

Re: HB 6527 - Representative Alexander
Relief/Christopher Cannon/City of Tallahassee

THIS IS AN UNCONTESTED SETTLED CLAIM FOR $500,000 AGAINST THE CITY OF TALLAHASSEE FOR INJURIES AND DAMAGES SUFFERED BY CHRISTOPHER V. CANNON WHEN HIS MOTORCYCLE WAS STRUCK BY A CITY BUS ON DECEMBER 16, 2015. THE CITY HAS PAID $200,000.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

This claim arises out of a motorcycle accident that occurred on December 16, 2015, in Tallahassee, Florida, at the intersection of Old Bainbridge Road and Capital Circle Northwest. At the intersection, Old Bainbridge Road runs north/south and dead-ends into Capital Circle, which runs northeast/southwest at the intersection. Vehicles traveling north on Old Bainbridge are only able to turn either right or left onto Capital Circle. The left turn off Old Bainbridge is especially sharp.

As the single northeast-bound lane of Capital Circle nears the intersection with Old Bainbridge, it splits into two lanes—one for turning right at the intersection and one for continuing straight through the intersection. Crucially, drivers on Capital Circle have the right-of-way at the intersection. Old Bainbridge is controlled by a stop sign, while Capital Circle has no traffic controls.

Around 5:15 p.m. on December 16, 2015, during busy traffic flow, a Dial-A-Ride[1] passenger bus owned and operated by the City of Tallahassee ("Respondent") was traveling north on Old Bainbridge Road, approaching the intersection with Capital Circle. At the same time, 20-year-old Christopher Cannon ("Claimant") was riding his motorcycle on his way home from work, traveling northeast on Capital Circle, approaching the same intersection with the right-of-way. It was cloudy at the time of the accident, and although it was not visibly raining, the roadway was wet. Claimant was wearing a helmet and protective clothing.

The ensuing collision was caught on tape by the internal cameras on board Respondent's bus. The video footage shows Respondent's bus stopping well behind the stop bar at the intersection, waiting about one minute, and then proceeding into the intersection, turning left across traffic. When the bus had completed about half of the turn, Claimant's motorcycle can be seen swerving to try to avoid the bus, and then being obliterated upon impact. Claimant was catapulted off his motorcycle and sent airborne across the other lane of traffic and over the guardrail.

Claimant was stabilized and transported to the emergency room at Tallahassee Memorial Hospital. He was treated for pulmonary contusion, a rib fracture, right renal/kidney laceration and hematomas, adrenal gland contusion, a right tibia fracture, a right fibula fracture, a right mid-shaft femoral fracture, and a tiny spleen laceration. While at the emergency room, Claimant went into atrial fibrillation and had to be defibrillated in order to be stabilized.

Claimant underwent a closed displaced right tibia and right fibular shaft fracture procedure. A rod was placed in his leg and secured with four screws. Claimant later had another procedure where a plate was secured to his humerus in his arm with eight screws. About two weeks after that surgery, Claimant suffered from a leg infection that required another five-day stay in the hospital. About eight months after the accident, Claimant followed up with physical therapy.

Claimant lost his job after the accident. His accident and post-accident medical bills totaled about $211,000. His property damage was about $5,500 and lost wages about $4,500. At the time of the accident, Claimant did not have any medical insurance or insurance for his motorcycle. The hospital imposed medical liens that have since been reduced through negotiation.

On April 4, 2016, a county judge found Respondent's bus driver guilty of failing to yield to oncoming traffic when making a left turn, in violation of s. 316.122, F.S., and guilty of causing serious bodily injury to the victim. The court suspended the bus driver's [1] Dial-A-Ride refers to an on-demand bus service for mobility-impaired persons.

CDL license for 90 days.

Claimant is now 22 years old. Although he can walk, running and jumping are difficult, and when he tries to run, he begins to limp. Claimant still experiences some numbness on his shin and has some ongoing issues with the nerves in his foot.

LITIGATION HISTORY: On January 11, 2017, Claimant filed an amended complaint against Respondent in the Second Judicial Circuit, alleging two counts: first, that Respondent was negligent in its hiring, training, discipline, supervision, and retention of its bus driver; and second, that Respondent was responsible under the doctrine of respondeat superior for the negligence of its bus driver.

On March 3, 2017, the parties filed an agreed motion for partial summary judgment on liability against Respondent. Respondent admitted liability based on the negligent operation of the bus by its driver; and Claimant agreed to dismiss its first count alleging negligent hiring, training, discipline, supervision, and retention. The issue of damages was subsequently mediated and settled for $700,000. Respondent has paid $200,000 to Claimant, and pursuant to the settlement agreement, Respondent supports the claim bill for the additional $500,000.

CLAIMANT'S POSITION: Claimant argues Respondent is liable for the injuries he sustained from the accident and seeks the unpaid portion of the settlement agreement.

RESPONDENT'S POSITION: Respondent acknowledges that it is liable for Claimant's damages in the full amount sought by Claimant under the doctrine of respondeat superior. Respondent does not oppose the claim bill. However, Respondent does not agree that it was negligent in its hiring, training, disciplining, supervision, and retention of the bus driver who caused the accident.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW: Regardless of whether there is a jury verdict or settlement, each claim bill is reviewed de novo in light of the elements of negligence.

Duty, Breach, & Causation

It is clear that Respondent breached a duty to Claimant. Under Florida law, a driver approaching an intersection with a stop sign must stop, and after stopping, must "yield the right of way to any vehicle" in the intersection or which is approaching so closely as to constitute a hazard.[2] The driver of the city bus owed a duty to Claimant, as Claimant's motorcycle had no stop sign and enjoyed the right-of-way. The driver of the bus breached her duty to Claimant when she proceeded through the intersection even though she had a stop sign and did not have the right-of-way.

When the city's bus driver breached this duty, she was driving a

[2] S. 316.123(2)(a), F.S.

Tallahassee Dial-A-Ride bus as a city employee on her bus route. Thus, Respondent is liable for its bus driver's actions under the doctrine of respondeat superior. Claimant's injuries, which he sustained at the scene of the accident as well as in the months afterward due to an infection, were the proximate causes of Respondent's breach of duty.

Damages
The accident caused about $211,000 in medical bills (though some of that amount was negotiated down), $5,500 in property damage, and $4,500 in lost wages. Moreover, Claimant has undergone multiple procedures and had an additional five-day hospital stay due to an infection that formed after his surgery. The accident also caused Claimant to have to undergo defibrillation at the emergency room. In light of Claimant's economic and noneconomic damages, including the residual negative effects of his injury, which Claimant still lives with to this day, I find that the amount agreed upon by Claimant and Respondent and sought in the claim bill is reasonable.

ATTORNEY'S/ LOBBYING FEES: Claimants' attorneys will limit their fees to 25 percent of any legislative award. Out of these fees, a lobbyist fee for 5 percent of the total award will be paid. There are no outstanding costs.

RESPONDENT'S ABILITY TO PAY: Respondent states that it has no insurance and that any funds paid to Claimant will be paid out of Respondent's self-insurance fund. Respondent states that the amount sought by Claimant is "fully funded and reserved" in Respondent's fund.

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY: This is the first time this claim bill has been presented to the Legislature.

SUGGESTED AMENDMENTS: The section addressing the limitation on attorney's fees should be amended to provide for specific fee amounts.

RECOMMENDATION: I recommend that House Bill 6527 be reported FAVORABLY.

SPECIAL MASTER'S FINAL REPORT

The Honorable Richard Corcoran
Speaker, The Florida House of Representatives
Suite 420, The Capitol
Tallahassee, Florida 32399-1300

Re: HB 6535 - Representative Newton
Relief/Estate of Dr. Sherrill Lynn Aversa/Department of Transportation

THIS IS AN UNCONTESTED CLAIM FOR $650,000 AGAINST THE DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION BASED ON A STIPULATED SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT IN WHICH THE DEPARTMENT AGREED TO COMPENSATE THE ESTATE OF DR. SHERRILL AVERSA IN THE TOTAL AMOUNT OF $800,000 FOR HER WRONGFUL DEATH. THE DEPARTMENT HAS PAID $150,000.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

On June 21, 1999, around 5:45 p.m., Dr. Sherrill Lynn Aversa was traveling southbound on I-75 in Tampa. Meanwhile, a Department of Transportation (DOT) truck driven by a DOT employee, Domingo Alvarado, Jr., was traveling northbound on I-75. Mr. Alvarado was the DOT electrician on call that evening.

The DOT truck had a 12-foot extension ladder along with cones on the top of the truck. Shortly before Mr. Alvarado reached the I-4 overpass, during rush hour, the ladder fell off his truck. Immediately behind Mr. Alvarado's DOT truck was a Ford Explorer SUV driven by Roxann Hodge. Mrs. Hodge was driving about the speed limit, 70 miles per hour, wearing her seatbelt. To avoid a collision with the ladder, Mrs. Hodge swerved sharply left,[1] lost control of her vehicle, and crossed the interstate median.[2] Mrs. Hodge's vehicle then exited the median into southbound traffic and struck Dr. Aversa's vehicle head on.[3] The force of the impact caused both cars to rotate, causing a subsequent impact between Hodge's vehicle and a vehicle driven by Christopher Chappell. After rotating around completely, Dr. Aversa's vehicle was hit again by another vehicle. Six vehicles were ultimately involved in the collision, resulting in Dr. Aversa's death and four other injuries.

After realizing the ladder had fallen off his vehicle, Mr. Alvarado pulled off the roadway into the emergency lane on the right side, put on his caution lights, and ran to the ladder. He ultimately retrieved the ladder and cones, which had come to a rest in the center northbound lane, and re-secured the ladder. A witness who stopped to assist Mr. Alvarado pointed out the accident on the other side of the divided highway. Mr. Alvarado was not aware that his ladder had anything to do with the accident and noted that a sheriff was already at the scene. Later that evening, Mr. Alvarado saw news coverage of the accident and called Highway Patrol. DOT ultimately issued Mr. Alvarado a disciplinary letter.

The other drivers in the accident suffered various injuries and settled with DOT for a combined total of $50,000, leaving $150,000 available for payment to Dr. Lee Crandall, as husband and personal representative of the estate of Dr. Sherrill Aversa ("Estate").[4]

Dr. Aversa was a 32-year-old epidemiologist and published researcher in the field of HIV/AIDS at the University of Miami Medical School. Expert testimony was presented that the present value of economic damages alone totaled $2,646,244.

LITIGATION HISTORY:

On May 15, 2000, Dr. Aversa's husband and her estate's personal representative, Dr. Lee Crandall, filed a wrongful death action against DOT. Prior to trial, the parties entered into a stipulated settlement agreement in which Respondent agreed to pay a total of $800,000. The agreement acknowledged Respondent had already paid $50,000 to other parties injured in the accident and that only $150,000 remained under the sovereign immunity cap. Respondent therefore agreed to pay Claimant $150,000 and support a claim bill for $650,000 for up to ten legislative sessions. The court approved the agreement and entered a consent final judgment on June 11, 2003. Respondent has paid Claimant $150,000.

[1] Mrs. Hodge stated in her deposition that she could not veer right because of another vehicle on the road.
[2] At the point in question, I-75 has three northbound lanes and three southbound lanes.
[3] The Investigative Report by Florida Highway Patrol found that Dr. Aversa was wearing her seatbelt.
[4] Under s. 768.28(5), F.S. (1999), any liability of a governmental entity exceeding $200,000 per occurrence can be paid only as directed by the Legislature through a claim bill.

CLAIMANT'S POSITION: Claimant argues it is entitled to the remaining amount of $650,000 under the stipulated settlement agreement.

RESPONDENT'S POSITION: Respondent entered into a settlement agreement with Claimant in 2003, agreeing to support a claim bill "for up to ten legislative sessions." Because more than ten legislative sessions have passed, Respondent states that it now "takes no position" on this claim bill. Respondent states that the bill erroneously indicates that Respondent has admitted liability for the accident and requests that this statement be removed from the bill.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW: Regardless of whether there is a jury verdict or settlement, every claim bill must be reviewed de novo in light of the elements of negligence.

Duty & Breach
Section 316.520, F.S. (1999), provides that "[a] vehicle may not be driven or moved on any highway unless the vehicle is so constructed or loaded as to prevent any of its load from dropping, shifting, leaking, blowing, or otherwise escaping therefrom . . . ." Under this statute, Mr. Alvarado had a duty to secure the ladder to the DOT truck before operating the truck on the roadway. His failure to do so was a breach of that duty. As an employee of DOT in the course and scope of his employment, his negligence is attributable to DOT under the doctrine of respondeat superior.

Causation
Mr. Alvarado's failure to properly secure the ladder to the DOT truck he was driving was the proximate cause of Dr. Aversa's untimely death. When the ladder fell off the truck into Mrs. Hodge's path, she swerved to avoid the ladder, lost control of her vehicle, careened into the median, and crashed into Dr. Aversa's vehicle head on.

Damages
Dr. Aversa was an intelligent woman with a promising career ahead of her. An expert found that economic damages alone totaled $2,646,244. The amount of damages sought in this claim bill—$650,000—is wholly reasonable considering the outcome of the accident.

ATTORNEY'S/ LOBBYING FEES: Claimant's attorneys will limit their fees to 25 percent of any legislative award. Out of these fees, a lobbyist fee for 6% of the total award will be paid. There are no outstanding costs.

COLLATERAL SOURCES: In addition to the $150,000 paid by DOT, Dr. Aversa's estate has received the following amounts: $153,000 in life and accidental death insurance proceeds; $66,666 in underinsured motorist coverage; and $6,666 in settlement proceeds from Mrs. Hodge, the driver of the Ford Explorer.[5]

[5] Dr. Crandall created a Foundation in his late wife's name with the purpose of awarding scholarships to help doctoral students complete their degrees. The Foundation has awarded multiple scholarships over the years.

RESPONDENT'S ABILITY TO PAY: Respondent states that if the claim bill passes, funds will be paid out of the State Transportation Trust Fund. Respondent states that it "will make adjustments as necessary to avoid any impact on the Department's Work Program."

SUGGESTED AMENDMENTS: The statement that Respondent admitted liability for the accident should be removed from the bill. Also, the section addressing the limitation on attorney's fees should be amended to provide for specific fee amounts.

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY: This is the twelfth session this claim has been presented to the Legislature over a fifteen-session period. It was initially filed in the 2004 session as HB 245 by Representative Prieguez and SB 10 by Senator Margolis. In 2016, CS/SB 14 was not heard in Senate Appropriations and was never filed in the House.

RECOMMENDATION: I recommend that HB 6535 be reported FAVORABLY.

Respectfully submitted,

W. Jordan Jones
